seems like junk no volume no interest got rid of it before it went any lower and bought DGB for long hold jemamaiskaal - May 17, 2017, 6:13 am

TKN is for long term anyway, it is an 10 old day token which fked up the release a bit.

Give it some time to recover.

You just should have held it for atleast a few months to see mad profits ?

Black Blade - May 17, 2017, 8:54 am

nah im not sure i just cut it off before it fucked me

It already fucked you a lot, why not let it fuck you more? Should have just held and you could have profitted.

Blood - May 17, 2017, 9:07 am

Should've held. I've held some coins that I lost tons on.. 2 months of holding i ended up profiting. It's way too soon to take a loss on. Just set a sell order and forget about it.

Cryptic™ - May 17, 2017, 9:07 am

Bad idea. I would have just held indefinitely till you at least broke even.

Patience is a virtue.

Black Blade - May 17, 2017, 9:09 am

Well you gotta consider how new the coin is. It's less than a month old lol.

Take a look at BTC and ETH and all the other coins, they were virtually worthless for a long time before activity picked up.

Black Blade - May 17, 2017, 9:27 am

yeah but i lost 2/3 what i invested and its still going down

You don't lose anything as long as you hold. Patience is the key, young padawan.

look at it this way i sold them and bought SC then sc risen 50% and i sold so now if i wanted i could buy more back plus money sat in something going down is money wasted when you could just cash out and put it into a coin that is going up

This was a good move if you didn't have more money to invest with, yes.

Still took a huge L. Seems like you put all your eggs in one basket instead of investing in 2 or 3 coins.

I did this and I'm still getting my ass handed to me for it. Fuck the LTC hype!
