Well sure that is your opinion, but anyway if you took time to read the thread I did it mostly for myself but lots of people in my discord are liking it so why wouldn't I let people use it?

Also no I don't plan to monetize this.

I don't personally care for the UI but it looks clean enough. You should create different themes or allows users to easily make their own themes.

Instead of everyone making their own site, y'all should consider teaming up and just making one super awesome site.

This looks like a template used by many of the hundreds of booters that used to be sold here + knock off version of Coinventory.

It's working great and I really like the UI, gj OP.

AJ911 - May 13, 2017, 5:25 pm

Not keen on the UI. Dont like the big boxes and prefer something more slimline as it looks huge on my screen.

But, I do love the function to copy and paste poloniex trades right in, Myaltcoin is a pain in the ass. Might you consider allowing chartable gain percentage over time so that we can see how gains per hour/day/month/year over time. Would be a nice function.

00god - May 13, 2017, 5:36 pm

Any chance of implementing Coinbase orders?

AJ911 - May 13, 2017, 5:58 pm

Some more feedback bro.

If your orders were partially filled, Altcoin imports and shows them as separate orders which isn't helpful in calculating total investments at a set price. Any chance of a merge or adjust option?

27.35$ and 104.56$ should be included in the 593.43$ purchase.

Alright so today is a new day and new updates to come.

Currently working on the biggest update so far which is importing sales now this is a lot of work due to all the calculations needed to be accounted for but today I took the first step in improving importing.

Update Log: Fixed many bugs and errors
Added several more images

* Importing from Poloniex now calculates orders and not trades (If you for example made an order of 25k DGB and you got it in two trades, instead of inserting 2 investments it now inserts 1)

Voxi - May 14, 2017, 7:12 am

I personally use this as I like the layout as well as it being very simple. It also has a user page so you can see who has invested what.

Hi, our script only loads in from the 1st of January. Also note that it loads in whole orders and not trades.

For example if you made a order of 22K DGB, and you got them in 3 separate trades, it will count them as one.

If this is invalid for some reason, I will look into it when I get home, currently at a dinner.

Also our system does not load in margin trades, only exchange.

Also the polo grabbing is currently in alpha stage, I am currently rewriting it 100% and it will include reading in sales and all sort of things.

Whenever I'm done, it will be easy for you to re-import all for 100% accurate import

How do you mean with changing the color of profitable coins to green? Can you please elaborate so I might take this in consideration?

Do you mean the whole object? A number?

Also When you mean combining all holding of coins over different trades, What do you mean by that?

Like If you have 3 ETH you can combine them to 1?

In that case why would you do that, since they most likely was purchased with different prices on different times with different prices of BTC.

Because if you import from poloniex, it now goes by orders and not trades, so if you made a order and you got it in 3 trades it will only make one investment.

I have not added this to bittrex yet as I am working on something else (importing sales).

Incase you have withdrew or deposited anything, it doesnt account that.

Also the profit value is the profit you currently have, not what you have sold for and made.

I am adding that later however, a "Alltime profit".

Also here is an update list of today:

1. Multiple icons added.
2. Multiple repsonsivness fixed.
3. Importing from poloniex has been added in a beta stage.
4. A reset data button has been added to my investments incase something goes wrong.
5. $ sign moved infront of values instead of after.
6. There are now tabs at My Investments so you can easily see which are sold and not.

That is very odd? Are you sure you didnt use our reset button?

We now have a reset button located here:

<https://gyazo.com/91f6cf0c2f89920ec0ca9f62d77dfb93>

When clicking the delete button it resets everything.

My suggestion for you would be to reset your account so your account is no longer in the negatives and then import from Poloniex as it is currently stable and working.

That is extremely odd, I just checked the database and yes you currently have no investments.

Either some bug appeared that I am not aware of or you are one of the few that lost their investments yesterday when I accidently pruned a part of the database.

In that case I am sorry and understand if you want to move to one of the competitors.

I already suggest the dark theme (can't wait), how about page visits or follows for example I want to follow someone making good investments etc.

Then in the future if you plan on having this for a long term maybe a timeline? "such and such has an eye for ..." or "such a such just invested into"

Also do you plan on adding a live graph?

I must have messed something up, let me check whats wrong.

Edit: Should be working now, moving to a local build now so stuff like this won't happen.
Here is a little update on what I am currently doing.

I have been focusing alot recently on narrowing down bugs and I believe that there aren't too many left, but like always new bugs comes sometimes that you weren't aware of.

Especially with a project like this with many different functions, functionalities and cases for every user, it is hard to by myself get every possible outcome when I am only limited to my own API, computer, sells, investments and so on.

But now I think that I am taking a small break (1 day) from all that stuff (Unless a bug comes out ofcourse) and start focusing on some social aspects of the website.

What I have in mind is: Following
Notifications Alerts?
Profile Commenting

I think this should be a good base for the platform to start at, so that is what I've been starting to work on today.

I managed to finish a user group system with permissions and also started working on profile commenting as seen below:

Let me know thoughts, suggestions and what not.
Edit: I just fixed a site wide error that occured, sorry for that.

Cool, I didn't see that option. It doesn't seem to persistent though, is that expected or a bug?

How do you mean peristant? As in accurate or as in not staying when you reload the page?
If you mean accurate, I will have to look into why that is, and if you mean that it is not staying when you reload the page that is because it is not supposed to.

As I said previously, wrote it down and will get to it ASAP.

Pretty much because no one wants to spend hundreds of hours or thousands of dollars on a designer/design.

So I am currently having a small issue with the tax authoritah and they are needing a spreadsheet containing all my profit and losses on each investment. Coinbase has a feature like this but I was wondering if you could implement it? Basically an export feature that I can send to the cunts for my self assessment showing how much I paid for the coins, how much I sold them for and the difference in between, this would also need to account for currency differences so an option to choose USD, GBP, AUD etc.

Tomorrow we release a big update, stay tuned guys will be huge.

We are currently having issues with importing due to some kind of blockage of the API we use to gather historical data on BTC.

We are working on fixing it.

EDIT: Importing is back up and running.

Minor update pushed today, I will be taking a bit of the day off to rest as I am really tired.

1. Improved and fixed some bugs in importing both from Bittrex and Poloniex.
2. Sent a small notification to everyone to get a small hint on how it will look and how it works
3. Facebook and twitter share button on profiles added so you can easily share anyone or your own profits on social platforms.

Hello everyone.

I just pushed out a update that was split over 2 days here is the update:

1. Remember me increased from 2 hours to 12 hours.
 2. Tried to fix some importing issue.
 3. Fixed so API secret fields to not autofill passwords
 4. Hackforums profile has been removed from the about page
 5. Twitter and Youtube has been added to About page
 6. Started working on a Support Center, has a few basic articles which will be built up whenever I receive common questions.
 7. You may now also request help from the support center so we can fastly resolve your issues.
 8. A simple donate button has been added to the menu.
 9. Two bugs was fixed with bittrex Import.
 10. Fixed another bug with import getting stuck for both Bittrex and Poloniex
1. Finished profile comments with bunch of stuff around it.
 1. Comment tab on profile
 2. Ability to disable comments
 3. Posting, Editing and deletion of comments
 4. Security around commenting
 5. Ajax pagination for comments
 6. Modified for the dark theme
 7. New mute function for moderators+ (Mute users who abuse comment system)
 8. Time limits per profile
 2. API functionality has been completely rewritten to address multiple things:
Load time on page My Investment and Profile reduced by A LOT.

Fixed bug with wrong price of stellar (Due to different tags)

3. Users page and Highscores disabled until further notice due to slow load time
4. Stellar Lumens icon fixed in both sidebar and Mycoins view
5. Added tons of more exceptions incase you do something wrong.
6. Golem Icon added to sidebar and logo changed color to black (Clear cache to see changes)
7. Fixed a bug where bittrex would import wrong total price
8. OK logo added.
9. Twitter and Facebook share button added to profiles to easily share.
10. Landing page now has meta tags.
11. You can now finally reset passwords!
12. You can now set display currency to either BTC or USD to have a site wide price change.
13. There is now a sidebar which you can use to change theme and also currency.

Yeah there we have it.

You deposited to bittrex and sold it, now my system didn't find any purchase on bittrex and therefor has issues recording it as a sale as you didn't actually purchase any DGB, when this happens it doesn't know how much you purchased your coin for and therefor has issues calculating the profits and therefor ignores it.

However I am solving this tomorrow by marking them as a sale with no profit, it is the only way to fix it ATM.

Ability to move "verified investments" into "sold investments tab.

Group multiple investments of same currencies. also, make sure they are showing grouped in the sidebar too.

Ability to create groups based on user's choice.

Live chat functionality would be good.

An option of changing API should be available on top as well as the option of USD/BTC currencies to check the balance in user's preferred currency.

When using the Black theme. Bright green color is unable to clearly display "Impressed" button. try changing the color to something else.

Verified investments are not meant to be manually marked as sold due to cheating, but I can for sure make it so you can mark them but it removes the verification.

A condensed view is being worked on shortly.
Groups may be introduced later but it is not a priority.
Live chat could be added, perhaps sooner than later.
Sure I can move the API changing.
I am not changing the green color as it is something alot of people have been giving good feedback on rather than bad, but I can fix that button.

If you use bittrex or (cant remember other name and cba to check) but I know if you use bittrex you can import it.

All you have to do is go to the bittrex (or whatever site) and find the api key for your profile. Put READ ACCESS ONLY, and then generate.

After generating, copy both and take them to the portfolio. Click "Import my investment" it'll import them itself and have a checkmark by the investments as that way people know you didn't customly enter bullshit.

Hey Ed, good stuff as always. Hope you are having a great vacation. Just had a few suggestions for when you get back:

- A signature system similar to another portfolio site on here, I'm sure you are aware of what I am talking about. If not just pm and I can show you as I don't want to advertise their site on your thread.
- A better system on your site to directly communicate with others, perhaps like a chatbox/chatroom/shoutbox.
- A better way to send you suggestions and improvement ideas directly on the site.

Keep it up mate, you never disappoint! If you ever need any help with image designs I am quite experienced from multimedia designs courses I took in college and willing to do it for free in my spare time. (My avatar is a simple example of my abilities)

First of all we are truly sorry for this inconvenience,

We are doing all we can at the moment but it seems on of our scripts that syncs with prices on coinmarketcap.com which is actually offline is causing the site to be unreachable at the moment. We are currently waiting any minute for our dev to wake up in his alternate timezone so we can fix that this will not happen anymore in the future.

Finally got around to updating my profile here.

<https://alt-pocket.io/user/KJ>

Only thing missing is like 10 LTC I had back in 2013 when it hit the $25 range and I sold it. Couldn't find the dates so fuck it. Worthless coin in my opinion anyways.

Hey everyone, it seems like we were under having some issues last night with high load, whether it was a DDOS attack or just high load of concurrent users/imports we are taking care of it right now.

We are going to upgrade the server aswell as install cloudflare, both to assure the websites future. Currently we are reaching 50-70 users online at all time which is amazing!

Keep in mind that the server may be down for some time while we do this update.

Not right now but in the future for sure as we are growing with 100+ every day.

Also guys, you might not know this but I have been working all week on fixing bugs, I have worked so much that I haven't had time to post the changelog but I will eventually.

I just finished the new import which will be launched tomorrow around lunch (gmt+1).

The new import will include: ETH & USDT market

Importing Deposits Importing Withdrawals

Importing Balances

* Bug fixes and more

It should be 100% accurate with our style of "investments".

Also I just finished our stat widget which can be found in the sidebar, activate it to get a signature image generated.

This however, is not allowed on hackforums, you may use it on other places such as different forums, websites, blogs and what not.

Isn't a dynamic signature a signature containing an image that when loading the image the server hosting the image is doing more than just serving the image, such as querying a database to find information to put into the image?

I saw someone with the signature and vaguely remembered the rule so then I came here to see what was up.

It says it only updates every 10 minutes, but I'm not sure how you have it set up. Couldn't you set up cron jobs to update the images every 10 minutes and then it would be perfectly fine to use in signatures?

Anyhow, I see quite a few people with it directly in their signatures.

Autist - June 10, 2017, 4:07 am

But it shouldn't affect the HF load time at all? The image is being hosted off site not on site

I think what they mean is that it increases load time client sided, for the users on hackforums as every 10 min that specific image change.

Something like that, it's a really unclear rule.

Would be great if you could add some more important features. for example.

Ability to use multiple API key from same exchange website like Poloniex.

More Exchange websites API keys. Lots of coins aren't available on Polo/Bittrex and Kraken. so people are buying them from many non-popular websites.

Live profit/loss flashing text.

Some coins logo aren't properly updated. a fix should do the job.

but honestly, Altpocket.io is so far my preferred one to keep a tab on my Alt-Portfolio.

Then it shouldn't be against the rules.

A dynamic image would be if when going to the image URL, your server loads the specific users information from database, loads a template image, then writes the information on top of the template image, then serves the final image. This is what increases load time, waiting for the hosting server to do all the processes and then serve the final image. From what you say, the server is just serving an image.

It could be because they are re-doing the importing system right now. Only things I know that fixes investment issues are to try to clear your investments by using the trashcan on the /coins/ page and trying again.

Or you could try going to:

Been using this for a little while now, it is honestly better than any other site I've come across.

However, when importing from bittrex, would it be possible to get the amount of bitcoins in the wallet and its deposit date as part of your investments?

Since after a few trades I still have a few coins left and it throws the total investment and profit off a little. Not a huge issue since you can add values manually, just a thought

I would suggest updating your OP's "in the works" - I believe you already have that functionality implemented (or am I wrong?).

Also, I was thinking about it (I know you told me you're working on it). Shouldn't/Wouldn't "Amount Invested" or w/e it's called just be your first deposit, then your `new investments` - `profits`

This didn't make sense, trying to think how to reword it.

Initial Investment: $2000

New value: $2500, reinvest - I believe your new total says $4500, or idk... Just subtract from profits, your investment total shouldn't go up until you've put in more than you've `made` or sold.

This didn't make sense, trying to think how to reword it.

Initial Investment: $2000

New value: $2500, reinvest - I believe your new total says $4500, or idk... Just subtract from profits, your investment total shouldn't go up until you've put in more than you've `made` or sold.

What do you guys use to pull prices?

Because on Polo it shows .00000540 for 1 Sia Coin. On Coin market cap it shows .00000576. So I bought in at sia for 540. But I loaded my investment into altpocket and it shows an instant $12 profit, which is clearly untrue as the price is still the exact same as what I bought it for.

Make sure you select your API in the side menu.

Also keep in mind that we take BTC price in account, so if you bought sia at 540 when btc was 2000$, then one month later sia is still at 540 but btc is 2800$, the system sees that and show the profit.

Real impressive website and good design, nice to see all my coins in one place.

Lease - June 19, 2017, 12:41 am

The design is really neat and clean, I love using it :)

I have one question though, is there a possibility to see how much USD or BTC your current investments are worth together? For now it only shows your profit/loss, but it would be really convenient to directly see how much it is worth in total. Thank you in advance!

However, a position has opened up!

Altpocket.io is currently looking for a back-end developer.

More info on this will come soon, but to keep it short we are looking for someone who has great knowledge in PHP, medium to high knowledge of laravel framework, interest in crypto market and Altpocket.

This developer will do small to medium tasks while I work on some heavy stuff (Investment core and importing).

PM me if you think you got what it takes, more info to come soon!

Shoot me a PM and I will look into it.

More preparation for 2.0 re-launch, this is our latest update:

Introducing the all new Altpocket 2.0 Dashboard.

For the past 1-2 days I've been working hard on refreshing the dashboard.

The dashboard is the first thing you come to when you log into Altpocket, therefor I thought that it needed some refreshing.

New features of the dashboard: A much better layout and cleaner look overall.

Many more widgets. Widget where you can select 4 coins to track personally:

Widget where it shows your top 4 holdings (Summed up, so if you have 10k on bittrex and 10k on poloniex it will show as 20k!)

Shows how much you have of the coins

Shows each coins percent change last 24 hours

A graph representing your holdings

Overall percent change of your portfolio last 24 hours The classic profile widget, showing your impressions, current profit and net worth

Widget which shows claimable badges, this is still being worked on as we add more badges. (Awards are now Badges) Widget which shows your investment timeline, grabs your last 5 investments and orders them by date, stating how much you purchased at which date.

Widget which shows your referral count, referral URL, last referral and last 5 referrals.

And finally our new status update system!

The status update system is a social feed where the users of Altpocket can communicate with eachother, this is a step towards more engagement between users.

Here are some features:

Post, Edit, Delete, Like posts and comments Tag users by writing @username, a menu will display users with similar username as you write.

Coin Emojis, write ":::" and then the coins name and a menu will display coins and their logo with similar name as you write, or you can just write ::TAG:: where TAG is the coins tag (SC, BTC and so on)

Hovering the coins icon will display its name and its percent change last 24 hours

Image embedding, either click the camera icon in the bottom and then enter the image url or simply do [img]Image URL here[/img]

New logo!

Soon we will release Alt-pocket 2.0!

Exzib - July 25, 2017, 4:08 pm

Just to clarify.

We have been inactive in this thread due to working on our 2.0 release.

We are not looking to advertise Alt-pocket until the update is finished.

Thank you all for your support, feedback and most of all for using our service.

Can't add antshares since the rebrand to NEO, says investment failed, choose a coin from the list!
Antshares is in the list, but still can't add it, NEO is not in the list yet.
edit fixed by manually typing NEO

Eliten - July 26, 2017, 12:08 pm

Using this on daily basis nowadays - keep up the great work!

Autist - July 26, 2017, 5:33 pm

Aye man you guys keep fucking shit up dawg. I wiped my portfolio to import new investments now it only shows my 3 recent transactions. what about my old?

How are fucking shit up "dawg" if you wipe your portfolio and then re-import?

We clearly state on over 5 places on the website that if you import from bittrex we can only get trades from the past 30 days.

Is there any way to add notes to our investments?

Exzib - August 8, 2017, 1:20 am

As you guys might have noticed we haven't posted that often is this thread.

This is due to we do not want so much publicity or new users while we are constantly doing some heavy rewriting of the whole system.

Everyone is of course welcome to join but keep in mind that we are still in early development.

Lots of cool things coming this week and yesterday we hit over 7000 users.

Thank you HF for this opportunity, this is truly a life changer.

kooper87 - August 8, 2017, 12:59 pm

Any ETA on getting the smaller exchanges added for order importing like cryptopia, yobit, coinexchange, novaexchange?

Got my very early orders there would be cool to be able to import them from there also.

Order importing makes things so much easier, nice work.

We are working on this at the new investments page

Autist - August 11, 2017, 8:40 pm

Can you guys add Guppy to altpocket? thanks

Mr Kewl - August 11, 2017, 10:42 pm

The Investment tab is broken on the left hand side.

<http://prntscr.com/g7icqg>

My profit for NEO are over 500% but it shows - in the left hand side, not My Investment page.

Exzib - August 15, 2017, 7:06 am

Remember guys that the fastest way to get support is either on the support panel or in the discord.

We also just created our very own Altpocket Discord Bot!

Feel free to add it to your Discord Servers, the bots Discord ID is: Altpocket#6934

You may also add it to your server using this URL:

https://discordapp.com/oauth2/authorize?&client_id=346937321138028546&scope=bot

After you have added it to your server, let me know and you will receive an API key to use for the bot.

This is required for it to be connected to Altpocket.

Onte - August 18, 2017, 6:38 am

For the Altpocket Discord Bot you can now use <https://altpocket.io/discord> to set it up

Exzib - August 21, 2017, 9:16 am

Altpocket still running strong.

From being a fun project to pretty much taking over the crypto currency portfolio market, we have in 3 months become the third biggest portfolio for tracking crypto currency investments.

We are working hard everyday to bring you the perfect platform.

I know we don't post here much and that is because we rather build the platform to the point where it is perfect before rushing a lot of new users!

Anyway, feel free to join us and our amazing community!

Mr Kewl - August 31, 2017, 11:40 pm

You should do something about the investments before 30 days tbh.

Yes thats true,

we have got information that bittrex is working on fixing their API. But we are also working on the CSV import so it would fix the problem also.

Seems like the site is up, I have send you a PM with my problem.

?onday - September 19, 2017, 9:43 am

The right hand side bar will not work for me anymore. I can't get it to open in order to change my currency. This is pretty necessary, is there any workaround for this at the moment?

thales - September 24, 2017, 12:30 am who made the new logo for the site? please let me know ty

ShyvHD - September 24, 2017, 1:43 am

Why isnt my bitcoin/litecoin/ethereum showing as Active Investment? It is only shown in Balances.

Other than that you ve done a great job with this website.

Hi, I would guess that you did deposit them?

If this is the case then we don't know the price you bought them at and that's way they are only showing up in the Balances.

Feel free to add them manually.

We are currently looking for test users that want to try out new features before we launch them.

We are testing coinbase integration atm... feel free to join our discord to join the tester group.

Thread has not been updated in quite some time due to me being so busy with running the site fulltime nowadays!

We are still running strong with over 21,000 users.

Feel free to check us out if you need a portfolio to track on.

Exzib - December 3, 2017, 2:59 pm

Still running, bigger community than ever, over 27000 users currently on our platform.

In the coming days we are going to launch a new UI update that I believe everyone will enjoy, aswell as a brand new system for trades that will clear up everything!

Onte - December 9, 2017, 4:36 am

We are still running, bigger community than ever, over 30,000 users currently on our platform.

Hi, please email contact@altpocket with your username!

We have some really exciting new stuff on the way, for example, a mobile app and binance import. Follow us on twitter or join our discord for more updates.
