Thread: FTC - Feather Coin

y.flicka - May 23, 2017, 7:19 am

First of all this thread is not for pump and dump means. I do not own a single coin and do not intend to promote this coin.

So I talked to a selfclaimed "expert" who earned a shit ton through BTC cause he went in when it was extremely low. Well he told me about FTC aka FeatherCoin and that I should take a look into it. I am currently checking it out so I did not form any opinion about it until now. I just wanna know if you heard about this coin and if so what are your thoughts on it are especially long term.

EDIT: The general opinion ababout FTC seems to be that it is extreme trash. I am still forming my own opinion but it seems as this coin is not worth investing at all.

2EDIT: FTC went up crazy since in the last weeks. Slowly dropping tho

Never heard of the coin.

Post what you find.

I have heard and seen this coin around but know little to nothing about it. This probably doesn't help but thats what I know.

KaptaiN - May 23, 2017, 7:26 am

There are no meaningful fundamentals behind that coin.

Are you saying that because you actually did research or because you just think it is like that?

Do you have any source to your opinion?

Sorry but I am not familiar with the word "halving". Could you explain?

Rake - May 23, 2017, 8:35 am

I've seen the name somewhere, perhaps it was an ICO tracker site.
Are they holding an ico soon?

The coin has previously been worth $1.75. It is worthless now, and it will always be. It has absolutely no USP, what so ever.

It has no practical use.

FTC has been around forever and made no progress, in fact it kept on declining lol. I haven't seen much about it after 2016, but it still seems worthless now

Mullah420 - May 23, 2017, 10:27 am

So how can it hit $1.75 if it's always been worthless? Can't the same be said about other coins such as Sia who has been working on their project for years now and now all of a sudden there's a hype, same with DGB? I feel like this cryptocurrency is for whales and exchanges to make a lot of profit from quick pump n dumps. Hence, Polo locking people out when Sia was put in new exchanges , is this even legal??
