Thread: Who's the best provider for high retention YT views?

Pavoni93 - June 4, 2017, 8:48 am

Looking to buy some high retention youtube views to rank one of my new niches and was wondering who you guys have purchased from in the past that actually work well thanks!

claimsocialauthority. i recommend don't buy off of seoclerks. just my personal experience but you can try it. if you are going to try it then go to afreenv. his deliveries are super long but its really cheap and high quality.

You need to test .... There are plenty of good sellers ins Seoclerks .. afreenv is just some russia botnet traffic so dont go with this guy . I usally upload 20 videos and buy 1k + views from 20 sellers and cmpare the views when they are done to find the best seller

Still looking guys, need a reliable provider.

Update: ordered from both viralrocket.co & "onlinesocialpromotion.com". It's been over 24 hours now and both sites haven't delivered my orders and support doesn't answer lol.

YouTube recently had some updates, many view providers still can't provide views.

Yeah I know, but the two I mentioned said they can still provide the views and have failed to do so and it's been over 30 hours now. Of course these sites have fine print saying they don't refund orders after they're placed lmao. SMM panels are jokes.

Compare sellers on SEOclerk or use QQtube. Personally I use QQtube because it's more reliable however it's more expensive.

Honestly CPA might be getting harder because of the restrictions from YT
