Interior/engine bay: <https://imgur.com/a/TvGII> (Will get a FULL interior job done for the buyer as the trunk is pretty messy with random shit)

Price: $14,500 $13,000

Location: Tempe, Arizona

Can we get the first car to be sold on HF???

New car on the way. Need it sold!

I have decided to move forward from the VQ scene and continue on with my passion for cars. I'm still young and have lots to learn. This was my first car when I bought it back in 2015, completely stock. I did all the upgrades and modifications myself. Any sort of maintenance or repairs was done by either Peoria Nissan or Pinnacle Nissan (paperwork is in the car)

Was primarily looking to trade it, but just came across a really clean looking car I'm looking to purchase

Mods:

Injen long tube intakes

FI test pipes

AAM short tails

Tuned with uprev

SSR GTV01 wheels 18s w/ about new tires.

Aftermarket circuit performance steering wheel.

Brand new TCM installed from Peoria Nissan

Wide body kit

Duckbill spoiler

Seibon CF vented hood

H&R lowering springs (not installed)

Custom fitted 2 10" JL subs

All original 82k miles, 35~k motor miles

A bit more im missing, but the only issue is it's a salvage title from an accident in 2014. After the accident happened, a few months later I was the new owner. All repairs done by pinnacle Nissan (I have paperwork), and for the last 2 years I've been the owner of the Z. It is a rebuilt title so no worries about the salvage part. Everything was repaired professionally and passed emissions easily.

Had lots of plans for the Z and would like to see the new owner potentially get it done!

I will not be parting out unfortunately.

Please don't message me if you aren't interested. No trades as I'm only looking for one car now.

Last few pics are from when I bought the car 3 years ago.

Payment methods accepted:

BTC, Bank, WU

We can work out shipping the vehicle as well. You pay shipping for an enclosed trailer.

Let's make HF history. I know we got some ballers in here

Larceny - June 7, 2017, 4:52 am

Not a fan of the color, but still a beautiful car at a great price. If I had the money I'd definitely talk to you. Good luck selling my man.

7AT = 7 automatic transmission.

It has paddle shifters, so it's the closest thing to a manual you'll get lol.

Thanks for bringing that up.

Funny you ask.. The one model who's better looking (without tats everywhere) went home with one of the guys in our car group. He didn't bring his car in, and she offered him a ride home.. Gonna have to ask him.

As for the other girl, you gotta take it up with all the harley davidson owners, cause she's the top model for them.. good luck lol

In all seriousness, of course I can ship them over to you

Funny thing is I give shit to all cars who are bought not built lol... I'm only buying a car with a proper airlift system just to get me started. And since it'll be a 350z and manual it'll be cheaper to upgrade and customize, especially with a widebody :)

Listen buddy... the group is worth much more than that. It provides intrinsic value. Not to mention you will be well respected in the HF community and in the streets.

Once you get the group - Those chicks who are sitting on top of your car will be sitting on top of you. The choice is pretty obvious

Can we get the first car to be sold on HF???

New car on the way. Need it sold!

I have decided to move forward from the VQ scene and continue on with my passion for cars. I'm still young and have lots to learn. This was my first car when I bought it back in 2015, completely stock. I did all the upgrades and modifications myself. Any sort of maintenance or repairs was done by either Peoria Nissan or Pinnacle Nissan (paperwork is in the car)

Was primarily looking to trade it, but just came across a really clean looking car I'm looking to purchase

Mods:

Injen long tube intakes

FI test pipes

AAM short tails

Tuned with uprev

SSR GTV01 wheels 18s w/ about new tires.

Aftermarket circuit performance steering wheel.

Brand new TCM installed from Peoria Nissan

Wide body kit

Duckbill spoiler

Seibon CF vented hood

H&R lowering springs (not installed)

Custom fitted 2 10" JL subs

All original 82k miles, 35~k motor miles

A bit more im missing, but the only issue is it's a salvage title from an accident in 2014. After the accident happened, a few months later I was the new owner. All repairs done by pinnacle Nissan (I have paperwork), and for the last 2 years I've been the owner of the Z. It is a rebuilt title so no worries about the salvage part. Everything was repaired professionally and passed emissions easily.

Had lots of plans for the Z and would like to see the new owner potentially get it done!

I will not be parting out unfortunately.

Please don't message me if you aren't interested. No trades as I'm only looking for one car now.

Last few pics are from when I bought the car 3 years ago.

Payment methods accepted:

BTC, Bank, WU

We can work out shipping the vehicle as well. You pay shipping for an enclosed trailer.

You literally just said "when I worked at bmw". Yeah, obviously, it's a fucking dealership. They aren't going to pay the same as someone who is purchasing the car on the streets; their tactic is RE-SALE. Also, he clearly states the status as rebuilt, not salvaged anymore. That holds more value than a salvage title would. If you don't think that this car is worth 14k, do some research. Coming from someone who car shops frequently AND knows the value of BMWs AND has multiple family members and friends that work at a variety of dealerships, you're wrong.

EDIT: Here is a price check from KBB on a car from 2009. 2009 Nissan 350z with 78k miles, ~$14,000. This car is two years newer, slightly more mileage, and lots of things done to the car. If you don't want what is done to the car, he could easily put it back to stock and part out everything for a good ~$3-5k I'd say. So again, it isn't an opinion, it's simply factual. You are wrong.

It's a restored title. Salvaged cars that run at auctions are in shit condition. Carfax priced this at 13,000$ can show screenshots, but I got a birthday party to go to. No need to get angry pal, it's a forum.

I know a thing or two about how dealerships purchase salvaged cars at $7,000, so I'm not dumb when it comes to that

Personal experience, this is my first car and I purchased it salvaged. The amount of issues it had was ridiculous. 6k$+ on repairs so it runs like a king. Don't buy a salvaged title from a car owner who knows nothing about how a car runs. Mine is restored and all paperwork from dealerships and mechanics will be provided proving it is in prestige running condition ?

That's awesome man. One of my friends actually bought a salvaged "fire damaged" 350z that was 2004 I think. He got lucky because all he really had to do was clean the ashes off of the interior and everything was fine.

And another one of my friends got a Lexus f sport that had a salvaged title and he did all the work himself to get it looking and working perfectly.

They really got me thinking about buying a salvaged title next car

As a car enthusiast I can vouch this car is well worth your asking price. Speaking from owning a Z myself and also being in the market of flipping and selling cars. As long as there is no frame damage to the car a salvage title means nothing. If it was repaired professionally they change parts that may not even have to have been changed... For example if you curbed your car on the right side and you needed a new tie rod end they will also replace the control arm because when one is damaged usually the other is as well.

If yes I can afford some god damn nice cars when I'm allowed to drive one.I'm Canadian, USD exchange rate is fucked, and it's already over 5 years old, but a) 370z not the 350 (Far greater horsepower) b) Widebody kit is hella expensive c) the amount of mods in this thing makes whatever HP/Torque this came with during stock a fucking racehorse, plus the fact that a brand new one is like 50k. This price is.... literally retarded, even at 16 g's it's a pretty good deal. If he really tried, he could probably get 18 or 20, but I think he wants specifically the bragging rights of selling the first car on HF.... there'd need to be a whole new other award category for that shit.

Moving on, if you don't mind using a MM, shipping it to Toronto (I pay for shipping), and dropping that price down by $500 I might actually be interested. YES I meant this as a troll, but I could probably find a buyer tbh, if the condition is as good as you say..

Not far at all. Shipping would be like $300 or if you pay extra I'll drive to you

Craze - June 18, 2017, 3:08 am

Guys get this sold for him asap

He needs the money to invest into cryptos

I sold my lifted 2007 Jeep Wrangler Rubicon yesterday for $16.5. I'd be incredibly tempted to look into your car if I wasn't stuck looking for longevity and practicality... Your car is bad fucking ass. Now I need to try not to cry as I decide what sort of boring, fuel efficient car I want to get.

Ahahaha I remember that jeep. That thing was badass.

If you want to make a deal, I'd be down for it, then spend the extra cash you have left over on a civic as a daily. Just a suggestion ?

I need something new, something that's gonna last me for as long as possible. I want my next purchase to be my last one for a long time. I've been through too many cars, none of them practical, all of them too expensive. Time for me to enter the boring life.

Aha understandable! Good luck with that bro

Wespa - June 18, 2017, 4:49 am

The best of luck selling this.

This is historical.

Yeah I've had lots of local interest but I wanna sell it on here lmao

NurSpec - June 18, 2017, 4:56 am

Mint car, can vouch that OP has always taken care of this car and it's been his pride and joy. Always posting pictures in Torque and showing us how clean it is and always maintaining it.

GLWS man, kinda sad to see it go actually.

Thanks homie! And yeah I have a better car on the way, so it is sad cause I did all the work myself, but I'm looking at another car

CanadaPost - June 18, 2017, 6:16 am

You apple gift card for sales dude?

Octavia - June 18, 2017, 7:12 am

Why not just do a giveaway and rig it where I win? Great idea. GLWS

Lmao u are not serious

queonda - June 18, 2017, 10:02 am

God damn if you were only selling this a couple months ago I would've copped. Instead now I'm stuck with a crappy Toyota :(.

GLWS man, whoever buys it is a lucky person

Aha damn that sucks. Honestly will go down to 11-12k if someone buys it soon just so it can be the first car sold

Audi R8 - June 18, 2017, 12:20 pm

Looks good, good luck with this!

Regulus - June 18, 2017, 12:21 pm

Holy mother of fucking god, that's a beautiful car and what a price for real.
If I had the funds I'd buy it immediately, insanely cheap.

Why you gotta tell me that ? , such a great price. I'm regretting buying my car so much right now ?

Tyler - June 18, 2017, 9:18 pm

This thing looks clean as fuck bro.
Wish you the best of luck selling.

Octavia - June 19, 2017, 8:30 am

Honestly if I wasn't poor I'd cop but I'm buying a 93 240sx

Smexi - June 19, 2017, 8:40 am

I got a 2012 z with 32,000 miles myself. What are you buying after selling?

Supercharged 350 so far. Still looking

But this car might be sold this week locally unfortunately

Ultra Instinct - June 20, 2017, 11:38 am

Car looks sick bud. Hopefully you can find a buyer.

It's gonna be sold locally soon :(

Couldn't get any interested buyers on here

SoccerBet - June 20, 2017, 12:05 pm

Can it be exported to Europe? And which price?

Couldn't get any interested buyers on hereYou are on a forum with mostly kids under the age of 18 who live with their parents and expected to sell a car that costs probably more than most people make on here a year. (Stating they are most under 18, or have no job at all)

I'd personally be interested in it; but it's the fear of being "scammed" for this too. Not saying you would, but this is alot of money to be sending someone and hoping to get a car in return.

Majority of users I know on here are actually older than 18 and have financial income. And there is no fear of being scammed when banks are involved lol swolemitch - June 21, 2017, 2:21 pm

Honestly this shit is so fucking sexy, if I had 13k to just blow I would meet up right now lol.

Nadisty - June 23, 2017, 10:34 am

Any luck with selling this so far then? :)

NurSpec - June 23, 2017, 10:35 am

Stop reducing the price brother. Be patient, you're basically giving this beautiful machine away!
