

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Kiss Dum: Engage Planet

CorrosiveBlueberry - June 19, 2017, 11:55 am

So i got tired of watching my sports anime, and decided to start watching this series "Kiss Dum: Engage Planet" even though the reviews weren't that great for it.

Synopsis:

Spoiler (Click to View)

In A.D. 2031, humans are enjoying a prosperous existence until strange life forms called Hardians appear. They suddenly begin to multiply and assault the human population. As a countermeasure, mankind organizes the N.I.D.F. to investigate the Hardians and protect themselves.

A fighter pilot, Aiba Shu, begins to become involved in the battle against the lifeforms. Rurika Yuno, one of Earth's foremost scientists, investigates the Hardians and hears rumors about the "Book of a Dead Man." What is the secret of this tome, and what relation does it have to the Hardians?

Now, the fight for mankind's survival begins.

Personal Review:

So far i only have a few episodes left before I'm done, and i'm really enjoying this series, it is pretty damn crazy at times but really it isn't as much of a mecha as it was supposed to be. Its more of i'd say cursed powers or super powers vs. Demons, and apocylptic/End-World. It was created in 2007 but the show is really dark in color and such so even though im watching it in 720p it kind of seems 480p or so.

It gets a little hectic/crazy at times though.