Those with jobs that allow them to watch and trade crypto during the day are lucky, because there was some great red today I missed out on.

Still some good red to be had even though market is back up 8+billion already, so buy buy buy! Litecoin is under 40, Factom under 25, Ionomi under 4, Sia under 0.016, and so on. Appears all were even lower earlier, but these are still quick flips for buy low sell high opportunities.

I need to start setting buy orders, I'm missing too much.

You think people don't buy during working hours? So according to you prices should go up after 5 pm (since people buy)?
