Thread: Google Adsense is absolutely fucking retarded...

Its been more than a month I've been waiting to get my application approved, it STILL says

"We're reviewing your site.

Reviewing your site will take up to 3 days. We'll email you when we're done."

3 days my fucking ass, its been more than a month, are you kidding me?

They don't even have a number to call or anything, what type of bullshit is this?

Did you upload the code onto your site?

Also, in this case just send them an email saying it hasn't been reviewed and they will review it within 24 hours. Also, not all accounts have live chat offered to them, but some do; if yours does try that.

IMO: Unless your website is really big, and your content is PG13 at all times, Google Adsense is a waste of time.

Better ones out there, adsense close accounts for no reason as well btw you should look for an alternative.

Its not even that, the website I put in has something to do with my niche, it is directly related to my niche, but I am going to use google adsense in another way, related to that niche to make money with the ads, legal of course, I'll be driving traffic my promoted landing pages and getting some side money with these ads.

IF THEY EVER APPROVE ME!

I just used the "send feedback" button and send a screenshot of what I've been seeing for a month, I need a response from them, I am so pissed off.

I'll look around later on but right now I just need adsense for some side money, that is really all atm.
