Omniscient - June 12, 2017, 7:30 am

This is our HF holiday celebration of Good Will Monday. It's suppose to be the first Monday of June but unfortunately I had forgotten and I was distracted. However, we just bumped it this year to week two.

Original thread from 2010:

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=466320>

Here is a quote from that thread which still hold true.

Quote: On this day you'll be asked to give 5 positive reputations to members that you feel have been a positive and contributing influence to HF. This is the day when you stop all the negative crap and think positively by giving out some good vibes and positive reps.

I ask that today you do not give out ANY negatives unless they are related to scam reports.

All rules for rep still apply. Don't ask for reps and don't use them to flame fellow members. So let's be nice today and find ways to be nicer toward each other.

Thanks to everyone and best of the summer. Let's all begin.

kookur - June 12, 2017, 7:31 am

Same to you, this is my very first time, I hope people will get good amount of rep today.

Good luck to everyone :)

On that note I will be spamming out +3s (I don't have the new usergroup) : (

I will be giving them to members I deem could use some positive vibes sent there way. Obviously I can't +3 the whole forum but I think I will take the next 2 days to give out some positive vibes. Cheers everyone!

Once a month would be nice, or even twice a year. It's nice to see our community be positive, not toxic to each other.

Would be nice if we had a good will sunday or something like that. Once a year seems like a long time to go to spread more positive vibes.

Anyway still giving out rep and happy good will monday to all and hope everyone is having a good summer.
