Holy shit dude this is some really nice work.

Denzarou - June 28, 2017, 6:35 pm

Looks nice, but it seems like the work is all over the place. Sometimes you posted white and black logos only, then a black and white logo, then logos with mockups, etc.

That's just my opinion though.

Just changing it up a little. Not really sticking to a theme just posting up work. ?

Ah I see. Well in that case it looks pretty sweet.

There are people like @Renevence said that follow a strict pattern on Instagram, either black or white. But to be honest I find that a boring way of advertising your work. "We get it you vape lol" kind of vibe.

He goes with a bit of a bold approach and I dig it. Showcases the steps into making the logo as well. Props for a diverse gallery.

I did actually start my account just posting black and white but I wanted to show a much wider range and not to be stuck down to a theme.

Some detailed, some simple, some both.

I love it.
