Posting to come back later. Not sure what to think of it, hopefully we'll see proof any time now.

Pronouncer - June 9, 2017, 8:31 am

Wait do you host the website? or do we have to use our own?

frd_ - June 9, 2017, 8:36 am

Don't want to post my channel name to the public but here are the stats I'm able to pull from youtube just from last night. A lot more subscribers still from today, and I only have a website with a little traffic. Highly recommended!

sourdiesel87 - June 9, 2017, 8:49 am so is this clickjacking or not? Do they have to click on anything on the website or do they just need to visit our website?

Reporter - June 9, 2017, 8:53 am

Twitch - June 9, 2017, 12:43 pm

I wouldn't buy this until a high reped member gets a vouch copy

RonzaX - June 9, 2017, 1:11 pm

I'd take a vouch copy if possible and or if I could call you on skype and you show me how this works and if it works

Marketplace Violations Rules List:

1. Multiple Vouching - If you continually vouch for a product or seller in the same thread it will be counted as LQP and thread bumping.

Where did I vouch for him more than once?

y0gurt - June 9, 2017, 6:33 pm

The JavaScript is connecting to our server only - the real magic and 0 day exploit is happening on the backend, away from the public eye.

Online and ready to set more people up!

Transcendent - June 9, 2017, 7:44 pm

Not too sure what your selling an iframe src link to subscribe with your website as a host for the customers?

It's on your own page. And there's nothing to do with iframes, it's a 0day exploit that is able to achieve this.
