

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Kali Linux Wifi with package injector.

snfrmg - June 14, 2017, 3:12 am

I tried looking online for good USB Wifi with package injectors to use with Kali Linux, but the Country where i live in the 10 most popular according to google is so rare that i can not find them (looked several PC stores, even ask if they could order... But no).

That makes me wonder if there is good known brands with package injector, that will work well with Kali Linux?

Mr. Robot - June 14, 2017, 3:14 am

... I wont bother correcting your grammar as we all know what you mean.

Where in the world are you from? It's always best to order online or write the ones they have in store down then look at their information online.

snfrmg - June 14, 2017, 3:27 am

(Jun 14, 2017 03:14 AM)Mr. Robot Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) ... I wont bother correcting your grammar as we all know what you mean.

Where in the world are you from? It's always best to order online or write the ones they have in store down then look at their information online.

Philippines.... ?

Mr. Robot - June 14, 2017, 3:28 am

(Jun 14, 2017 03:27 AM)snfrmg Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Philippines.... ?

Yeah you are probably best buying one online as no offense but almost every adapter in the Philippines will be a budget rip off.

snfrmg - June 14, 2017, 3:31 am

(Jun 14, 2017 03:28 AM)Mr. Robot Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yeah you are probably best buying one online as no offense but almost every adapter in the Philippines will be a budget rip off.

Yeah, they got a lot of that here....

Clutch - June 15, 2017, 1:25 pm

I think what you're looking for is a WiFi adapter that works with Kali.

This TP-Link adapter is the one I always recommend to people. Cheap, always in stock, and just works with Kali/Raspi out-of-the-box.

spoofoaida - June 16, 2017, 2:00 am

(Jun 15, 2017 01:25 PM)Clutch Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I think what you're looking for is a WiFi adapter that works with Kali.

This TP-Link adapter is the one I always recommend to people. Cheap, always in stock, and just works with Kali/Raspi out-of-the-box.

my nigiiii man

psv350 - June 16, 2017, 4:48 am

only RALINK / ATHEROS.

broadcom has problem with drivers.

for anten i recommend wifisky on ralink chipset.