Little bit long but a very nice guide you got for us, dam i had lost two phones, this guide will help me now though i hope none of us ever have to use it, a lost and stolen phone is the worst feeling, thanks for the share though,

BlackWidowDesigns - December 14, 2018, 12:11 pm

Nice little topic but this only works if the SIM card is still in the phone and/or the phone hasn't been reset. Which if it's been stolen will have the SIM removed and or reset immediately. If it's been lost these will work just fine as long as someone didn't find it and decide to do the above. Even if the SIM was removed and the phone wiped the carrier and manufacture can still track them but they won't do it without a court order and as far as I know the program they use hasn't been leaked yet since only a handful are permitted to use it.
