

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Are you allowed to neg someone for multi accounting?

Wet Rag - May 25, 2017, 8:28 am

I see a group owner do it here: <https://hackforums.net/reputation.php?uid=3432268>

I have been told by several users that it's not allowed, so I was just wondering is it or not...

Thank you

Yandere - May 25, 2017, 8:30 am

I thought the only real rep that wasn't allowed was calling someone a scammer without linking a DD/ Proof?

Marshmallow - May 25, 2017, 8:31 am

I'm pretty sure it's allowed.

Just PM mini or some other staff and ask

Wet Rag - May 25, 2017, 8:32 am

(May 25, 2017 08:30 AM)Yandere Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I thought the only real rep that wasn't allowed was calling someone a scammer without linking a DD/ Proof?

Yaniel - May 25, 2017, 8:32 am

(May 25, 2017 08:32 AM)Wet Rag Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#)

The rep that was left isn't same as above. Starstruck just said he was a multi, the rep above implies he's a scammer.

Marshmallow - May 25, 2017, 8:33 am

(May 25, 2017 08:32 AM)Wet Rag Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#)

These are all just variations to call someone a scammer

Wet Rag - May 25, 2017, 8:34 am

(May 25, 2017 08:33 AM)Marshmallow. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) These are all just variations to call someone a scammer

Oh I didnt realize

M?xim - May 25, 2017, 8:36 am

(May 25, 2017 08:32 AM)Wet Rag Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#)

It's valid.

Calling someone a multi accounter is not disallowed, however, calling someone a scammer or (multi-account scammer) is.

That rule that you quoted only applies to being called a "scammer" of some sort.

ra1d - May 25, 2017, 8:36 am

Starstruck is not a group owner.

It is a valid rep nonetheless

Tony Stark - May 25, 2017, 8:38 am

Calling someone a multi is not rep abuse.

If you call them a multi [scammer] or imply it that's a policy violation.

Hope that clears it up.

Omniscient - May 26, 2017, 12:39 pm

"Scammed my friend" is invalid reputation.

"Member is not my friend" is a valid reputation.

You can't take one word from an example and try to say that anything using that one word is a policy violation.

Even the word scam can be used in reputation without violating policy...such as "I hope you don't get scammed again".