General Information

Legends is an official group meant for highly skilled individuals in various fields such as marketing, coding, programming, hacking and so on. The possibilities of having skills in different fields are endless, but you are expected to prove your worth for being in Legends. We expect to contribute in a positive manner towards the community as well as prove our legendary skills in front of others. Maintaining the group's legendary image is a vital role of every member within Legends. We expect all members to be high quality and willing to contribute towards the community alongside the rest of the group. Members are required to be honest marketers, and remain as high quality as possible.

By being a part of Legends, we expect our members to be active and willing to contribute. We expect our members to maintain their language. As we all know, the group's image is depicted by its members, so the members are expected to remain as high quality as possible. Marketers are expected to be honest, coders should be self-reliant and hackers should maintain their stance on their instincts and morals. Everyone is required to be honest to their customers, as we all know that customers and clients should be placed at a higher priority than potential profit. We encourage all kinds of positive contribution towards the forums.

We strive to be an inspiring group for the rest of the members on HackForums by contributing in all possible ways. Members are requested to bring forward some kind of contribution for the forums, as well as forming an image for the group itself by their actions. As the members of Legends, we should strive for keeping a high quality image of the group in all possible circumstances.

Legendary Highlights

We have made countless efforts in making Legends different than the other groups out there. We have a lot of numerous highlights including an enforced tier system, password protected subforums, and more. We intend to select permanent members to be a part of our group, and forming future plans and projects alongside them. We have provided key factors in determining the value of members to the group, and as per our criteria, a very select number of people will be finally chosen as Legends.

Legends Tier System

The tier system has been enforced since 24th March 2016. It allocates different rankings to group members - depicting their position within the group. Ranks are allotted on the basis of various decisive factors such as the leader's preferences, seniority/tenure, behavior, skills, contributions, etc. Recruits invited on a trial basis are added on Tier 3 and are given chances for themselves to prove their worth - which will determine whether they will continue forward to upper tiers or not. The private subforum 'Syndicate' will only be accessible by members in Tier 2 & above. Do be notified that the ranking does not allow superiority over anyone - and the leaders can instantly demote anyone regardless of their rankings. We will be taking decisions weekly regarding promotions, demotions, member additions and removals.

Tier 1 - Royalty

Tier 2 - Aristocracy

Tier 3 - Nobility

Group Projects

Projects are frequently planned and mapped out within the sub-forum, open to all members to participate. Every member involved gets a reasonable amount of payment/profits from the group project, once its released. We intend to keep them under the Legends banner only if the product is of high quality - and beta tested by one of our members. This involves non-group branded products also receiving an official vouch. We intend to maximize quality and customer satisfaction through these projects.

Password Protected Subforums

We have enforced password protected sub-forums within our group sub-forum. This is a unique perk of being a Legends member. The subforum password is given to all members who are in Tier 2, threads within this subforum mainly concentrate on private contributions, elevated-level discussion of group projects, and high quality threads.

Some important threads from Syndicate:

[3webs Development :]>_Administration Bypass_[/Website Hacking | Exploit | Tutorial]

[WEB-SHELLS:]>_List of compromised servers_[Weekly Updates]

[Access Granted:]>_2,000+ Administration Panels

And a lot more.....

Award Giveaways

We frequently conduct award giveaways within the subforum - with different aims (increasing activity, focusing on group projects, etc.). Members falling in the criteria for winners are evaluated and winners are determined. The prizes are sponsored by the leaders and go directly towards the winning members once selected in the form of awards. Prizes

Contributions

Last, but not the least we have placed out multiple contributions towards the site and its community in general, with the aim of assisting others in fields that we are proficient in. The current list of our active contributions has been provided below.

The Challenge:

- >Decode target URL
- >Exploit target.
- >Add your name to our page. (posted above)
- >Apply via CP with your name and link.

If you post the link or any hints in this thread you will automatically be disqualified.

We are only accepting pentesters who can complete this challenge.

Good Luck! ?

Sounds like fun, hope it's not too much harder than the last one ;)

Im High - June 24, 2017, 1:41 pm

Thanks for the opportunity! Stuck at figuring out how to add my name but I'll keep looking around ?

Ooze - June 24, 2017, 1:42 pm

Glad to see the group is re-opened

This was by far my most favourite group in all of HF

I do love the Secret SF and the Tiers

RumbleFrog - June 24, 2017, 1:44 pm

Best of luck to everyone that applies

Freakyy - June 24, 2017, 1:46 pm

Including just reverse engineering alongside it would not mean it involves everyone, and this group isn't looking for something everyone can do, it's looking for specific members to suit the group. Good luck all!

Armada - June 24, 2017, 7:51 pm

Hope to see some good applications in the process, we are working on a few other recruitment threads as well for very specific areas of expertise.

Good luck to all that apply.

Good luck to all applicants.

Not sure if this is what you guys are looking for, but accomplished as to what I think are the requirements.

Will be applying from CP as per instructions.

(nice page, BTW. Sleek)

Obviously, I'm not showing the URL.

Mate, you're supposed to hack the website and put your name in the code so everyone can see it when they visit that URL. Not inspect element and screenshot...

I'm not sure if you can do that safely without messing with their official page which they're using to host the site, which should be secure, so I'll be leaving my answer as the best answer. If the leaders tell me I'm wrong, then I'll try again, since it felt a little too easy for me as well

Then again, this is a recruitment exercise, it shouldn't be TOO hard? So this is the reasonable difficulty I guess, I dunno. Don't want to be jailed for hacking.

Dude, they own the website. They have already proven ownership of it by hosting the challenge in the /challenge/ directory? Inspecting element is not what they were looking for and you can obviously hack the page without affecting the rest of the website.

That is a funny argument. So a Legends member owns a Online shop selling Irish clothing and band instruments? Interesting. ?

So far we have had 2 applications, seems few people have managed to decode the URL (not exactly hard). But I don't see anyone's names on the page as of yet.... ?

A screen shot is nice. But I am pretty damn sure m0bile wants to see the actual page edited. Anyone can photoshop or inspect element to make a screen shot.

In the event these 2 applicants tried to fake their way in to the group they can consider themselves permanently denied membership in the future.

I most certainly did not try to fake my way into the group, I literally thought that was the solution! Lol! I was just following the instructions on the page, to put my name there. Guess I'm wrong! Honest mistake!

So m0bile wants people to hack into his online shop? Really?

I'm not quite sure how to do that, then. It will involve uploading stuff onto his site with his credentials, I think, at the very least. Not a fan.

I'm going to wait until other people manage to do it, and prove that it's possible, first.

Maybe give me some effort marks :p

All denied!

In order to fully complete this challenge, you'll need to gain administration access, and in order to add your name to our page you'll have to shell the site to access the challenge directory. But how?

Pretty much figured that was going to be the outcome when I looked at the applications. Oh well, Ce la vie.

Hopefully we can find at least a few good pen testers kicking around here.

I am not sure if you are simply incompetent or trolling.

How else are we going to know someone is capable of doing what they claim to unless they can demonstrate it to us?

It's as simple as mObile already explained it. It is not exactly an instructional booklet designed for creating a rocket. It's a simple pen test challenge.

Add your name to that specific page HTML, ON THE SERVER.

How much more clear can he honestly be? ?

hopeforme - June 25, 2017, 11:51 am

Perhaps I am incompetent then ??

I didn't test out the website, but it is only after you guys pointed it out did I realise that the website is fake... not a real shop but actually made for legends to hack into ?

I have no clue how to gain admin access to the site even after trying a bunch of stuff for a couple of hours. I'm giving up. I will stay tuned though, hopefully you guys will release the solution, so that plebs like us can learn a thing or two!

After hours of googling and trying different things, All I could get to was the URL and I think one or two vulnerabilities and got no where lol. Anyways, learned a lot and would like to see a solution if possible:)

Thanks and good luck to everyone.

Seeing a lot of hints towards password attacks (it's already been said in this thread, so don't worry) and a lack of valid exploits when gaining access to the site.

Did you ever stop to consider if the group is looking for people who don't give a shit and aren't afraid to illegally hack a site (and ideally those who can recognise the legitimacy of a site)? Not everyone on here acts according to your conceited, self-righteous views.

edit: And do you really think anyone who posts someone else's site as a challenge cares enough to develop an environment like that? Obviously you have 0 development experience (and presumably didn't complete the challenge if you don't understand how the site actually works). It would take significantly longer than 30 minutes to complete, especially considering mobile handled the challenge himself.

No, I didn't unfortunately as this is a clearnet site and should be treated as such.

Illegally accessing a site with active buyers is even worse. There were multiple purchases in there from people with their addresses and everything.

"0 development experience"

It takes less than 5 minutes to buy a domain, point it at a $5 vps with opencart setup.
Set the password as admin@123 and you're done.

Grow up and learn how to internet.

You're telling me you saw there were active customers and didn't realise it was a legitimate site? Or did you just go back and check? Doesn't accessing a site illegally contradict your ethical-elitist persona?

And on a clear-net site? What the fuck? Who gives a shit? There's fraud and crime riddled throughout this community. I understand your ethical dilemma (no matter how stuck-up and obnoxious you are) but there's no way you're this fucking retarded.

Why do you need to design a site to look like that for a test? It was presumed someone from the group owned it. It could have been cloned or other but through contacting the actual owner, it was discovered it was not.

Now how would you feel if people were openly abusing your site/service? Or you just don't care.

Also through opencart yes, I believe I could set up a site very similar with products + prices and payment as well as a domain and hosting in under 30 minutes.

If you are going to run challenges to get into a group which literally does nothing but look for google dorks then yeah, i'd assume the group would setup a challenge firstly by encrypting the URL to filter out the really idiotic users right at the start.

Quality? No.

Quantity? Yes.

Also yeah the threads in the Legends subforum are what? Let me try remember.

Mobiles Shell.

Copies of this thread and the other pentesting challenges.

A fake google partners thing Mobile claims to have found first. Code

<https://www.google.com/partners/Mr.%20Robot%20Hacked%20Google>

And a couple sql challenges (and more google dorks)

I just left the group like 5 minutes ago for the third time.

Dunno if you're trolling or just sticking up for the group as it's probably the only one that wants you.

If the group simply displayed they did not own the site, I would have stayed in it and contributed quality material. Deceiving potential people on this forum into accessing the website while it's openly being exploited puts them at risk.

Shame.

damn dude, what a loss. you're right, I'm wrong. please come back to the group.

Spoiler \(Click to View\)I mean thank god we didnt make it clear enough we didnt own the site, dodged a bullet there. And oh, mobile's already posted about your "quality material". Let me guess, you would market for us? Post EXCLUSIVE crypto investment tips? What a loss.

Not only that but his "shell" is simply thrown together using multiple other free shells.

He probably spends half his life on exploit-db while using wpscan.

Clearly you find mobile at least a bit respectable, considering the offer you approached him with. ?

I have a feeling the only reason you left is because you were offended by the mild flame that happened 3 months ago.

Seems like you guys really have it stuck in your heads that you're hackers.

I see how it is, my mistake for assuming you were.

Also when I approached him, it was after he ignored me 5 times on his thread to request the shell as he knew I would call him out for the copy paste bullshit in it. Claiming it's his or "Legends".

Now once being back in the group, I finally took a look at it. LOL

You encouraged illegal activity through competition without stating otherwise and for that, you put others at risk.

Hello, Welcome to Hack forums.

btw remember this pm you sent me Mr. hypocrite?

Ok, I've checked these sites you sent me for any kind of "bug bounty" and found nothing. So you offered me "a job" $200 a site to not pentest = check for vulnerabilities but to "hack" them without the owners consent. If you take a look at the domains, notice how all of them are related to a school or university? There's no logical reason to hack these sites other then to get staff/teacher or student information. ???

So are you not putting me at risk by not telling me that I do not have permission to pentest I mean hack these domains for you? ?

GTFO!
