Thread: Question about the appropriate section for discussion about Programming

Key Punch - June 2, 2017, 12:39 pm

I wanted to create a thread to start a discussion on the pros and cons of being a web developer vs Software Developer. My biggest fear is that I will put it in the wrong section. What section would be appropriate for discussion about programming but not about programming in a specific language. It doesn't really fit in c/c++ section or the web developement section. I would like to ask if there an appropriate section and I'm just being stupid.

Sorry about the question, I just don't want to get it twouble.

Coding and Programming is the way to go. It is quite a general forum for a bit of everything regarding programming and coding.

Thanks the description of it threw me but it looks right!

Thanks again.
