Thread: Is LOL a fun game?

otrc80 - May 16, 2017, 1:26 pm

I am really interested to join this Community , but I really don't know if its worth the Time.
I used to play Silk road , and Conquer online in the past, And it was not bad

OneEightSeven - May 16, 2017, 1:28 pm

Its fun when u reach lv 30.
not sure about 1-30.
I can't play without getting any rewards at the end other than currency

eyeShockk - May 16, 2017, 1:29 pm

It's fun, but like other competitive games can also be frustrating at times. Takes a damn while to learn though!

Vince - May 16, 2017, 5:22 pm

It's a fun game. One that I am slowly picking up on. But once you get the hang of the champions and builds, and you hit 30, you will definitely have fun.

Raid7 - May 16, 2017, 5:23 pm

I have no clue why people like LoL, the mystery will remain unknown

?ictor? - May 16, 2017, 5:27 pm

Debatable for me, don't like MOBA's overall.

FNF3TD - May 16, 2017, 11:49 pm

its really fun! I was introduced to LOL by a friend, I guess the company helped me enjoy it more :)

Vittorio - May 16, 2017, 11:50 pm

LOL ya it's fun xddddddd OP xdd

Silver Fang - May 17, 2017, 12:02 am

Well i was fond of the game for about a year and half then i couldn't bother anymore. Basically i used so much time for the game and i couldn't get myself out of silver league which kinda was depressed... after so much time and you still standing the same spot irritates me. Especially when it's obvious that people don't want to teamplay or just i simply can't.

So the game is fun, however it's a dead end if you ever think you will evolve with the game. It feels like everything is up to people who listen and to get the right characters.

Impervious. - May 17, 2017, 12:07 am

It's fun if you make it fun for yourself. It's quite easy to take the fun element away.

For example:

You can choose to torture yourself by saying you're better than your rank resembles(which 99% of the time is not true).

You can also choose to blame others instead of rewatching a game and thinking about what you could improve yourself. The general toxic behaviour.

IMO variety is nice, playing a normal here and there to just goof around/cheese and test things in can really be fun. ARAM and featured game modes are quite nice as well for a change. Inviting friends and hoppinh on a teamspeak/discord makes the experience much more enjoyable and provides a different tactical approach too.

As for silkorad, MMO's don't compare. For Conquer, i've played my fair share of Conquer back in the days. It also doesn't compare.

LoL doesn't feel as 'alive' and aside of your few PVP gamemodes, you won't have anything else to experience. Whereas in an MMO you have all kinds of variety(guild sutff, personal stuff, dungeons, open world, pvp, yadayada).

czzcxz - May 17, 2017, 12:47 am

It's pretty fun for me but the reasons why I played when I started and why I play now are different. I used to like to learn about the characters, enjoy the looks and feel of the game, and play to relax. Now I play because it's competitive for me and I still enjoy that, it's just different.

Also don't listen to anyone saying you can't improve your skill or rank on your own or that luck is a major factor, that's just false. You can definitely improve and climb on your own.

GoddessTaliyah - May 17, 2017, 3:52 pm

League can be a very fun game.... Until you experience the community.

SIM-2743315 - May 18, 2017, 11:42 am

This is the funniest game for me i've been playing since 2013

netpulse - May 18, 2017, 12:56 pm

Mostly never seen someone having fun on this. Except while winning ofc.

Basically not a funny game imo, its only interesting cause of the competitive aspect.

Holdstrom - May 19, 2017, 12:39 am

No. Its not. If you play with friends you better have 5 because you are going to get called every name under the sun.

Get cancer, kill yourself retard, fucking idiot, stupid ape, uninstall retard

Loads more but they are my favourites.

shamless plug

*I sell lvl 30 accounts for cheap. And since you're new I'll do it for $15 if you're interested.

Lingo - May 19, 2017, 12:40 am

its fun if you want to have fun

its frustrating if you get frustrated

YERANUK - May 19, 2017, 8:54 pm

League is a very toxic game, you will eventually start to hate it.

Don't bother unless you have friends already playing, it's not a good idea.

X X X X - May 19, 2017, 9:19 pm

Large learning curve and long grind to level 30. Unless you're willing to pour a lot of time into it don't bother. It can be tons of fun but also cancerous at the same time. Depends on how you play. If you queue up with friends in normals or aram you'll probably have a blast. If you decide to grind ranked, you may encounter struggles (toxic players, afk, inters...).

Brill - May 19, 2017, 9:24 pm

it's about as fun as playing the pre-installed chess game on windows vista.

But what if you enjoy playing chess.

Bubbers108 - May 19, 2017, 9:40 pm

It's fun when you completely destroy the enemy team, but the learning process is pretty hard. It's definitely a game that you have to play very often if you want to be good.

TBPGLux - May 20, 2017, 12:25 am

League is fun BECAUSE its difficult to learn and adapt too. It draws you in to getting better!! I suggest you check it out.

muzzle - May 20, 2017, 12:41 am

Definitely yes. Things get interesting from level 30. If you don't have much background in MOBA games then it'll take almost 2-3 weeks to get to level 30, of course depends on how many games you play and how well you do in them. It'd be helpful, if you have a friend who already has some knowledge of the game and also brace yourself for the worst; the toxicity will be on the next level in lower elo, be ready to mute them.

It is something that'll definitely need much more time to learn. Not as easy as fps games.

TheJohnnyBro - May 20, 2017, 2:11 am

It's fun believe me :D I'm playing it from seasion 1 and i never got bored of it :D

test - May 20, 2017, 2:13 am

It can be if you don't take it too seriously. Play for fun - not to win. Also while leveling from 1-30 you will probably vs loads of players are you think are too good for that range. They are called smurfs and are basically people that have already played the game leveling up new accounts.

John Mon - May 20, 2017, 2:20 am

League made me really good at typing..... also talking trash to everyone.

NaCl = Salt (A lot may build up as you play more)

Ranked = The most stressful and frustrating game/times of your life.

If you take someones position = They will 90% feed or afk (10% Awesome people)

Have fun on your journey to the path of no return!

Peace.

falloutxj9 - May 20, 2017, 10:58 am

Been playing since Beta, it has its moments but its also super frustrating.

IIIIIIII - May 21, 2017, 12:15 am

I think League is really fun, easy to play but hard to master

You will also encounter bots. They will usually go mid lane and just feed their asses of. Just report those.

You should try and find a group of players to play with, earning party bonus and avoiding bots. ?

Usually I would use the PowerLevel chat lobby but riot removed it.

XD "the company helped". What does riot even do for us besides try to get us to buy skins and go to esports events.

Kisame? - May 21, 2017, 2:05 pm

I'll be honest after playing this game for some years;

It's real cancer. Every game you get the same toxic people / trolls and people just out to ruin your game.

You might think I'm exaggerating but there are literally people starting games with the sole intention of wasting others their time and ruining their game experience.

Some games are really enjoyable, but if you start this game, you better accept the fact that you will not enjoy about atleast 50-60% of the games you play to an extent where you would call it relaxing.

CASTLEWALLS - May 21, 2017, 2:52 pm

Yea LoL is fun, gotta understand that it takes a while to be good.

GrandpaSherman - May 21, 2017, 2:52 pm

It's fun if you're not bad and your team isn't bad. So no.

I've played this game for, literally 4 years or something now?
I've come across everything, any kind of player. I had games I enjoyed a lot, and there was a time I was really, really addicted to the game. But honestly, if you think about it, the game gets ruined by their community. If you cannot even enjoy half of the games, because there is always this guy who starts trolling because he is mad, or the toplaner who goes 1-14, or the botlaner who starts following you around trying to steal your buffs because you "did not gank him enough"..

Honestly you can't enjoy the game and get up by just playing well. You need to literally play perfect and tryhard untill the end of times to climb up in the game, because there will always be that guy in your team that gives the opponent a 10-0 lead by minute 21.

At some point I can guarantee you, you will find out for yourself, and be done with it aswell. I'm still playing LoL, sometimes daily, sometimes not, and I must see it's a very addictive game, but it's not really as relaxing as gaming should be.

It actually depends on which rank you are at, generally gold and d2 ish where the best experiences for me. Platinum 1 and Diamond V are just cancer.
