Are you okay with completing the design first and getting paid after delivering it?

Depends on what design you're ordering. With smaller orders such as thread and signature designs I'm fine with going first if you're more trusted than me. For larger orders such as website designs you'll have to at least pay 50% upfront and the remaining 50% after the project is completed. ?

Purchased a signature from OP about 3 days ago. Sent him a detailed message with what I wanted and he supplied. I received a very high quality, smoothly animated signature that had all the details I requested. I had a simple design idea that I sent him and he innovated it himself and it turned out to be very creative and much better than my idea.

Overall, I'm giving this service a big vouch. If anyone needs cheap graphics done, check out StackFramed's work! He's amazing at what he does and you can't beat it for the cost. Thanks for your service man!
