Thread: Logo for a fitness site

marakuq - June 14, 2017, 6:29 am

Hello, I would be grateful if someone could create a logo with the text "BodySimplified" and include a silhouette of a man that has really well-defined muscles on one-half of his body and the other half to be completely the opposite - skinny and no muscle at all.

The logo will be used as a logo on a fitness website that will offer customized meal plans and workout regimes.

Thanks in advance to everyone who is willing to try and help out :)

Here's a sketch for people to make it easier to understand:"

Do you want the upper and lower body or the left and the right side of the body.

Lol, thank you for the easier explanation.? Left/Right side, with the right side being the muscular one and the left the skinny beta male one.
