Thank You.

The fact that you all find happiness and gratitude in the content I produce and have given to the community is what gets me going. When I first pitched the idea to a few friends about Crypto News, they told me ... why would anyone read it? What makes YOUR weekly threads any different from the daily quoting threads being posted in the Crypto Currency section?

I .. I didn't know. I just knew I wanted to do it – I knew I wanted to release something that could help the community out, something that could bring us all together. I have witnessed the ups and downs of Hack Forums, to my luck, it has mostly been ups.

Crypto News has been extremely successful, and I can't wait to rebrand it in the name of Consensus as soon as it gets released. Running the Crypto Sector was a dream come true, and I have had so much fun in a short period of time. I am forever grateful for Cryptic and his allowance in letting me run the Crypto Sector in the name of The Brotherhood.

There has been quite a lot of drama recently involving me and AlexJohn83. I would like to officially put all of this behind me. I have spoken to the people I need to talk to, and there is no reason to dig further into it. Alex, I know you are going to read this, and I honestly just want you to know: I'm through with all of this. You may have your hatred against me, and I may have mine against you, but I want you to know, that I want to put all of this behind us. You have a lot of great thoughts and a great mindset when it comes to cryptos, and that is all that matters. It doesn't matter who made a million dollars, who forged content and who makes the most interesting content. Fuck that. All that matters is that we, as a community stick together. It's no surprise the activity is currently in a fall on Hack Forums, and we are the only ones who can help turn this around. By having negativity, drama, and trouble in the community, we are only making the situation worse. It's time for us to bring positivity to the forum, and it is time for us to get into better terms with each other. We all have differences, we are all unique, and we might not like the same things, but that doesn't mean we should be enemies. Everyone has been through tough times and going through tough times often leads to letting a shit-storm fall down on someone. It might not be intentional, but that one specific dude might just have been the guy to finally tick you off while being in a bad mood.

Put all your differences to the side, forget all the negativity, and forget about the drama. It's time the present changes. Leave the past to the past, and let's create a better future, both for ourselves, but also for Hack Forums. It doesn't matter if you are a person living in the lounge, if you live in the crypto section or if you like to help members. We are all different, and we all like different things. Having unique people who desire for unique parts of this forum is what makes it such an amazing place. We have people in every section, whether it be people who share tutorials, who help people awaken their inner soul, people who talk about politics or people who talk about money. We all have a heart, and we all have the desire for something – let's put this together into making this a better place. The drama has taken over, negativity has arisen in the community, and it is time to let go.

Let me start off by saying: Thank you, thank you all for the amazing adventures. Thank you for sharing your gratitude with me throughout hard times, throughout good times. Thank you for giving me so much positive feedback for the content I have released. I hope to be able to continue my journey on here, and I hope to be able to release a Crypto News Edition every single week for the next many years.

I always love reading your threads and this one was no different. Fantastic feedback, hopefully you stick around for quite some time and continue your contributions towards the crypto currency sector of HackForums.

This is my first time reading to you a thread. You seem like an active and HQ user. Your feedback is phenomenal except it misses headers as xadamxk said. Keep it up!

Thanks for your feedback. Appreciate all those kind words and please continue with the Crypto News. I enjoy it.

Will there be opportunities to contribute to Crypto News still since The Brotherhood was sold?
