Thread: Screenshot Snapchats without Jailbreak \(iOS\)

This method requires computer access and a screenshot tool, like gyazo, lightshot, or something similar.

Download and run LonelyScreen. The domain is lonelyscreen.com (it's 532 KB, and I haven't been ratted, trojaned, or somehow otherwise infected)

Connect to the airplay receiver on your phone called LonelyScreen. If you don't see it, then LonelyScreen needs to be running on your computer.

Your phone's display is now visible on your computer.

Screenshot your phone from your desktop using lightshot, gyazo, or printscreen.

The built in screen recorder on lonelyscreen works for videos as well. Enjoy the dank nudes kiddies.

Or just use snapchat ++. A lot simpler and you dont have to be on the same network as your computer. You can save the incoming snap directly to your camera roll if you wanted, including videos. And you can tap the image or video and it will go away for you to open later and wont even tell the sender you opened it. Or you can tap the little eye symbol in the bottom left corner. Only downside is you dont get push notifications. No jb needed just sideload with cydia impactor. tons of tuts on yt
