Thread: Widebody is finished on the Z

Sharjah - May 21, 2017, 12:47 am

Got my widebody paint matched.

Now it's time to match the front bumper and fix the wheel setup and worry about other cosmetics later. Huge car show on June 3rd that I will be participating in. Lots of mods coming up next with my headlights!

That's sweet man, I love seeing your car.

Do you detail it yourself?

Last week I spent all day detailing my car. Black is a pain to keep clean.

I just got a new rotary buffer and damn, I should have picked up one of these earlier. My car looks like it left the showroom.

I actually don't but I really wanna learn instead of paying a high quality detailing company $300 for a showroom quality detail. You should tell me the process, or better yet, make a thread. Have yet to find a fully detailed one with links and it's uses

Edit: main reason I haven't tried is because I don't wanna burn the paint off with the buffer lol

Come to HIN Houston in December and I'll drive there to check it out. ?

Akane - May 21, 2017, 1:23 am

Sweet set up dude. If you don't mind me asking, how much was the body kit and installation for it?

haha

I was there about a month and a half ago. I'll probably find my way that direction sometime in the next year or so. Maybe I'll have my Toyota Slowlara supercharged by then!

Always love seeing your ride.

I detail on the side, would be glad to give you some help if you ever need it. Recommend buying a dual action rotary buffer, with a cutting pad, polish pad and waxing pad. Before all of this though, buy a clay bar and detail spray and do it all properly from scratch. Each car I properly detail roughly takes me 7-8 hours and I charge about 300-400 AUD, which includes clay bar, cut, fine polish and Brazilian wax eliminating next to all swirl marks or light scratches/scuffs. The new hexagon foam designs are quite good for pads. Trust me, it's great doing it yourself however very time consuming. Once it's done (RIGHT THE FIRST TIME), it doesn't need to be done for a long time and it's easily maintained if you take care with your washes. E.g, don't take it to a fkn automated wash swirl centre.

The gloss that a black produces is unreal, highly recommend :p

Sounds exactly what I would say if I weren't tired.

What brands do you use for chemicals?

How much would that whole setup cost?

Really wanna try it out but it does take a long time and I don't wanna ruin my paint from the heat. Might just pay someone to do it for now and learn on a test car. And the paint on my car has a pearl finish to it, so if it were detailed properly, it would look insane

I bought a hood that was in decent condition from the scrapyard to practice on.

That would be a pretty good idea. I have a carbon fiber hood that was 1008$ so I won't be practice on that but I do have a spare

I don't think there's anything more cringe worthy than putting "send nudes" and "I eat ass" on your car... ?

Nice paint though.

The amount of compliments I get from it is ridiculous haha. People love it, especially the women... but don't tell the lady about it ?

Money Man - May 21, 2017, 1:26 pm pretty nice.

just finished my build on my Q50. was planning on doing a body kit on it but decided i rather just save that money towards a GTR lol

Hi Roller - May 21, 2017, 1:55 pm

Aren't you the guy who made a thread saying you were selling that 370z??

This video had me weak though playing Kevin Gates with a sticker that says IEATASS and Send Nudes on the plate lol.

ai?maN - May 21, 2017, 2:36 pm

although i prefer 350's, your 370z is probably the best i've seen. The color is hella sexy, props man.

Gary - May 21, 2017, 2:43 pm

You don't even shitpost your car on snapchat wtf man

Nimbus. - May 21, 2017, 2:45 pm

bagged or static? love Z's broadway statics in ny lol roads are awful here my boy bagged his car and gave me the broadway static for low before that i was on kw v1 lowered all the way wasn't low enough for me im probably going to do aircups over them soon e92 328 sadly gonna drop an n54 in soon

Minnesota Nice - May 21, 2017, 6:19 pm

Where you headed on the 3rd? I might be there if its big. I was just at WekFest in Chicago.

Also +1 for bags, never buying coils again, everyone in our little club around here is now bagged and I honestly don't think anyone will return to static. Only one guy with a Rocket Bunny BRZ is static and he's pretty fed up with it lol

THC - May 21, 2017, 6:21 pm

Fucking killer. I'm thinking about getting a Z, think I should?
Which show are you going to by the way?

milkpop - May 21, 2017, 8:55 pm

Fuck, that's pretty sexy.

lol - May 21, 2017, 10:30 pm

June 3rd? Fitted Festival? :D

Mojo™ - May 21, 2017, 10:40 pm

Looking insane buddy. I've been thinking about doing a widebody on my GTR but I'm not a fan of the riveted style and there isn't a body shop close to me that I'd trust to mold the over fenders into the body of the car and not make it look like ass.

Meguiars, only.

I don't use anything else! :P

Their Clay Bar, detail spray, wash/wax, cut, polish, Brazilian wax, everything is theirs. ?
