Influence's official recruitment thread

Welcome to our official recruitment thread. We are a new group that aims to inspire other members to have a good influence on the Hackforums community.

You can find more information about the group here.

Requirements

- You must have 0 unresolved deal disputes.
- You must have atleast 100 posts.
- You must have a positive reputation.
- You can not have a warning level greater than 20%.
- You MUST be active & social.

Application Formats

At the moment, it is possible for you to apply to 4 different divisions. So choose your division carefully as each one have different leaders, projects and goals. Apply once using the correct division's format.

Extra side notes

- One-Liner Applications are not a good way to show your motivation.
- You can't post to reserve a spot.
- You can PM me to ask questions, but don't ask me about the status of your application, it will only lessen your chances of being accepted.
- Members will be accepted while the recruitment is still open, others might be accepted when the recruitment is finished.
- We are looking to accept a good number of members into our group, so as long as you fit the requirements, you make an acceptable application and you have a will to help, you stand a chance, so just relax and take your time while making the application.
- You MUST be active. Again.
- Good luck! ?

Previous and current groups:

Current: Legends and Revolution.

Previous: Baka and Sheepgang.

Describe your personality: I take things seriously when it comes to doing work and business but can be fun when I want to, I like influencing people to do better while improving myself as a person.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: I wish to influence people to purchase a product that I create that actually will help them unlike some other people on here which just look for a quick profit. I also wish to make new friends with people who are fun to talk with and discuss other topics with as well rather it's talking with them on discord/skype or PM'ing them on Hackforums.

Possible ideas you might have to contribute to HF: Informational threads with tutorials and videos such as jailbreaking while offering support and bitcoin fees. I won't be monetizing these as these are just for helping people throughout the forum.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly: I've been on HF a lot more lately so probably 15 hours.

Thanks for creating this recruitment thread and good luck to others applying.

Makaveli The Don - June 20, 2017, 10:38 am

Please put some effort into your applications and stop using the spacers. One-liner applications are not a good way to show motivation.

'Axion - June 20, 2017, 10:46 am

Time Zone(GMT): GMT+2 (Romania)

Previous and current groups: Currently in Baka and I've also been in SheepGang, but I've been kicked from SheepGang 'cause I was away for ~3 days without telling the leader because it was something urgent related to my health and I kind of forgot.

Describe your personality: I'll just be honest and say I do my best to act professional and be a diplomat but I've lately been just a bit aggressive due to some situations in my life and I can get really defensive and angry sometimes if somebody pisses me off on purpose, I just sometimes can't tolerate stupidity (won't go any more into it). When I'm not acting like a complete douchebag, I'm (cannot give you an objective opinion and cannot say anything without sounding egotistical but..) helpful, especially towards beginners, having been one myself not too long ago; overly-friendly sometimes and (I'll have to use this word despite me not really liking it, but I don't know a better word to describe this) pretty chill. But like I said, you will have to first meet me since I'm just giving a subjective response.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF:

Well, I've started my 'career' on HF by only helping people. I've gained quite a lot of good reputation (by my standards) and became friends with some other cool people around here. But sadly, it changed. I started getting negative reputation because of me joining Baka and because of it I kind of lost the pleasure of helping people (for some reason). I started hanging out in the lounge and other sub forums and started at ~150 posts in. I'd really love to get back into helping people with the things that I'm good at and bring people out of the 'newbie' "how to hack?" stage. Probably even make a few 'courses' for different programming languages. I'd really wish I could take back some of the things I've said on this forum (posts/threads) because I've sometimes posted some things I'm not proud of in some moments of weakness since life has been fucking me over a lot lately. I'd love to stop this shitposting stage I'm at that a lot of HF users seem to go through and actually make good posts and help people. This will hopefully bring a positive influence towards and bring a better light onto HF since now it has a bad reputation giving the fact the people say there are only skids here (rightfully so, in a way). Hopefully we can get more people to learn to program and contribute to the forum and become a forum of more knowledgeable people and not like it is now.

Coding language(s) that you work with:

I work with quite a lot and probably I'll just keep adding more and more giving that it's summer.C++ - The one that I'm best at. I would consider myself a bit of an intermediate at it. I am currently studying different anti-debugging methods with the intent to implement them into a chat application I'm working on for about a month after I've finished (kind of) learning about Winsock.

VB.NET - I have a lot of projects in this because I found coding in it very easy. I mostly made spyware applications in this just to see if I could manage to do it. At one point I thought of making a teamviewer-like application but I don't have the money to buy hosting for that kind of project.

AutoIt - I learnt this a bit after learning C++ because I saw I could do some interesting things in it and I used it to act like an UI for controlling one of my C++ programs, but I haven't really used it ever since.

Lua/Inline ASM - I use this a lot for writing scrips in cheat engine, since it is the only thing that's undetected in the game that I'm making these for. The latest thing I've made with inline assembly is a triggerbot and an ESP (with just a bit of patching bytes you can get nametags above enemies in this game).

Experience in coding:

For example, in C++ and Autolt I have around a 2 year experience (which obviously does not mean I spent every day studying and practicing). For things like .net I have ~a year and I've only started learning assembly around 3-4 months ago so I can only do basic things like some cheats, like explained above/patch basic programs/find key generation algorithm that I use in combination with C++ to make keys, but not very good at it; only managed to do it once successfully.

And that also doesn't mean I'm happy with what I know now, most of my summer will probably mean learning more and finishing my project in C++ that I spoke about above which will probably be released on HF also eventually.

If you mean how/when I use it, then, basically most of the time I'm at my computer. I'm always working at something, no matter if it's some random program or one of my projects.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly:

Normally I spent mostly the nights in week days and probably being active all day during weekends (meaning keeping it open and occasionally scrolling trough here and there but this summer it'll probably be all day, every day with the exception of the few times I'll be away on short vacations. I usually spend my time scrolling mostly and I recently started to visit the Beginner forum more and try to help like the good ol' days but I don't really see any genuine things I could answer. Most contain subjects I don't know much about, like web stuff and some straight up make sense. I try though.

Additional:

If you want to know more about anything here, just contact me trough a PM, I'm willing to talk about things, even if it's a bit sensitive.

//Edit: Sometimes I tend to get lost while writing things because of my dyslexia so if it seems like I'm sometimes going off the topic, sorry :(

Also, I know I am over-explaining everything/myself but I feel as my honesty matters and I want you guys to understand how some things work so you understand why I did some things.

Previous and current groups:

Baka, Dawn, Enigma, Eternal, Fusion, Illuminati, Nightmare, Riptide, Sheepgang, Synergy, The Brotherhood and The Order.

Describe your personality:

I'm a very laid back individual who likes to think of a lot of projects in start ups and just throw out ideas as well as I'm a very sociable person so I talk quit the lot with everyone.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF:

Bring a positive vibe and bring nothing but good comments to the group. I'd like to help out people in whatever areas I can help with.

Possible ideas you might have to contribute to HF:

There's so many possible avenues to go down depending on what the groups main goal is. I did some marketing for a job I worked at so I'm quite creative.

It all depends on the type of idea you'd like to contribute whether it be monetization, coding help, innuendo, gaming and so much more.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly:

I'm not getting more active on HF again since summer is here. I'd say roughly anywhere between 20-30 hrs. I mainly chill in discord which I'm super active there.

Describe your personality: Down to earth, entrepreneur mindset, and very open to new experiences.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: I wish to provide a great learning enviroment for youngsters that have above average IT skillsets, and help them go in the right direction instead of the illegal direction. And hopefully collaborate with other HF members on some cool projects.

Coding language(s) that you work with: Python(Flask), AngularJS 2, JavaScript, PHP, ASP.net, C# and HTML/CSS

Experience in coding: I work with it daily.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly: No idea, but my online time should show you that it is a lot. "Time Spent Online: 1 Year, 2 Days, 8 Hours, 6 Minutes, 20 Seconds"

Time Zone(GMT): EST

Previous and current groups: Almost all of them LOL. Dawn, Equilibrium, Notorious, Novus Ordo Seclorum, Sheep Gang, and a new group that is upcoming. I've been a member of most groups on HF at one point or another.

Describe your personality: I'm an easy going and carefree person. I am easy to get along with and I rarely cause a conflict. I like to help others and learn new things and I'm able to do that daily on HF. I enjoy spending time talking to others on HF and helping them with whatever they need help with. I'll be having a few products releases soon so I strive to carry a professional and business like manner with me.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: I'm always trying to help users with whatever tasks they need help with. I spend most of my time helping people with cryptocurrency questions and doing exchanges for users. I have a few products that I will be releasing soon and also some guide that I will be giving away to all users.

Possible ideas you might have to contribute to HF: I have many giveaways that I will be hosting soon as well as guides to help HF users earn side income online. I also plan on bettering my graphics and coding skills and using that knowledge to help other users in those fields.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly: Too much. Depending on my work schedule, I'll be on HF for 20ish hours a week atm. Will be increasing soon though

Describe your personality:

[font=Trebuchet MS]This is a hard one, because can you describe your personality. We can't observe ourselves we only know what others say about us. But if I had to follow those who are around me and have known me for quite some decade of time I can conclude that their opinion is pretty accurate with what I think about myself. Overall I think that I'm a positive minded individual who has a shared common knowledge and society interest in others. That means I care about my next ones but also spread interest to people I've not met before. Unfortunately, I didn't grow up in the best time of my life. I didn't have a nice or comfortable childhood, far from that. Multiple times in contact with authorities, suspensions of schools and issues at home. Let's just say I wasn't the easiest kid. With personal issues, where I won't go into detail as privacy concerns I had a different attitude being given to me then I gave to others. Maybe that's why I am so open-minded and caregiving nowadays. I will definitely not say I'm the kindest man on Earth or me never causing trouble. But I do most of the time speak with my heart and say my honest words. Three words: Friendly, stubborn and open-minded. I always like to conversate, debate, interlactuate.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF:

Real

I mean what I say, I provide all of my honesty towards and on hack forums. There's some hidden treasures on hack forums because people act like the toughest, best, greatest hacker, amazing entrepreneur, or godlike marketer. While in fact, they are nothing more than a human like us with specific focused skills.

Honesty

Most of the times, we don't mean what we say. That issue has a big influence on hack forums. For instance, a digital book about making money states and provides 'proof' of thousands per Month, but only providing a Lorem Ipsum styled text with nothing but nonsense. Same with humans. I can state that I am open-minded and real. But what if I am not? You could have trusted me by now but what if I told you that all of this was a lie to make this point clear? False, everything I stated is true and real.

Activity, with quality.

I'm trying to provide as much activity as possible. Usually, people think activity is connected with posting. But actually, viewing threads, analyzing them and if needed leaving them for what they are.

Because you don't need to post in every thread or post. That is decapitalizing your activity in a negative way instead of constructing and providing a positive activity.

Focus point

Besides I want to influence hackforums by providing my friendly societal behavior and bring that smile to others. I'm seeing some kind of chainreaction if we all spread that one bit of positivity. I'm being honest, I've been kind of salty as well on hackforums but haven't all we? If we throw away the salt and instead use some pepper, we can make hackforums not only more positive but also more united. I think with a whole team besides me also with the same focus aspect of making hackforums better, we can enhance and boost our interest faster and make it reality soon. I'm really hyped to work on this project both with Influence and without Influence.

Possible ideas you might have to contribute to HF:

I'm willing to start a Discord graphics group to share resources, artwork, interests and general lounging. I'm currently in the Sketch phase but hope to expand my progress further as we speak. Also in the make of a Graphic resource thread in the GFX section.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly:

Around 35-50 Hours a week.

Yandere - June 20, 2017, 11:32 am

Time Zone(GMT): Eastern

Previous and current groups: Baka, Nightmare, The Order, Skill, Sheepgang, Harmony

Describe your personality: If I had to describe my personality it'd have to be laid back and care free. I tend to avoid most if not all drama on HF, in real life since I'm not a fan of childish things like that. I've never even had a problem with anyone on HF and hope it continues to stay that way.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: Unless me trying to be positive and kind and helpful here and trying to avoid all the toxic people who just like to be mean, argue for no reason counts as a positive influence then I haven't had an influence here since I'm a pretty unknown member, keep to myself for the most part. Something I wish to do is host more giveaways in the future if I can. Since I enjoy giving back to the community that has given me a lot.

Possible ideas you might have to contribute to HF: I'd like to try and get the community to be nicer to newer members since they are sometimes pretty hostile to them for no reason other than them simply not reading a rule, because they can't do anything back to them. That way people will have a better first impression of the site, more people would want to join.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly: I usually browse HF throughout the day on my phone so I am on fairly frequently. I'd say I spend 8-12 hours a week on here maybe even more. I usually spend a good amount of time when I'm on within my groups SF's since that where most of my friends on the site are spending their time too.

Thanks for reading, taking the time to consider my application.

A little about Me. \(Click to View\) I'm 20, currently live in NY. I am not in college right now but I do plan on enrolling sometime next year to get a few business related degrees. I have 4 pets. 2 dogs, 1 cat, 1 fish. I usually spend my days hanging out with friends or just relaxing in my room watching

Netflix and browsing HF or just playing Xbox.

Nightmare (GFX Team)

Riptide

Describe your personality: Outgoing and friendly chap, I'd say I'm usually fun to be around and I'm always down for having a good time, but I always put on my serious hat when a need for professionalism arises, and having currently finished my 3rd semester of Uni I'll be partaking in those professional occasions quite frequently.

I have very few passions in life, namely music, art(mostly graphics), gaming, and socializing.

I think it's unfair to compliment myself in my own words, so I'll let my actions speak for themselves if you choose to let me.

I just like to keep it mello~ (Click to View)

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: I honestly really wanted to be part of the Wiki team and I was willing to join last year however I was met with understandable rejection, and now that I am more eligible than ever I just simply don't have the time (nor passion?) for it anymore. That said, I have a lot of respect for every member of the Wiki team and all the writers, and perhaps one day I'll be able to break bread with them.

Possible ideas you might have to contribute to HF: I'm not sure if Influence would be interested per se interested in this, but my ideas for contributing to HF all go to the gaming section (mainly the League of Legends SF) - I understand not everyone is interested in this, and that's perfectly fine.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly: Around 3 and a half hours on a daily basis.

Meaning 24 and a half hours weekly, that's a little over a full day spent on HF just chilling and attending errands.

Compulsive - June 20, 2017, 12:47 pm

Compulsive's General Help Application

Time Zone(GMT):

Central Standard Time

Previous and current groups:

The Empire, Titans, Sheepgang

Describe your personality:

I feel that I am outgoing, funny, social, intelligent, trustworthy, and charitable.

I know anyone can make a list of their personality, but I feel I truly fit all of these attributes. For me, I find it hard to brag about myself or sometimes undervalue myself (which puts humble onto this list as well), but my friends (me included) are total jokesters. We take very little to heart and can always have a good time. I feel that I have a major part to do with it, as my friends and I are always laughing. While on the topic of friends, I am able to make new friends very quickly, as I have a natural ability to find something in common with someone and use that to get closer to them, as I have been in the same position that the kid in the back of the class who never talks was in. I used to be so shy when I was younger to the point that I would start sweating when attendance was called. I would lock myself in my room and play video games, and talk to virtual friends. However, I realized that in life that is not the way to live. It is to be in real life and to have a good time, so I started to fake confidence and the ability to be outgoing, and now it is my first nature to do so. With being outgoing and funny, the social part comes naturally as well. As for the trustworthiness, I have a job that I do out of someone's home (I'm going to be a senior in high school), and get called in at random times, and can always do the work I am needed to do. My high school soccer team as well as my travel team both rely on my as I am a defender, and the last line before a goal is scored, so I feel that I can be trusted by many.

The charitable part is why I feel that I will truly fit into Influence. Where I live, I have volunteered both in my community and communities around me. I have been volunteer coaching the under-privileged for about 3 years now. I have volunteered and helped organize numerous food drives, veteran charities. I have also helped raise money for breast cancer patients who cannot afford a treatment, as well as cancer research. I feel that the amount of time I have put into volunteering will help immensely in making HF better for new users, as well as old ones too!

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF:

I feel that I have not contributed much on a big scale. I don't have any sticky threads, I don't have any big topics that have helped many people, but I have helped in replies as much as I can for anyone who requests assistance. I have helped many members in in PM's for what they need and try and go out of my way to help in any way I can. However, with like-minded individuals trying to achieve the same goal, I feel that Influence (hopefully with me in it) can actually help the forums on a big scale.

Possible ideas you might have to contribute to HF:

As of right now, I feel that the biggest challenge is including the "nobodies" into conversations and treating them with respect. We could do this by potentially making it so they can leave not "neutrals" but a positive or negative on reps without making your actual number on your rep change. This could be available to members who have been on the forums for longer than a month and/or have positive rep. I know this is out of the group's area of what we can do, but I feel that if we show that we can actually help the members of the forum out, then we may be able to have some say in some decisions like this.

As for what we can do as a group? I feel that Helpdesks in every section we can will help better the forum. Having multiple members in each section that have an extended array of knowledge on the subject will be a great start to what Influence can offer.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly:

I have been spending around 20 hours minimum on HF for the past few weeks. I have been much more active than I have been previously.

Thank you for reading my application,

[b]Time Zone(GMT): Eastern Standard.

Previous and current groups: I currently do not have any previous groups but my current groups are: SheepGang and another unreleased official group. Looking to spread my name and become a part of most of the groups on the HackForums.

Describe your personality: I would describe my personality as a outgoing and but modest person in a sense where I am always eager to take lead on something but I am also eager to learn a lesson. I am a more relaxed person compared to others. I am always participating in active conversations and love to help anybody out with the things that I have knowledge on. I believe that this group would a great place for me because I am a very positive person and look to spread my knowledge and great attitude.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: I currently wish to influence the attitude and the way some members go about treating each other on the forum. I notice that some users tend to be a little harsh when unnecessary. I have applied for the wiki team and would love to contribute to the forum. I wish to spread positivity and happiness again throughout the forum.

Possible ideas you might have to contribute to HF: I am looking to giving back to the community in the future with some giveaways such as user upgrades and awards. I also would like to start up a currency exchange for all users. I look to bring many other things to HF such and personal contributions and things to benefit the community.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly: I would easily say that I spend most of my time during the week on HF and really just on my PC. Rough estimate is 40 hours a week on my PC so around 30 a week from now on. Looking forward to making more contributions with the time I have on here. Thank you for your time and reading my application. Hope I can make a difference here.

Describe your personality: I am a relatively normal person. I tend to joke around quite a bit; although, I can also be serious when the time comes. The majority of the time I am a more observant person. I would prefer to sit quietly in the background and observe the opinions and ideals of others then chime in when I feel I will benefit the conversation.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: I have not done a significant amount of things to influence HF. I try to follow my gut and what I feel is right. It would be nice to bring some changes to HF in regards to the stupendous amount of drama circulating the Crypto section. Overall, it would be ideal to bring an influential group actually bring change rather than simply talk about it.

Describe a perfect product: A perfect product is something that fulfills the requirements of the consumer without requiring clickbait or false advertising. The product should not be a publicized material nor should the content be found via research. Everything should be entirely discovered and created by the producer of the content and should be sold for a price somewhere near the market equilibrium.

Have you ever reviewed a product before? If so, what do you think are the main things to look for when doing so?: Yes, I have reviewed a couple of products both online and offline. The main things to look for would be the following: Do outside research to find out how public the method is, whether the content shows an easy-to-follow formatting, the amount of sources used to establish the content, and any previous earnings or proof of accuracy in the content.

How much time will you dedicate weekly to accomplish your assignments?: Realistically, time shouldn't be an issue. I spend the majority of my time on HF whether it be browsing or contributing. I am in the summer right now and only spend my time at the beach, gym, with my girlfriend, or on HF.

I would have hours daily to contribute to the group and the forum as a whole.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: Bring a positive ambience and produce nothing however smart comments to the cluster. i might wish to remedy folks in no matter areas I will facilitate with.

Possible ideas you might have to contribute to HF: I try to help people in different sections

How much time do you spend on HF weekly: I have been spending around twenty hours minimum on HF for the past few weeks. I even have been far more active than I even have been antecedently

Thanks for creating this recruitment thread and good luck to others applying.

Describe your personality: I am a energetic type of guy that enjoys dark humor. I enjoy helping others and helping others succeed. When it comes to business and money, I will be one of the most professional people you will ever talk to. I do not play with my money lightly.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: I wish to make the Hack Forums marketplace a better place for buyers. There are a lot of scam products that never get called out simply due to the fact that newly registered members are scared of the users with a lot of reputation. It's pretty intimidating.

Describe a perfect product: The perfect product would be exactly what is being advertised. If a product's advertisement claims that it will earn you $xx.xx , I expect it to earn you exactly what is being promised. That is my definition of the perfect product.

Have you ever reviewed a product before? If so, what do you think are the main things to look for when doing so?: I have never reviewed a product. If I was to review a product I would begin to make sure the product is what it's advertised as. Like I said in the question above, if the advertisement is promising something, I expect that something to be clearly described in detail. I also expect proper grammar & neatness.

How much time will you dedicate weekly to accomplish your assignments?: However time is necessary. I'm almost always on so time will never be an issue.

Time Zone(GMT): UTC/GMT +2 hours

Previous and current groups:

- Red Lions (2 years)
- Harmony (1 week)

Describe your personality:

I am a fun but also very serious person. You can have a good laugh with me but when I need to be serious about something, I will be serious. I can get mad about the stupidest things sometimes but I calm myself fairly quickly before I show this anger. I always feel like helping people along my own path. It gives me an advantage in life because it teaches me things.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF:

I have been a member of the Red Lions for 2 years, it came to a stop due to circumstances. During my time there it opened my eyes how much a member can do behind the scenes to help other people. From sending a simple PM to making a tutorial thread about how something is done. Every single thing that you do around Hackforums influences it, even the smallest things. My current objective is to help Eagle 95 keep the marketplace clean, I have been watching it with an Eagle eye for anything that is against the rules. Even though this might seem stupid, it's not. Every report we make as a member might help other members realise either what they did wrong, or it prevents members from getting hurt. In the worst case scenario I PM members before making a report so that they can adjust themselves and not get banned for what they did wrong, this so they can learn from it.

My objective for the future:

I would like to maybe work with a few user script developers on some ideas I have had. We as a group could make sure the community has the best experience they get while browsing the forum.

Besides that, if I get accepted I would like to do what I was not able to do with Red Lions because they would never let me, and that is, make it a group of honour. Make sure not only our members do right but also the community based around it. Make a name for ourselves and make sure members remember who we are.

Possible ideas you might have to contribute to HF:

- Implement a quick PM Reply feature. When you get a PM you get these nice pop-up boxes, but they generally appear when opening a thread you want to read. What if you could see the PM and reply to it on that very same page? ;) Meaning you do not have to leave the page. Yes, of course, you can read it after checking out the thread or maybe open it in a new tab, I am aware of that. But it would be more comfortable.

I would like to make some more tutorial thread regarding certain subjects, possibly with a partner so we can work together on it. Maybe Influence will bring me that partner.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly:

4+ hours daily in general, meaning around 25+ hours a week. Weekends a little bit less since I normally work or go out with the family to do fun stuff. But at least 2+ hours on the weekends.

My current time spent online is 4 Months, 2 Weeks, 4 Days, 2 Hours.

Describe your personality: I'm professional, but I can have fun when I please. I'm pretty laid back, creative, and If I set my mind to a project, I can complete it. I have diagnosed ADHD, so I switch between projects often, but sometimes I can really focus in on something and get it done.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: i'd like to help out the community, Most of my projects are malware related, so I am most active in the botnet/irc section, and the rat section. You can find me either helping another with a problem theyve encountered with a rat, a program, or a botnet. Other than that, most of my time is spent coding, and doing sales for my services.

Coding language(s) that you work with: C++, C#, VB.net, PHP, HTML, BootStrap, and Python

Experience in coding: I started coding almost 7 years ago, starting with batch files, and from there I went to C# & VB.net, then in the past 2-3 years I've been focusing more on PHP/HTML/C. PHP and web design is my favorite, but VB.net is right up there:)

How much time do you spend on HF weekly: Too much time, but realistically, 4-6 hours daily, but im on my computer atleast 6-8 hours daily.

Thank you for reading my application, hoping for the best!

Describe your personality: Arrogant but helpful. Most people can't deal with personalities like mine, but often times I end up befriending the people that push their way through obstacles just as I would do. The problem with that is most people will try to cut me off without learning why I'm so cocky in the first place. There is a method to my madness.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: I help out in the coding subforums more than anywhere else on this board. Most of the time, that involves helping the beginners who were just as ignorant as I used to be (as an attempt to better their future which I had to do for myself way back when).

Coding language(s) that you work with: C, C++

Experience in coding: Been doing this shit for over a decade and have always wanted to pursue it as a career. Currently a software development major attending university.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly: Most visits I make are quite sporadic. Maybe five to ten minutes every few hours or so. I guess nowadays maybe one to two hours total per day.

Time Zone(GMT): GMT-6

Previous and current groups: Previously was in Skill. Currently in Novus Ordo Seclorum and SheepGang

Describe your personality: My personality is an interesting one. I try to avoid conflict, I'm a nice guy and am very caring. However when someone is treating someone wrong or being an ass for no reason I don't put up with it. Like the HF Help Docs ask, how hard is it not to be an asshole? I always put others before me, even if that means I suffer. This has caused issues for me but in my opinion it's worth it if I can help people. I am an introvert, however if I get to know you I'm very social and a fun guy to hang with. I am bipolar, one minute I'll be pretty happy or relaxed, the next I will feel very sad inside. I've learned a lot in the past to be able to cope with these things however :). I also can take things harder than most people would, this is related to my mental health.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: I want to influence the HF community to not be assholes 24/7 to eachother. I know I am definitely an asshole at times but I try my best to not be. I want the HF community to stop caring about a green number or pixels so much. That doesn't show how "HQ" you are. People will know if you're HQ by your posts and good contributions to the forum. I also would like to see regular members and upgraded members get along with eachother better rather than seeing l33ts and ub3rs be jerks to nonupgraded members for no reason Possible ideas you might have to contribute to HF: I've been through so much in my life that I feel I can relate to almost anything. If I can't relate I can certainly help still. I would like to make a mental health desk in the Health Wise section. I feel that's my best thing I can contribute at the moment to the HF community. I am good with NFL sports betting. So I can help people out who want to know what to bet on with minimum risk. I am also good at gaming and could make some very HQ guides for specific games if asked. I know I don't have much, but I am learning things everyday, when I learn I will teach and guide.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly: Haven't been on as much as I normally am lately due to some important personal matters. However I usually spend a few hours a day browsing Hack Forums. Planning to get my activity back up to normal within a few days

Previous and current groups:

Far too many to really list the previous groups, notable ones are:

The Reviewers

Leader of the Titans

Leader of The Black Knights

Leader of L'appel du vide

Current groups:

Harmony

The Writers

Describe your personality:

I'm pretty much a jolly and happy character. I've been told I'm very good at articulating myself and just generally funny by friends. I just like to think of myself as someone who tries to work hard and enjoy life at the same time.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF:

The owner of an official group would be fun at some point but the market is pricey and I'm just a poor post-grad so that really is not a viable option. Otherwise, I do not really have many regrets. I have had a fun 7 years on HF with much more to come I hope and so I'm fairly satisfied with where I am. I've been apart of many groups, I've led highly successful official and non-official groups and I've had a few successful ventures in the marketplace so I'm in no position to really complain about my HF career. I'm just hoping I can make it even better.

Describe a perfect product:

Perfect is a very subjective term, but for me, a perfect product is one that works without the need for a constant intervention by the owner. A customer should be able to buy the product with basically no problems and get on with it without constant guidance. I do know we don't live in a perfect world though and having sold products before I know it is not viable to have such a perfect product where 100% of customers get on with it perfect, I can dream though.

Have you ever reviewed a product before? If so, what do you think are the main things to look for when doing so?:

I have. I was once a part of the very exciting group of the Reviewers before it was shut down and also tried to open a free review service, but it didn't have many clients; so I do understand the fundamentals of reviewing and how important it is for not only the customers but the owner. I also understand how important it is to have a non-bias outlook on the product and to review as fairly as possible, no matter who the owner of the said product is.

The two most important aspects to me when reviewing are both the quality of the product and the ease-of-use. When it comes to eBooks I also think the originality is highly important on top of the other two. If the product is not high in quality then obviously it would be hard to positively review a said product, but also, if the product is hard to use then for the average customer it would be hard to recommend the said product. In terms of eBooks there are many things to look out for but as previously said, originality is key and one problem many eBook writers seems to have. Ultimately, there are many things that people need to look out for and would be covered under the review but to me: quality, ease-of-use, and originality (for eBooks) are the key points for me.

How much time will you dedicate weekly to accomplish your assignments?:

As much time is required to complete the assignments.

Describe your personality:I could describe my personality as someone that does not need any unnecessary conflict. I get along with almost all of my peers and we always have a good time handling ourselves. Half of the days I am usually busy with work and in class studying, so i like to spend the time after a long day just talking to my friends. I love learning new things almost everyday, at least something that will make me grow as a person. I am considered hard working and always willing to help anyone that needs it.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF:I want to be included into a subsection of the group that mainly deal with people who have an high interest in coding/programming along with web development both front end and backend. I believe that almost everyone should be able to learn a small amount of coding especially the way our economy is constantly growing in demand for people who have this ability. It would be a great development for the group. Also being able to support the group in any way possible to make sure it grows in the rate it want it to be and not end up as another userbar for majority of the groups on HF.

Coding language(s) that you work with:

HTML & CSS (Markups Codes)

Javascript

Python

C++

Swift

Experience in coding:I am currently in a crash course for learning Javascript w/ HTML & CSS. I have already taken a class for C++ in school for a year that was required for me to learn and passed. I plan on using a lot of Javascript in the future, which is why I am making it my primary objective as of right now.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly: Everyday I tend to check up on Hackforums as much as possible through out the week, I only post on threads that have an interest to me.

Describe your personality:

Some things I would describe myself as:

Open-minded-I'm open to other peoples opinions and new things

Cooperative-I'm willing to work together to achieve a common goal

Genuine-I dislike fakes, let us be real

Helpful-I like helping others around me

Independent-In the end, I'm my own person and am in control of my own life.

Humorous-I like to joke around and have a good laugh

Thinker-While I like to joke around, there are times where you have to be serious and think something through. There is a time and place for everything. A time to joke around, a time to sit down and think something through.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF:

Help others out by informing others on various things, answering questions, and just spreading knowledge. We all are humans, part of the same race. Some things are meant to be kept secret and then there are other things that must be spread to inform and help others. This is why I am here. To not only learn but also to teach others what I've learned.

Possible ideas you might have to contribute to HF:

There are many things people have already done to help HF but one thing that needs endless help in is informing people on things. Data on new findings (and old alike), "How to do" things (There is something that you have or know that you can teach others on), and also by giving people the tools needed to search and discover on their own (How to navigate HF, how to search something up, etc)

How much time do you spend on HF weekly:

I am not able to spend as much time as I would like to but I usually get on HF at least a few times a day. Often times, I'll go on HF in between activities or things I have to do (It's a good filler) but at the same time, I will often go on HF before I sleep (Like how others go on Instagram or snap, I go on HF and a couple other sites). So in total, I probably spend at least an hour a day at minimum on average.

I'm a cool dude overall, I really like to talk with people and chill on discord/HF. I accept people how they are and I barely judge people by their looks, in real life and online.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: High quality posts and tutorials. I always love to help people. I have many tutorials planned but haven't had any motive to do them and I really think that this group could finally spark me up to finally finish them. So far I've hosted giveaways, posted tutorials, done free services and I've been a high quality member, which is already a big influence. I try my best to teach new members and make them learn from my/their mistakes in a humble way.

Possible ideas you might have to contribute to HF: The ones I have so far are various tutorials which topics vary from crypto-currencies to personal life. I also have interactive forum games planned HF. Contributing is a funny thing, sometimes you do not even notice that you're doing it.

Previous and current groups:

I've been in Nightmare,

Enigma, Skill, Fusion and Illuminati, mind you I was only in these groups about a week.

Right now I am in Dawn and Harmony, Harmony where I'm most active

Describe your personality:

I'm keen to learn new things and to help others as much as possible while providing the best quality I can do. While I have not contributed to the community much I wish to do so in the near future

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF:

I want to open up some inexpensive services to benefit our members, taking into mind that not everyone can pay ridiculous amounts of money for simple tasks.

Possible ideas you might have to contribute to HF:

As mentioned above I will be opening up services (Graphics, Writing, Etc.) to benefit our members, and I can do so in the group's name if you wish

How much time do you spend on HF weekly:

It really depends on how busy I am but I spend close to 10-12 hours total, as well as Discord in which I converse with our members

Previous and current groups:

Previous: I was in three different groups at same time (circa 2009-2010, and 2012). I do not remember the names of them, nor do I think they exist anymore.

Describe your personality:

I am a hardworker, and never quit. If I am lucky enough to get a job, I do my best to keep it, therefore I have a well respected job history. I love to impart wisdom upon others who seek it. (sometimes even when they don't want it, lol)

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF:

I have always wanted to participate in threads that are fun or serious and convey my thoughts humble opinions. If I see a thread title that I feel like I could impart experience or help, I am quick to do so.

Possible ideas you might have to contribute to HF:

I could definitely write tutorials, power-points, and videos in multiple sections, but limited to: hacking, coding, tech, and website development.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly:

I've been on HF a lot more lately and I think I posted over 1K times within the past two months.

Thanks. ?

Previous and current groups:

My previous groups include:

Red Lions
Revolution
Blackshades
The Order
The Brotherhood
Titans

Current groups:

Writ3rs

Describe your personality:

Through recent tests I have determined I'm a neurotic extrovert. I believe this to be quite true whilst outside of Hack Forums, as I'm quite a talkative person who likes to meet and greet new people. On the other hand, I personally think I'm quite humble most of the time and my personality probably changes when posting online. I tend to avoid confrontation and general "lounge" talk outside of a group whilst browsing, but other than that, I have a pretty positive attitude and see myself as a reflective person.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF:

I would like to think I've had a strong influence in my 7 years of being on Hack Forums. First and foremost, Omniscient has picked a handful of moderators to moderate the Testimonials forum, so sometimes people ask me for tips and the best way to write a Testimonial. For months on end, I also ran a smaller division in the Writ3rs group which were called the On-Call Team, and I essentially had a say of part of the recruitment for the Writ3rs group. Outside of groups, I've also ran multiple helpdesks, my most notable one being the MyBB Help Desk | Est. 2014 | Nasyr & Wires. To further influence Hack Forums I wish to advance in my moderator role and eventually become a Mentor. As of now, I try to assist the moderation over the rest of the forum already.

Describe a perfect product:

In my honest opinion, a perfect product is a product which does as it states prior to purchase without having to interact with the publisher. Not only does the eBook need to do as it promises, but a perfect product also relies on the publisher offering out his help, providing additional content and going above and beyond to ensure the product is meeting its expectations.

Have you ever reviewed a product before? If so, what do you think are the main things to look for when doing so?:

Not in detail and not as of recent. However, when reviewing a product I believe the reviewer should first look at how the publisher interacts with their customers and what's the publishers own experience with their own product. After that, the reviewer should look at the functionality of the product, does it do what it says it does, and then move onto the actual content (grammar, spelling etc.).

How much time will you dedicate weekly to accomplish your assignments?:

I'm approaching the last month of my academic year, however, I'm available week days in the afternoon, and the weekend all day as and when needed.

Describe your personality: I am doing my best to become a well-known as helpful guy around the community and I am trying to get into white hat world and cracking stuffs.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: I am trying to become an High quality member by helping other members new and old members and I love doing favors for people and sharing my knowledge with them.

Describe a perfect product: A prefect product should be Unique and not public or similar to other products and the description of the product should be true and not only for advertising and Increasing sales.

Have you ever reviewed a product before? If so, what do you think are the main things to look for when doing so?: No I did not Review a product before.

How much time will you dedicate weekly to accomplish your assignments?: 24 hours weekly at least.

Previous and current groups: I have been in a multitude of groups, I may miss a few. Writers, Torque, Brotherhood, Enigma, Skill, Riptide, Illuminati, Baka..a few others I think.

Describe your personality: I generally prefer light conversations filled with jokes. I'm a laid back person, and love learning about other people's cultures and interest.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: I wish to help quality members get recognized. There are a lot of good members on here that are talented and capable of contributing a lot that get overlooked because they're not upgraded or they have low rep.

Possible ideas you might have to contribute to HF: I really wanted to start a weekly upgrade giveaway. Unfortunately my money been low lately, however whenever I get spare funds I try to upgrade users. I have already upgraded a few, but I mean, it's rookie numbers. Gotta get those numbers up ?

How much time do you spend on HF weekly: Way too much time, like far too much time. Just look at my post count.

Describe your personality:

Some may say that i have somewhat of a 'douche-esque' personality however i can assure you i am quite friendly,

I tend to make long-lasting relationships and most of the members I've talked to outside of the forums i still remain friends with.

Am always the first one to help and overall am a people-person who enjoys engaging in long-winded discussions related to technology.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF:

A few HF goals i have in mind are eventually purchasing a group which would be dedicated to mentoring newer users within the Monetizing & Programming subjects.

In the past however i have mentored and lead unofficial groups/Skype groups based around monetizing and have used my influence to help others and get them earning.

Although throughout HF i'm mostly known for my e-whoring products & "hacking" related songs, I plan on releasing a series on HQ tutorials ranging from eWhoring to Business related.

Possible ideas you might have to contribute to HF:

Yes actually i have a few, Specially now with the whole API that we have to work with. I think it would be dope if someone created an HF signature based promo network.

Basically product owners can sign-up and pay x amount and see how many HF users currently are wearing the sig; Using a dynamic link the sigs would change per campaign and HF users would earn a bit.

Can go into further detail if needed, I'm surprised no one has created it yet and i would like to make this happen soon.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly: I say i would spend a combined 2-3 hours on HF, I am employed so many times it is much less.

Describe your personality: I am a very social and hard working guy, I work for my ideas. My ideology is that sticking with one great idea is far more better than wasting time for other less important and good ideas. I'm always up for helping anyone and making a profit in almost anything.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF:I am a member on HF for one complete year now, I motivate others on whatever they're trying to do, only post when it's important because I find no interest or profit increasing my post counts. I will try to increase positivity amongst members.

Possible ideas you might have to contribute to HF:I have many ideas to contribute to HF but I will present my ideas and suggestions when I am completely aware of the group moto and workings, I would love to make my influence understandable.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly: 40+ hours.

Tonight - June 24, 2017, 12:43 am

It's been awhile since I've done one of these, but here we go.

Time Zone (GMT): PST (west coast)

Previous and current groups: I've been in the majority of groups dating back from 2012 through 2015 or so before I went MIA. I've led a few groups as well (Rhythm [2013-2014] and Void [2014-2015]) and have been apart of Infamous, The Empire (old one), r00t, Logic, and Eminence notably. As for groups I'm active in now, just Consensus (I'm also in Equilibrium as a courtesy from an old friend).

Describe your personality: Self motivated and meticulous. When I do something it's about quality and nothing less.

What things did you do to influence HF: In late 2010 to 2013 or so I dominated the OG gamertag marketplace. My sticky thread from 2013 is from an account securing guide to cut down on scams. I led some groups in that era too and I'd like to think I did a good job at that as well. I worked with the HFNT for over a year during Sir's reign (lol) and then later won Member of the Month in 2014. Sometime mid 2015 I took a break from the forums but I've always been around. I'm more active today due to the new booming crypto currency market. It's hard to exactly pinpoint everything you've done for a forum you've been on for six years now. I like to think my reputation precedes me these days. I just like to help out when I can.

Possible ideas you might have to contribute to HF: I don't have any projects in mind at the moment.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly: I log onto HF at least once every 72 hours to check messages; I'm online a few hours a week.

Thanks for reading.

Trappy - June 24, 2017, 1:54 am

Previous and current groups:Consensus

Enigma

Sheepgang

The Brotherhood

Describe your personality: I am a friendly, outgoing, honest person and I always offer help (within reason) to anyone who asks for it. I have a very active social life and several hobbies. Where I live life moves very fast and I am well adjusted to producing quality work in a hurry, making things happen, and getting along quickly. I don't like to lag. Experiences in my life have shaped who I am and due to these experiences I feel I can relate to people in similar, difficult situations. I am a leader on sports teams at my school, within my friend group, and will be an academic mentor to struggling underclassman next school year.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: I love Hackforums because everyone has the opportunity to shine. In real life people are not always listened to or respected but I feel like on Hackforums you can speak and be listened to. In my short time on Hackforums I haven't done anything major, some giveaways, some tutorials, but what I am most proud of is the work I have contributed to the former Brotherhood crypto currency sector and Consensus. I truly believe our work around the forums, weekly crypto news, and responses to almost every thread in the crypto forum brought the quality up a lot and shaped up the place. I will continue to spread knowledge and help users around the forum and I strive to expand those efforts to more than just cryptos and vices, and I would love to do so for Influence.

Possible ideas you might have to contribute to HF: I have been planning in my head for possible things to do here to contribute and help out, I don't really wish to share them here but I do have ideas, most of which involve solving common problems while also assisting those with more difficult/special ones.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly: Around 24 hours a week. Sometimes I may be online and active all day and other times I will only check in every few hours.

Describe your personality: I am nice, helpful. I can help people in situations that are difficult or hard to get out of. If there is a will there is a way.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: I wish to review things so the hackforums marketplace will be new user frinedly and can help influence people to make a decision to buy things. I also would like to make connections to friends to chat with.

Describe a perfect product: A product with solid method with what the seller is describing in the sales thread.

Have you ever reviewed a product before? If so, what do you think are the main things to look for when doing so?: It needs to be whitehat if it is posted as whitehat. It needs to be greyhat is posted as greyhat and not blackhat. Another thing to look through is reputation and/or scam reports by looking up a username or uid. You need to look at quality and to make sure the seller is established in the HF community and not some random seller that joined HF, bought an upgrade and now sells trash ebooks.

How much time will you dedicate weekly to accomplish your assignments?:I will spend 1-3 days probably and even more if it is a big assignment. I have a life outside of HF I would also like to attend to.

Slimy's General Application

Time Zone: GMT

Previous and current groups: Current: Skill | Previous: Instinct, Respawn and Baka.

Describe your personality:

If I had only three words to describe my personality, it would be: Socialable, Good-humoured, and Open-minded. As an individual, these three aspects of my personality describe me well. Of course there are other aspects of my personality that I would like to include also, such as being an attentive-learner (e.g. Securing two-top grades throughout both of my ICT college courses) and more.

I'm the person who has a deep passion for Computing / Computer Science. I have devoted my last two years to further developing and broadening my ICT knowledge to be educated more in this area. I would love if I were able to share my knowledge with HackForums and Influence members. It would be a positive contribution from me to our community.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF:

I wish to contribute through sharing my ICT and Computer-Science knowledge to both the Hackforums community, and to your group - Influence. It would be very relevant as HackForums is a technology forum, and the knowledge I can provide is about this technology. Members who want to learn, and learn from me through 1:1 sessions and in-depth threads to allow them to broaden their ICT knowledge too.

Possible ideas you might have to contribute to HF:

As said, my ideas are to contribute informative ICT knowledge to all members. I have studied ICT through school with positive results and grades, and then progressed through two college courses regarding computer-science as well. I feel like I have the knowledge that maybe some other people on the forum do not. I can change this, and educate them through in-depth and high quality thread contributions.

My contributions could be under your group's name. I can add to the prestige and quality of Influence, and reflect a positive outlook for your group as my contributions will be comprehensive and of the best quality.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly:

I am currently spending around 8-12 hours a week on HackForums weekly.

Conclusion:

Thank you for reviewing my application for your group.

Palmaa - June 24, 2017, 7:39 pm

Time Zone(GMT):UTC - 6

Previous and current groups: Have not been in any groups yet but I would love to be involved with one. I have been here at HF for quite some time and never got around to applying for a group. I have been in Brotherhood and Sheepegang but nothing serious (never applied)

Describe your personality: I would have to say there are many natures to my personality.

Drive - I can work intently at whatever hold my interest and I have the drive and ambition to accomplish things out of the ordinary.

Creative - I am creative when it comes to solving issues or thinking of an idea. I try to think outside of the box.

Independence - Strongly independent, I tend not to trust many people to do things for me, prefer to achieve things on my own.

Out-going - I like to accomplish things during the process of the day (sorta ties in with drive). I am also fairly easy to get along with. Anyone that typically asks for help I help them out of kindness.

Humble - Even though listing these personality traits make me look full of myself; I am very confident but humble at the same time.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: I really wish to help members out (old or new). I could provide links or help to questions people may have, help with navigation and mostly just sharing whatever I know that is applicable to the members of HF.

Possible ideas you might have to contribute to HF: Possibly can share some methods that a noob friendly and way to do things. I could share some tutorials on cracking, marketing methods that I've found useful and other tips that would be helpful to teach.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly: I spend quite a bit of time on Hackforums weekly. Usually, I come on to manage my products but I do search around the community as well sometimes. I've started to get more active here due to the amount of time I have to kill. If I had to give a number in hours, it would be around 15.

Possible ideas you might have to contribute to HF: Possible Network and Network Security Help Desks / Support services, Software, Contests, and Updated tech news not frequently reported by main stream media.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly: Better to ask me how much time I am not on the site. lol

Thanks for the consideration guys.

Menacing - June 25, 2017, 7:30 am

Time Zone(GMT): GMT +10 (Australia, Sydney)

Previous and current groups: I was in The Brotherhood a while ago for Graphics and was also in the Riptide Group in the Graphics section as well, due to those groups both dying out and specifically in Riptide the graphics section being scarce and inactive I left. Currently I am not in any group and hopefully that is something I can change.

Describe your personality: I'm really outgoing and relaxed which possibly comes from my Australian background. I really like putting in the extra mile in anything I do to prove that I'm the best I can be at whatever it may be. Despite being outgoing and relaxed majority of the time, I also can be very competitive and sometimes a tad arrogant if I am honest, although this side of me often comes out only on the sporting field as I play soccer literally for my job and competitiveness is key in my competition and of course this sometimes translates into everyday situations, but rarely.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: Unfortunately I don't think I've given enough back to HackForums. I primarily use it for the Marketplace and forming partnerships which is in some way giving back but I know there is plenty more I can bring to the table which will assist in making the community a better place. Personally, I'd love to take my freelance graphic skills I've obtained over the past six years and teach some new designers the basics. There are always graphic sectors in groups but rarely do they do anything to really give back to the community and I want to make an effort to change this. This would include but not be limited to, thread tutorials perhaps including videos, maybe a graphics group within Influencers etc. Also anything marketplace related, I love creating partnerships and working on projects and I think groups are brilliant starting places to form such bonds!

Possible ideas you might have to contribute to HF:

As I mentioned above some include tutorials and marketplace discussions/projects. If I was to go more in-depth some examples would be:

- Photoshop Basics (Graphic Designing)
- After Effects Basics (Video Editing/Production for Youtube)
- Art Principles and Elements of Design
- How to make a substantial, elegant and professional thread design
- How to make a professional forum signature
- Marketplace Discussion Group (Within Influencers, members can find partners and propose ideas to other members)

Hopefully some of my ideas will interest you and hopefully there are plenty more tutorials and ideas to come following.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly:

I always have HackForums open as I am constantly checking the Marketplace and also just checking general threads that appear. But despite HF I also train four nights a week and play both Saturday and Sunday so I'd say a couple hours per day of just checking up every 15 minutes.

Anything extra: If you'd love to get to know me more I'm always down. I have a solid Aussie accent and love having a good yarn about whatever! So count me in to any group chats you have going! Besides that, thanks for the consideration!

Mr. Robot - June 25, 2017, 7:37 am

Time Zone(GMT):UTC+08:00

Previous and current groups: Not partaking in any groups currently but I have been in all groups except Echo since my join date including such groups as Red Lions.

Describe your personality: My personality is extreme, motivated and adhd most of the time when it comes to projects and ideas I have. I get quite carried away for short bursts of time until something is dealt with.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: I have spent many hours encouraging learning and pointing people in the right direction. Since joining I have made many friends and helped stop/catch many scammers. I am part of 2 activist groups that currently are dead/gone quiet so it's time I find something to entertain myself with.

Which domain(s) are you experienced in: Everything I have reasonable knowledge in, main experience is in physical attack vectors.

Previous work/help you've done on HF: N/A

How do you think you'll use your skills to help the group: I'll gladly share knowledge and experience with those who are willing to learn. I'm mainly doing this now via voice communication in discord with small groups each day but nobody shows a proper dedication towards reaching higher levels.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly: I spend around 8 hours a day on currently due to other commitments however it will pick back up to around 16-18 hours a day.

Friedrich Nietzsche - June 25, 2017, 8:38 am

Time Zone(GMT): Something which lacks importance, as my sleep schedule is not static and I would prefer not to disclose this due to privacy concerns.

Previous and current groups: None (except for an unofficial group for dedicated bumpers who dedicate their time to generating high quality bumps)

Describe your personality: I am:

A rationalist. I do not let my emotions get ahead of me and I work based on facts and facts only. I am not easily angered, nor am I easily discouraged when working on a project. I do not blindly trust people, nor do I blindly hate others.

A professionalist. I treat people with a professional attitude (as seen on my sales thread) and I do not neglect my customers. I enjoy conversing with a professional attitude, and I refrain from being casual when conversing unless it is with people who are close to me.

An observer. I often do not get involved in drama but rather observe it. I find the interaction between individuals in conflict to be interesting and therefore observing them is one of my hobbies, regardless of whether it is in real life or online.

A writer. I am capable of rambling and writing long paragraphs and essays with ease, and I am capable of writing detailed reviews of products easily. Some examples of my "works" can be found here, here and in many other posts on my sales thread.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: Although I am rather new to HF, having been here for under a year, I witnessed countless products (mainly malware, which I consider to be my expertise) that are created by "developers" who lack knowledge of the field, hence the quality of the product being low. Common issues such as lack of knowledge of windows internal, not being capable of knowing native languages (and therefore resorting to .NET or Java). I wish to be able to work with others to analyze products (mainly malware, sometimes I might do something else) in order to see the competence of the developer and point out whether a product is properly coded or made with haste in order to make a quick buck. I have slightly improved the marketplace with a product of mine that was developed with care, and so far I have yet to receive negative feedbacks (except for a neg from a competitor who found my honest Term of Service offensive).

Possible ideas you might have to contribute to HF: A malware review service that analyze malware products on HackForums in order to identify properly developed product and identify copy pasted half-assed products created by 8 years old.

Describe a perfect product: A perfect product (when malware is discussed) is one that is developed in a native language with small output size. It would not use any deprecated APIs and would have it's strings and information obfuscated and encrypted. It would also use reliable and interesting methods to evade defense solutions and leave minimal footprints on the system.

Have you ever reviewed a product before? If so, what do you think are the main things to look for when doing so?: I have not, however I would look for potential flaws of the product, what the developer(s) have done well, and what they have not. My review will not just be a review but also includes constructive criticism in order to help the seller in improving his product(s).

How much time will you dedicate weekly to accomplish your assignments?: 7 hours per week maximum and 2 hours per week minimum will be dedicated to completing my assignments (unless there are none) unless something is going on in real life which requires my full attention (which happens around twice per year).

Best regards

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: Honestly, a lot. First thing I would like to do is start a weekly giveaway in the name of it funded by me. I would like to help the men and women in Influence with any coding they may need or any help on any project.

Coding language(s) that you work with: HTML5, CSS3, PHP (Novice), JavaScript, Node.JS, BootStrap, and more.

Experience in coding: I love front end, and I am great at it.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly: ~20 hours/week.

Describe your personality: I am outgoing guy, I love helping people and showing people the way. I love learning and reading, and making people laugh. I have experience in a wide variety of things such as Content Creating, Coding, Trading, Gaming, and more.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: I wish to provide HQ tutorials and giveaways like I have so far, typically you can find me in the gaming area, cryptocurrency area, and the market place. These are my common stomping grounds, I love to help people whenever I can.

Describe a perfect product: A perfect product would be one that is high quality, provides a great method, that has a working and easy to understand tutorial. But more importantly great support behind the product, a prime example of this is Apple they offer a great product, pretty straight forward to use, and the support they offer has been rated the #1 for I think about 10 years straight now, which is outstanding.

Have you ever reviewed a product before? If so, what do you think are the main things to look for when doing so?:

1. How easy is it to understand the product and the products goal.
 2. How well does the user or author portray/describe how to do it
 3. Does it work, and work as well as it's advertised
 4. How is the support behind the product, can you get answers? can you get a response? etc.
- How much time will you dedicate weekly to accomplish your assignments?: As much as is needed, I have about 20+ hrs of spare time a week mostly spent trading but I can easily adjust to help out HF

Previous and current groups: None

Describe your personality: I'd like to think of myself as approachable and patient when it comes to helping other members. However I can certainly maintain seriousness when needed.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: I came here with the sole purpose of contributing to the Hacking & Pentesting sections while also absorbing new information from the plethora of great material on the forums.

Which domain(s) are you experienced in: Network Penetration Testing

Network & Web Reconnaissance

Web Vulnerability Analysis

Private Investigation / Doxing

CTF / Wargaming

Thread Designing (Unrelated to hacking.)

Previous work/help you've done on HF: Decently-sized eBook collection revolving around introductory hacking & programming to advanced penetration testing and social engineering. Free for all members.

Full HackFest 2016 CTF walkthrough.

General help around the Beginner Hacking and Pentesting sections.

How do you think you'll use your skills to help the group: I intend on helping Influence by contributing to the subforum and also representing the group elsewhere on HF. This will include tutorials, general help & free services for all members.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly: Easily around 15 hours. I usually visit HF on my phone if I'm not at home, and I frequently check for new posts at any given time.

Previous and current groups: Have not been in any groups before but I'd really like to see what it would be like and to just see what I've been missing.

Describe your personality: I'd say I'm outgoing and friendly as a person. And don't worry I'm not your typical 'sit in a basement for so long until I could get skin cancer from a holiday brochure' type of coder. I'm ambitious and am always wanting to learn new skills or to teach others new skills. I'm extremely head strong and don't need to depend on others to achieve tasks, however I am very happy to work in a team.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: This project:

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5655341> I created a free RAT called jNet but too many blackhats were interested so I had to stop the project. I would love to create extremely detailed tutorials about Android and Java coding, always wanted the sticky award :)

Coding language(s) that you work with: Java (including Android), Python, C# (a bit)

Experience in coding: Very experienced with Java (5+ years) and Android too. Python for 2+ years but don't use it as much and C# just recently but it's very similar to Java in many ways.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly: I'd say about 1-3 hours per day.

Previous and current groups:

I never bothered to apply to previous groups, because I felt as if I was quite inactive in the community, and had trouble due to moving and such. Although I've since moved into my new home, and am going to begin becoming more active within the community.

Describe your personality:

Hm, well that's a hard thing to answer. If I were to describe my personality, I would say that I am laid back most of the time, however that does not undermine me to be hardworking as well. I'm not a big fan of drama, and therefore I tend to stay away from it both in real life as well as on HF. I would say, I'm just all about having a good time.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF:

I have yet to make any large contributions to HF, however I hope to in the coming future. Mainly the help I have given is just providing technical support for users that have questions regarding website development, setting up programs, etc. I'll be donating for some more awards soon enough to contribute a little more to HF which isn't much, but hey, it's something.

In regards to any groups that I am accepted into, I will make sure I am as active as can be, and make a high quality name for each and every one.

Possible ideas you might have to contribute to HF:

Well personally, I'm down to contribute as much as I can. Not just with giveaways, but with limiting the amount of scammers, providing high quality informational threads, etc. Additionally, I will be offering free graphic requests momentarily for users to get the quality help they need without spending money.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly:

Previously, I would say I spent less than 5 hours a week on HF, although because summer has come along yet again, and I will have much more free time, I will be averaging at least 14 hours a week. More than likely more.

Previous and current groups: No group history, never applied before since college took up most of my time.

Describe your personality: I would describe myself as incredibly curious, with a passion to learn new things. I am laid back as well, but that does not undermine my significant drive of creativity. Some say I have a witty/slightly sarcastic style of humor. I like to keep things minimal, yet straight to the point.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: In the grand scheme of things, I plan on mining HF for it's creative resources and using the forum to expand my knowledge of coding, ultimately building a strong enough portfolio to work for a Big 4 company. Team based projects, site extensions, collaborations etc are all things I wish to achieve, and being part of a group of intellectuals such as Influence will allow me to complete such objectives.

Coding language(s) that you work with: HTML, CSS, Java, Python, Git. Currently learning Swift to develop iPhone applications.

Experience in coding: 3+ years experience with web design, 1 year experience with Java, Python and Git. I have worked with my university to create a Java based application for the financial aid office. if needed, I could contact them to provide proof of my work.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly: I spend 1-3 hours a day on the site, so average around 14 hours a week.

Previous and current groups: None, I've never really considered joining a group before however I now want to be apart of a group and hopefully start up some projects with people as this is what I enjoy most. Hope to work with some of you guys soon.

Describe your personality: I'm a very outgoing person, hustler, I like to stay busy and start up new projects etc (Would like to do this with other people instead of working alone as I usually would. I'm quite a sporty person as well, I tend to do private personal training with friends and family as I enjoy helping out others accomplish their goals, just as I do for myself.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: I wish to give my knowledge and expertise in the translating field and provide a quality service. I also wish to influence the commitments that I make towards a particular goal and hopefully encourage others to do the same and move forward on ideas.

Possible ideas you might have to contribute to HF: I believe that with time I can contribute to HF with my translating services and also being a friendly person within the community to assist others. My services will be free of charge to all members within the group and can complete work in a professional and timely manner.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly: I used to come on for an hour a day, but for the last couple weeks I've been delving into the community more and exploring different threads. I do plan on spending more time on the site as I've learned so much from it.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: Help with coding, learn more about coding and hopefully be part of a good community

Coding language(s) that you work with: I know:

- Python
- Ruby (Got highest points on the exam on it, haven't used it since)
- C#
- C++
- SQL (Don't know much but I can handle myself)
- HTML (If you consider this a coding language, I don't)
- CSS (If you consider this a coding language, I don't)
- PHP
- Javascript (Regular JS, nodeJS, jQuery, ajax)
- Java

Experience in coding: Alot. I study programming in Linköpings University in Sweden. I've done alot of projects and if you would like to see some just send me a PM!

How much time do you spend on HF weekly: Oh, hard to answer, I tend to spend atleast 2-3 hours per day (usually ~5-6 hours per day) so ~35 hours per week.

Hoping to get accepted!

A small update for people who want to join our Influence Review team.

At this point we no longer recruit anyone. We want to keep our numbers low to keep the corruption at low levels.

Your applications will still be taken into consideration. And when a spot will be freed you'll definitely have a chance. Also, only exceptional members will have an entry above this number(4).

I have been in Synergy, Baka, and Illuminati. I enjoyed my time in these groups while they were active. I try to be as active inside of the groups as I can. I don't like to leach either, and I'm big on contributing to other group members.

Describe your personality:

I am a very laid back guy, who doesn't like to start shit. I am very patient, and I love learning things. (Especially Hacking Related) I love teaching people as well. I have been presented opportunities to teach people how to crack accounts, and brought a few others into the world of pen testing. I am a very logical person as well. I tend to look at the facts of a situation rather than speaking out of rage or disdain.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF

I would love to become a person that people look at and think that that is how people should act towards each other. I would love to effect HF in a positive way and make this a much more productive forum. I'm hoping that with each worthwhile post I make on HF that I can hopefully rub off on other people. I have been in the community for quite a long time. I have seen the Up's and Down's, and I'm interested in doing whatever I can to make sure that this community continues to grow in size and Quality.

Which domain(s) are you experienced in:

I have taken part in a few pen testing challenges for fun, and I am currently going to school for Cyber Security. I have minimal knowledge in coding, and am proficient in web design. Diving into the Cyber Security Background, I have been going to school to get my Bachelors in Computer Science:

Cyber Security, and I'm very passionate about the Topic. Delving deeper into Computer Related topics has been my fascination since a young age. From Creating Minecraft Servers at a Young Age, to Delving into the dark web as a teenager, even to now with the interests of Making my love for the Science of Computers into a Career. That has been my life, and I truly believe that I will be a great fit within this group.

Previous work/help you've done on HF:

I have helped various members with minimal tasks. I have also helped found a Crypto Currency research group. I have co owned a few communities as well one of the major communities being Forumbull.com. (an OG marketplace). I have taken part in selling products on the marketplace, and more specifically I'm very interested in taking over projects from users on HF and Marketing them myself. I have setup my own semi successful Shopify store as well, which I no longer run anymore.

How do you think you'll use your skills to help the group:

I would love to learn from other members, and teach other members within the group what I know. There is a lot that can be learned from others who are serious about the topic. It would be very interesting to find a few members within the group to collaborate with, and join together to take on some more challenging pen testing challenges across the web. Overall I would love to share my knowledge that I have gained from my experience and education with Influence and would love the chance to grow as well from being within this awesome group.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly:

I do not know down to the minute but I spend around 42 hours browsing HF a week. I am at work and I travel quite a bit, but that allows a lot of time to browse and participate on HF. I would have a lot of time to contribute to the group if I happen to be allowed in.

Describe your personality: I am laid back and fun loving.

I'm a motivated and successful software engineer because of my ability to learn and easy going attitude.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: I am currently developing a Hackforums mobile application. This is something that many people have requested for years and I decided to take it up.

Coding language(s) that you work with: I am extremely knowledgeable in Java, C# (Xamarin, Desktop and Web Applications), PHP, JS, HTML, CSS, VB, PowerShell.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly: I'm usually online while I'm awake and constantly check the forums on my phone.

Experience in coding: I am a software engineer for a large company where I live. I have multiple years of experience in each of the languages above and have a BA in Computer Science.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly: I'm usually online while I'm awake and constantly

Describe your personality: I'd hope I'm a chill guy who you can chat with, with a lot of spare time on his hands to help anyone out.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: I wish to help users in their coding ventures to help them create better programs with better, shorter and more effective code.

Coding language(s) that you work with: Java, C#, Web Languages, Python and am currently learning C++ to start creating native applications since .NET has issues running on some machines whereas C++ runs perfectly on all machines.

Experience in coding: I've coded a decent number of tools I've sold before on other forums, I have experience all the way from basic cheats, to Minecraft hack clients, Socket applications, Network Interceptors (Pentesting tool) and a bunch more.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly: I can't say for sure, but, I've signed up to HF 12 days ago, and have spent a day online, and I don't leave it to AFK either, I've been browsing the forums most of the time, as well as posting some stuff.

Sidenote: I know I'm new, I understand if that's a reason to NOT accept me, I'll still be helping out in the appropriate sections, It'd just give the group a better name to see more of it around helping.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: I wish to improve iOS section, I hope I can help everyone that needs help, I also hope that I could be something like a tour guide for the new members and make them love the forum and post daily Possible ideas you might have to contribute to HF: I'm thinking about creating some kind of help desk for the. Newcomers because when I was a newcomer I wasn't respected that much. I'd also like to organize something like private tutoring with the things I know, and other people tutor with the things I don't know. The main goal for me that everybody has to know something new & have fun on the forum. Since I've been into drugs in the past and dealt with a lot of people in my life, I guess I can help people with some life skills. I also want to stop people from leaking out HF products. I don't know how, but we'll find a way.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly: well, this depends on my exams. If I've got exams I'll be online for an average of 5 hours, if not that's gonna be 20 hours

Time Zone(GMT): GMT +2 (Sweden)

Previous and current groups: I haven't been a member of hackforums for that long, but I would love to make my first impression here. But I wish to bring a positive energy and motivate other people to go for a higher goal.

Describe your personality: Like for real, I party a lot and I go all the way for parties, I love to take place and be in the middle of everything. I love spending money, and I love to compete with other peoples.

I provide a lot of positive energy, and have the social experience and have no problems talking with new people.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF:

I have also provided CS:GO cheats for BETA for a few people but that's shut down now, at the moment URL; <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5585408>

I wanna influence they forums in a positive way to help other people, and want people to look up to me but I mean it's a long way to get there.

Other than that I'd like to provide people with my information to let other learn further.

Which domain(s) are you experienced in: I'm experienced within blackhat (fraud, social engineering, SQL-injections, security leaks researching, dorks, websites, c#/c++/.ASP/.NET/php/html5)

I will help people in the group, and release guides for various stuff.

Previous work/help you've done on HF: I haven't really done any previous work, for or on HF, I'm about to start a VPN service, which might be able to be free for the group?

How do you think you'll use your skills to help the group: I experience within a lot of stuff, I will be a good utility for the group. Not only that I have been trough a lot of stuff (fraud, 'hacking', etc..) I'm an experienced guy and are always up for new competitions.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly: I spend a lot of time online on the computer, I'm pretty much online 5 hours+ daily, maybe more because of the summer break. I will always be online on my phone though trough wickr, etc..

My name is Jacob. Well, I'm 19 and I played the trumpet in high school marching band. I'm an active competitive gamer in the game Super Smash Bros. Melee. That is where most of my hobby time goes.

My favorite colors are purple and blue.

I'm an avid art designer. If you want to see some of my work just ask and I'll show you some.

My birthday is in the month of October on the 20th.

I'm a democrat. I believe in the choices of the nation to be decided by the people, for the people.

I have a fiancée who I plan on marrying soon when we're able to afford the ceremonies and such.

I typically take it upon myself to play leader when no one else around me wants to do so.

I work forty hours a week, but have the free time of about six hours a day to spend on my hobbies and then my two off days.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: I would like to get more people on this website interested in the creation of art by themselves and for other people. There is a very large marketplace for graphic design and I want to show people how you can make money and develop a real-world skill online.

Possible ideas you might have to contribute to HF: Weekly graphic design tutorials for people of all levels applicable. I myself am not that amazing, but I have been designing for a few years now and believe I could at least push some people in the right direction.

Describe your personality

If I were to describe myself I'd say I'm the type of person who loves to learn new skills and then pass them on to others around me.

I'm a generally happy guy who is always friendly to anybody I meet on the web, I see no need to act like a dick and compare epenis sizes.

I'm a total forum junkie in terms of development. I love making forums then junking them for something to do in my spare time.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF

I've contributed a lot within the Website Construction Section and Forums Software Section over the past few years offering support.

During my time in Archive I spent more time working on guides and tutorials, some of which are below;

Coding language(s) that you work with

Over the years I have taken college courses in Website Design and Development which have allowed me to grasp the understanding of the following languages.

I have since then went more in depth with the following languages;

HTML, CSS, PHP, Javascript, SQL, jQuery, Java, Python and Ruby.

Experience in coding

I have created many websites over the past 8 years for family, friends and clients as well as websites I have created and ran.

A number of which I've created in the past three years with the user Wires who has grown along side me in experience and understanding.

I have worked on website owned by the community a number of time which can be found further down in this thread.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly

I spend pretty much every moment I'm not at work or asleep on Hack Forums.

During the standard week I spend 4-5 hours online per day and at the weekend about 14 hours at the moment.

Birdperson - June 29, 2017, 3:13 am

Time Zone(GMT): GMT+1 (United Kingdom)

Previous and current groups: I actually haven't had any previous groups, just L33T and Ub3r.

Describe your personality: I'm a person who loves to build great relationships with people across the forum, I've to admit I am energised by challenges and problems that come my way. I'd personally say I'm a person who values other people's qualities and contributions and will let them know that but overall I'm a fun bubbly person who's very serious at times.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: At the moment I haven't done the greatest deal to influence HF, the only things I could personally say would be keep creating community threads, that have got the community involved which gets the users active and creating similar threads with other different topics for every Hack Forum user.

Possible ideas you might have to contribute to HF: Personally I'll be trying to some tutorial threads across the forums on different topics, and start creating engaging threads for everyone not just for a certain group of people on the forum.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly: I'm roughly on everyday throughout the week truly because I've easy access to the internet while I'm at work pretty much most of the day so I can personally say I'm an active user browsing across threads.

I was approved to The Writers, but unfortunately I had to decline the spot due to serious work pressures from University and I did not want to let the team down. I have recently graduated from University which has completely freed me up.

Describe your personality:

I'm a very happy person, and I would like to think I'm polite, well-spoken and helpful. I like to get involved in everything that I do; I love to teach others and share my knowledge to help others. I always put myself last and care for the people that are close to me. I think I'm funny, and good fun to be around. I'm a massive extrovert and really enjoy making new friends and getting to know more people.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF:

I try to promote users to help each other and to be kind to each other regardless of their account status. If I can answer a user's question, then I will happily provide the information that they need, or conversely, if a user has a question that I know someone else can help with, I normally send them both a PM to connect the two together. With regard to influencing HF in the future, I would love to join the Reviewing team to help reshape and clean up the current market to filter out the inadequate products that people unfortunately end up wasting their money and time on.

Describe a perfect product:

I would argue that a perfect product is one which delivers exactly what it promises to do, at a reasonable cost. As long as it's fit for purpose and it meets all of the customers' needs, and is priced fairly, then in my opinion that's perfect. For example, if a fairly priced ebook promises to generate the customer $10 a week on autopilot, and I think that is achievable, then I think that's a perfect product. The customer will not be unhappy with their purchase.

Have you ever reviewed a product before? If so, what do you think are the main things to look for when doing so?:

I was a member of the Official Reviewers whilst that group was still open, so I had the fantastic opportunity to review lots of products and ebooks here. When I review a product, the main thing I look for is if it delivers on its promises. If a user is selling an ebook that promises to make $1000 a week on autopilot, and I think that's unrealistic, then I will communicate that in my review and it would not score well. Other aspects I look for when reviewing products is the ease of use for the customer, i.e. can someone easily read the ebook or use the product without any assistance.

How much time will you dedicate weekly to accomplish your assignments?:

Now that I have graduated from University and have the ability to be much more active, I can dedicate as much time that is required to accomplish my assignments.

Thank you for the opportunity to join this fantastic group, and good luck to all that apply!

Doomheads Influence Application

Time Zone(GMT): Eastern Standard Time

Previous and current groups: None. This is my first group application I have filled out.

Describe your personality: I am very outgoing and talkative once I feel comfortable. I tend to try to always lighten the mood or crack jokes. I always help and uplift those around me because I am a firm believer in the saying "You are the sum of your closest 5 friends". I want to surround myself with successful people so that we can learn from each other and grow. If I succeed I want everyone around me to succeed as well.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: I spent alot of time in the ewhore section when I first got on HF. I helped people by giving away free picture packs as well as mentoring numerous people so they could start to make money. I even built and sold a few premium ewhore packs. I have moved away from ewhoring somewhat and now try to provide help/info in the rat and botnet sections because that is what really interests me, as well as those sections need some serious help from people that WANT TO HELP, instead of the constant flaming.

Possible ideas you might have to contribute to HF: I am working toward being more helpful and insightful in various sections of the forums. Alot of time people asking what seem to be easy or newbish questions get flamed and dont even want ask anything again. That sucks and needs to stop. We need people who can articulate a proper response for the new guys so we can help them on their quest for knowledge instead of making them feel stupid or foolish for asking something. We all started somewhere and asked questions.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly: Hours and hours. I am not sure on a specific number, but i would say at a minimum an hour at least a day.

I appreciate the opportunity to apply, and hope to get accepted so that I may help make a larger influence upon the HF community. Thanks again.

Describe your personality: I'm a pretty outgoing person. I don't really allow anything to really bother me. I try to help as many people as I can. I don't really try to start anything with people either. I like to joke a lot as well, so if you love jokes I'm your guy..

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: Well, I've been banned for the past six months but when I was active, I used to host giveaways all the time. Either helping regular members obtaining l33t or buying Ub3r for l33ts who were approved. I've also devoted a lot of my time helping members who have questions throughout the forum.

Possible ideas you might have to contribute to HF: Giveaways under the group's name. I also I thought about opening multiple help desks around the forum in different sections trying to help members who had questions about that certain subject.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly: Probably a lot more than I should but when I wasn't banned probably 6-7 hours per day. Maybe even more but it depended on a day by day basis, to be honest. Weekly it had to be more than 20 hours though.

Describe your personality: I'm overall fun and a bit of a jokester. I pride myself on helping others and have no problem shutting down those who wish to cause a problem within the community. The best times for me to be on Hackforums would have to be in the middle of the night. That's when mentally I let loose a bit and have fun with the community.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: I've helped with a computer clean up help desk, done community based giveaways, assisted users with many different issues ranging from simple signature HTTPS fix to spending 10 hours on XMPP to try and assist the repair of Hackforums. I would like to continue to pretty much do what I do now. My influence has overall been more helpful and joking than anything else within the Hackforums community.

Possible ideas you might have to contribute to HF: At this time, I do not wish to share them. You may request it via PM.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly: Too much. At least 5 or 6 hours a sitting. Totaling to about 12 hours total a day I'm on Hackforums. So overall, I'd say out of 7 days, I spend at least 3.5 on Hackforums.

Also about the warning:

Spoiler (Click to View) I was attempting to troll Eagle 95 because me and him are friends and reported one of his posts as a joke. Unfortunately, I failed to notice he was offline at the time and got hit with a 10% warning for "nonsense" by another staff member for reporting Eagle's post. Eagle also gave me a warning because I shit post and didn't realize it until after the warning. I was more or less having a conversation with someone on a thread and did a short reply "LOL. Right?". I later deleted the post.

Previous and current groups: N/a

Describe your personality: I'm generally laid back, not overly social but when someone catches my eye or interests me I'll post/talk/help.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: I have knowledge in quite a few areas. Graphics, I mainly do logo design but have done threads and what not for use on this site. I also know my way around designing forum themes. I know the ins and outs of using the tools you see on HF (RATs, http nets, and the general issues that can arise when setting them up) although it's been about 4 years since I've touched the stuff myself. I'm a gamer, and I know a little bit about malware removal. With all of that being said; those are the ways I could/would help influence HF.

Possible ideas you might have to contribute to HF: Several helpdesks could be setup that I could make or take part in. There could be some sort of giveaway whether be for HF or doing something in-house for a standout member.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly: I wasn't very active when I first signed so please don't hold that against me. Recently I've launched my graphics shop and partnered up with a member here on a different project so I'm here generally all day.

Previous and current groups: Skill, Harmony, Writ3rs, AnimeFAN! Infamous V2, Illuminati (2014), The Order.

Describe your personality: I'm a person who likes to possess skills in a variety of different subjects and matters, I enjoy learning and do a lot of self-studying in order to do so. Where possible I try to be helpful and engaging, providing information and advice to users. I'm a responsible and well-minded individual, I don't like to be lazy or idle around while others do work. I try to get involved and be as useful as possible.

What things did you do or wish to do to influence HF: I try to influence HF by having an attitude that is helpful yet not taking excuses e.g laziness or lack of will to learn/engage/be involved. I also try to help members by providing my knowledge on subjects/matters I'm aware of including Counter Strike and the items available in the game, I do this by providing members with accurate prices and information on what/how they can go about selling it at the most convenient/profitable manner. I also try to help members of the marketplace by providing them with my knowledge and understanding, such as if they are unaware of the terms of PayPal or how they should go about promoting/advertising their product or service.

Possible ideas you might have to contribute to HF: A helpdesk of some sort, where I myself others can help members. I'm knowledge (to some extent) on ICT and computing, and business. I am also open to other ideas in which I can contribute to HF.

How much time do you spend on HF weekly: I spend easily 25+ hours, I have finished with college so I have plenty of free time.
