Thread: Building Useful Shit Out of Useless Shit

Effexion - May 13, 2017, 3:46 pm

I like to partake in a little DIY from time-to-time and have decided on a rabbit hutch as my next project (the rabbit will come next and I will name here 'Quiet').

My last project was a log burner made with a gas bottle (kids, don't try this at home). The pictures can be seen here:

I know my garden is messy, but we hardly use the back garden but have plans for this Summer ?.

I'm always looking for wood/metalwork projects, so let me know if you have any.

My cunning plan for this is to build an amazing hutch that can fit 3 bunnies. Then I can always go "aww, that rabbit looks lost in there. We should get 2 more" when I need to justify more pets to the boss darling wife.

Yeah, I suppose spending time out in the garden building useful things from scratch pales in comparison to your life of donning protective head-wear, rocking back and forth and shouting at passing cars.

Love DIY when i get the chance to do it. Next challenge in the next few weeks is to build decking out in the garden in two seperate areas so i can have a dedicated place to have family BBQ's this summer.
