I'm 100% positive that you're a dunse.

If you honestly valued your account and business you would provide the necessary proof and fight off any other existing allegations. I'm not here to make enemies but you're clearly giving off an impression that you did indeed fake these transactions and aren't able to verify your claims. I've read through your thread and reputation and as the user scorpion has previously stated, provide the sufficient evidence and this thread will be terminated as well as his feedback on you. It's an extremely unnecessary argument that can be resolved if you show some maturity.

Quality excuse not to post proof buddy.

Not.

Lmao I love how Scorpion does this shit.

Earnings seem completely fake though, he could have avoided this by posting 1 simple gif.

i see he just repped you. how about he posts it on this thread or one of his? or sends it to a less biased 3rd party.

Frankey - May 5, 2017, 12:36 pm

Most of the times I do not read these kinds of threads, but this one was blatant. I hope he will post a GIF, as requested on his thread by me and a lot of other people now, to clear his name.

Nebo - May 5, 2017, 12:36 pm

You really have more reasons to post the proof than not to do it.

I'm aware that you're not going to do it for scorpion's sake however for your own benefit it would be way better to provide it. This way, it seems way too shady for me and makes it seem that you're just using an excuse as a cover-up.

occupi - May 5, 2017, 12:37 pm

My suggestion is to prohibit proof-of-earnings entirely. It's too easy to abuse and everyone appears to abuse it whenever they post a "screenshot". There's a reason the FTC regulates this stuff in the US. If I ask how much you've made with this book/method/whatever, I would never expect an honest answer so what's the point?

Donald Trump Jr. - May 5, 2017, 12:40 pm

Its pretty safe to assume at this point that the earnings are fake, no one buy any of his shit.

You have a point however if you brag about wealth, you need to have sufficient proof to back it up. The OP posted a bragging thread and a small screenshot which is totally useless to serve as a proof. I don't really care about the whole ordeal, I'm just a bystander in here.

Daddy???????????? - May 5, 2017, 12:41 pm

Who the fuck cares, so many people on here, go in the bragging section and post fake proof all the time. They have been doing it forever now, whether it's to promote their new eBook or anything just to boost up their self-esteem. Hell OP could just be telling the truth and doesn't want to hassle proving you wrong but who knows. It's honestly pointless to make a community alert about a bragging thread.

We didn't ask for your life story bud. We want proof that you earned that type of money and everything that is currently against you will be tarnished. I'm sure even an autistic would understand where I'm going here.
