

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Convince Friends/Family

YourTommy - June 6, 2017, 5:41 pm

Okay so i've shown my friend and dad that i've made some decent money investing in Crypto. But how do i convince them to invest in it. I don't want to see them cry when i make money from doing nothing when they could have made loads.

Also i will be doing it for them so i can take a % from them aswell. lol

Boarden - June 6, 2017, 6:07 pm

lol are you really asking the internet on how to talk to your dad? I mean come on dude, you probably know better than anyone on here. Show him what crypto is about and ask for his opinion on it?

YourTommy - June 6, 2017, 6:09 pm

(Jun 6, 2017 06:07 PM)Boarden Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) lol are you really asking the internet on how to talk to your dad? I mean come on dude, you probably know better than anyone on here. Show him what crypto is about and ask for his opinion on it?i have done. i may need to explain it a bit better to him. he doesn't use 'tech' what so ever so its really hard to explain all this stuff to him haha

Black Kodak - June 6, 2017, 6:11 pm

I think your best bet is showing him positive trends and trying to convince him man, its pretty much on you, not our advice here.

Best of luck getting your dad to invest into it!

YourTommy - June 6, 2017, 6:12 pm

(Jun 6, 2017 06:11 PM)Black Kodak Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I think your best bet is showing him positive trends and trying to convince him man, its pretty much on you, not our advice here.

Best of luck getting your dad to invest into it!Cheers bro ill keep this updated on weather he invests or not haha.

YourTommy - June 6, 2017, 6:16 pm

(Jun 6, 2017 06:15 PM)Currency Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Parents only think 9-5 and working for the government is the only life you can have.

This exactly brother. i told my mum i'm making money online. her response was 'you will soon have no money if you do that hahaha'

i just laughed at her and told her i made £600 in 1 month from doing nothing. she stopped but still pushed her point forward that i would not have money left if i carry on.

Ravioli - June 6, 2017, 6:16 pm

I just tell people how much I've made in the 2 months I've been investing in cryptos and I usually don't have to convince them from there, lol. If you've made a significant amount this may be relevant even if you're not the bragging type (I'm not either but numbers are convincing).

YourTommy - June 6, 2017, 6:19 pm

(Jun 6, 2017 06:18 PM)Currency Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yeah exactly, people never see the bigger picture. it's so annoying that they don't but then when you are right its like. i told you, but you didn't listen. your loss

DenizZ - June 6, 2017, 7:15 pm

Why do you want to earn on the back of your family and friends xd? You see you want to convince them, let's say they are convinced and started to invest, what if they lose (big)?

I convinced my 2 cousins to invest in stratis when it was $5,50, they hold around 500 STRAT now and they have quite a lot of profit but they're not even saying thanks lol.

YourTommy - June 6, 2017, 7:19 pm

(Jun 6, 2017 07:15 PM)DenizZ Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Why do you want to earn on the back of your family and friends xd? You see you want to convince them, let's say they are convinced and started to invest, what if they lose (big)?

I convinced my 2 cousins to invest in stratis when it was $5,50, they hold around 500 STRAT now and they have quite a lot of profit but they're not even saying thanks lol.

why not make a little bit extra for helping them make some money. if they loose big they will have to deal with it. i would tell them that i im not 100% certain that it will get big but the possibility is there.

NoodleBot™ - June 6, 2017, 8:09 pm

You're charging commission off of your family?

YourTommy - June 6, 2017, 8:10 pm

(Jun 6, 2017 08:09 PM)NoodleBot™ Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You're charging commission off of your family? it be a small amount just for setting up the account and what not. hes fine with it i asked him.

NoodleBot™ - June 6, 2017, 9:02 pm

Just saying. Money and family never mix well.

Hulahoops - June 6, 2017, 9:09 pm

(Jun 6, 2017 08:10 PM)S.I.A Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) it be a small amount just for setting up the account and what not. hes fine with it i asked him.

So if they make a loss are you going to pay them back for their losses?

As others have suggested, do not mix money with friends and family. You're just asking for trouble.

GrandpaSherman - June 7, 2017, 12:01 am

You don't force someone to spend their money. You give them options and let them decide.

NA Riven - June 7, 2017, 12:04 am

Yeah let's charge your family for setting up a free wallet and a free altcoins so you can keep track.

Paak - June 7, 2017, 12:40 am

Plain and simple, crypto can be related to gold but for the future.

Blockchains allow for a more connected future with many possibilities.

Invest now or cry later.

Eagerkid - June 7, 2017, 8:35 am

Share the thread omni made with your dad : My Email to Friends and Family I convinced some family members already to invest in crypto currency

That Poppy - June 7, 2017, 9:01 am

My brother wanted to invest for him after seeing what I made...

He said I could have 50% of the profits he gets, but I don't need it ofc ;^)

Can't really get them to understand what it is tho...

YourTommy - June 7, 2017, 10:29 am

(Jun 7, 2017 09:01 AM)That Poppy Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) My brother wanted to invest for him after seeing what I made...

He said I could have 50% of the profits he gets, but I don't need it ofc ;^)

Can't really get them to understand what it is tho...

Nope they will never understand. my mum still thinks its a load of boloney. 'so you buy these coins and then they cost more. WHY ?'

SIM-2562043 - June 7, 2017, 10:38 am

Just show them your profit. Be prepared to answer their questions as well. I've got one friend to invest and my Grandad :D

Don Genovese - June 7, 2017, 10:40 am

Convinced my parents to invest £1,000 :)

YourTommy - June 7, 2017, 10:43 am

(Jun 7, 2017 10:40 AM)Wolf™ Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Convinced my parents to invest £1,000 :)how do you do this ? my dads like nope. to risky but sees i've made 600+ in 2 months urghh

chikos - June 7, 2017, 10:59 am

Only thing they'll say is get a 9 to 5.

AC3 - June 7, 2017, 11:03 am

(Jun 6, 2017 06:16 PM)S.I.A Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) This exactly brother. i told my mum i'm making money online. her response was 'you will soon have no money if you do that hahaha'

i just laughed at her and told her i made £600 in 1 month from doing nothing. she stopped but still pushed her point forward that i would not have money left if i carry on.

That will be the response of most people, especially older people who find this new avenue of wealth scary, dubious, and treacherous. You very likely won't convince all your friends and family, but if you do manage to convince one or two, then you should consider that a success. Making money online, with ease, is rightly viewed as suspicious or precarious, so it's going to be an uphill battle for you.

I'm still trying to get my brother to invest, but I don't know how without showing him my earnings, which is something I don't want getting out.

YourTommy - June 7, 2017, 11:14 am

(Jun 7, 2017 11:03 AM)Orygami Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) That will be the response of most people, especially older people who find this new avenue of wealth scary, dubious, and treacherous. You very likely won't convince all your friends and family, but if you do manage to convince one or two, then you should consider that a success. Making money online, with ease, is rightly viewed as suspicious or precarious, so it's going to be an uphill battle for you.

I'm still trying to get my brother to invest, but I don't know how without showing him my earnings, which is something I don't want getting out.

old people annoy me on the fact that they think there is only 1 way of making money and thats either a 9 to 5 or be wealthy to begin with. people nowadays need to open up to new ideas and technologies, it would shock them on how many people including kids make a big $$$ online.

AC3 - June 7, 2017, 11:32 am

(Jun 7, 2017 11:14 AM)S.I.A Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) old people annoy me on the fact that they think there is only 1 way of making money and thats either a 9 to 5 or be wealthy to begin with. people nowadays need to open up to new ideas and technologies, it would shock them on how many people including kids make a big $$$ online.

They would be shocked, but also, they would likely be very dismissive about it. They would say, "Oh, he just got lucky" instead of "He took a risk and he was rewarded for it."

They grew up in a different time, a time when the only viable way to make money was a 9 to 5 job. And they are emotionally invested into that model. Back then, even viable freelance work (a staple of today's economy) was as rare as a unicorn.

I've met some older people who are interested in cryptocurrency, but they are few and far between.

Legacy © - June 7, 2017, 11:51 am

Since I started I made about 15 people start aswell, everybody is profit so thats good.

AC3 - June 7, 2017, 12:38 pm

(Jun 7, 2017 11:51 AM)Legacy © Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Since I started I made about 15 people start aswell, everybody is profit so thats good.

Honestly, it's hard to lose money in crypto right now, the market is very bullish. So, just about any investment (provided you're not investing in random, fly-by-night coins) will net you a profit.