Thread: Honest and detailed reviews.

Space• - June 22, 2017, 2:42 am

I'll review your product or service for free in exchange for the item. What benefits you from getting a professional review done? 1. An honest review and not a made up vouch that's done in 5-minutes. Not a one liner review. True facts based on what I've seen on the service. Transparency for your buyer for optimal sale enhancement. If your product is bad, I'll make sure to notice it in the review. However, if your product is good or outstanding, you'll get an amazingly detailed and lengthy review with positive opinions. I different from Mr.Review that I'll review any product or service as long as it has value worthed to review. For instance, Instagram likes do not need an excellent review. An eBook or program is more interesting to review because it's more advanced and has more features and tools than a similar service.

Your product will be reviewed on a neutral and normal based perspective. I will never choose anyone better over someone else. If I in some way accidentally leaked specific sections of your eBook, kindly PM me to remove those sections. I will not remove the whole thread at all. Just the section if you can provide sufficient proof and state why it is breaking the rules.

To clarify the situation or deal we're making I've listed some rules to ensure both parties will be treated respectfully and with care. All rules should be followed, with no exceptions. Upon agreeing to review you also agree to my rules and/or ToS. Failing to do so will only weaken your review copy.

1. Never, but actually, never a review will be deleted because you are not agreeing to the content. All reviews are final and will not be edited, deleted, or changed upon request by the seller.

2. We will deal through PM only. I don't take risks with Skype or Discord. PM only.

3. I will not take bribes or extra features for 'better' outcome of the review.

4. I try to post your review as soon as possible, but if not posted within a certain time don't worry. I've got a personal life as well.

5. I am in no way affiliated with your company. I just leave an honest review, not a promotion.

6. If in one way or another your sales get reduced because of my review, it is not my fault.

7. Dealing with me automatically makes you accept these rules. Always read them before dealing. It might influence the situation.

The main reason why choosing me could benefit you is because I provide pictures, possible video graphics, honest opinions, dedicated investment into the method or program. I can ensure it's a detailed copy review but no bullshit in it. Everything is related or connected to the item I will be reviewing. The review will be posted on a separate thread but can be posted to the main sales thread upon request.

For all the haters saying this is ripped off from Mr.Reviewer. No, I've spoken to him via Personal Message and he recommends me to start a thread. The main difference is that I accept programs and other services and not only methods and books. If you are in need of a review and I am not available you can always forward it to Mr.Reviewer. He provides High-Quality reviews as well with a neutral perspective and aspect.

From time to time I will buy methods myself and review them as well. Although I do not have a main online income stream I hope to buy some methods so I can leave reviews frequently. Keep in mind I do not publicly state when or how I will post my review. This is completely hidden away from users until I have officially posted the review.

Take advantage of this service. The service only aims to clean up the marketplace and provide meaningful, detailed and neutral reviews.

We try and aim to provide the most neutral opinion. And please try to elaborate on the Dispute part? I can not seem to follow you on that part.

Claims of a bad review, claims of getting products for free, claims of not trying the method, claims of pushing products.

All kinds of shit.

Claims of a bad review: We always state it is our personal opinion.

Claims of getting products for free: We either buy the product or request the owner for a vouch review if eligible and possible.

Claims of not trying the method: Personal opinion as well, what is defined as "trying it all"?

Claims of pushing products: I would consider vouch copies as pushing products as well.

But, I understand your point. Some people could get a bit angry when a negative review comes out. But we are prepared for that. Thanks for your feedback though. ?

1. You have to make sure you don't ask for a vouch when there isn't any, even to review. This is vouch begging.

2. To test a method, you are to read it and follow it exactly to define if it works or not. No theoretical scenarios.

3. You will be using your recognition or others recognition doing these with you to gain momentum and a sort of "unbiased" review on products which can later be turned into a product pushing force for those users who believe the threads.

1. Knew about this rule, thanks though. Either they'll come to us or we ask for a copy ONLY if stated there is one.

2. Correct, although they had no sufficient proof of us that we didn't test it (Which we always do).

3. Well, I definitely have to state that some vouches and product proof is also product pushing, providing fake proof, false claimings.

It's not the same. It's why I truly don't vouch for anything that doesn't work because the moment a product name is posted by me, I receive a lot of PMs about it. If I vouch for a product, users are taking my word for it working which is wrong and we can't abuse things like that - that's my concern.

I feel that people shouldn't take our reviews as vouches, but it's inevitable, it'll definitely happen. All we do is offer the lesser of two evils. A review by individuals like us, or a one-liner vouch that says something along the lines of "This eBook definitely has the potential to work" with little proof.

I'm ready again to provide a detailed review and my honest investment of time in the method or product.
