

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Any Cydia Impactor pros?

Charaoh - May 15, 2017, 11:08 pm

Is anyone here familiar with Impactor by Cydia? I'm trying to get it installed on my device but I keep receiving errors when transferring extender onto it.

Prophett - May 15, 2017, 11:09 pm

are you following tutorials on YouTube?

Charaoh - May 16, 2017, 12:52 am

(May 15, 2017 11:09 PM)Medd Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) are you following tutorials on YouTube?

I've searched for dozens of tutorials, each gives me a different method and so far non has worked. I get provision.cpp:81 for my error, telling me that Network Extension isn't available. I've used multiple apple id's and non of them seem to work when trying to use Impactor. My device isn't jailbroken, but I was told I didn't have to do it to use Impactor.

Snowing Outside - May 17, 2017, 4:51 pm

Cydia is the name of the app, not Impactor. Follow this tutorial if you are trying to jailbreak your iPhone and get Cydia.

pangu8.com/luca-todesco.html

Kruel - May 17, 2017, 4:57 pm

(May 17, 2017 04:51 PM)Snowing Outside Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Cydia is the name of the app, not Impactor. Follow this tutorial if you are trying to jailbreak your iPhone and get Cydia.

pangu8.com/luca-todesco.html

Pretty sure he is talking about the tweak that allows you to basically remove your jailbreak and restore while staying on the same version.

Charaoh - May 18, 2017, 3:08 pm

(May 17, 2017 04:57 PM)Kruel Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Pretty sure he is talking about the tweak that allows you to basically remove your jailbreak and restore while staying on the same version.

This. My device isn't jailbroken, but Impactor worked with non-jailbroken devices until recently. I guess apple patched something so whenever I try to put IPA files onto my device I get errors, even though I followed like every step there is to fixing them.

SIM-2090815 - May 19, 2017, 3:26 pm

(May 18, 2017 03:08 PM)Espadon Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) This. My device isn't jailbroken, but Impactor worked with non-jailbroken devices until recently. I guess apple patched something so whenever I try to put IPA files onto my device I get errors, even though I followed like every step there is to fixing them.

Open Cydia Impactor on your computer. Connect your iPhone and make sure you have iTunes installed and updated on your device. Drag the IPA file over and let it install it onto your device. Go to your settings > general > device management and trust the app.

You should now have the app.

Charaoh - May 19, 2017, 9:18 pm

(May 19, 2017 03:26 PM)Dispaced Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Open Cydia Impactor on your computer. Connect your iPhone and make sure you have iTunes installed and updated on your device. Drag the IPA file over and let it install it onto your device. Go to your settings > general > device management and trust the app.

You should now have the app.

I've tried that and it doesn't work, that's why I posted this. Basically, I follow what you said, but before the app even installs I get an error:

provision.cpp:81 with "Network Extensions". I tried renaming impactor.dat to impator.zip so I could extract the ipa file, then drag it onto Impactor. I still get the error. It's really irritating because it seems no one online knows how to solve this.

yonomk - January 5, 2019, 10:57 am

Cydia impactor is the only tool which provides easy user interface.

sally123 - January 17, 2019, 12:56 am

are you using Windows 10 computer to sideload the IPA file using Cydia impactor? if so do not run the Cydia impactor as administrator since it disables the drag and drop feature