Thread: TokenCard \(TKN\) - Time to buy.

Discoli - June 29, 2017, 8:10 am

Hello everyone.

I've stumbled across a coin called TokenCard.

<https://coinmarketcap.com/assets/tokencard/>

They had a very successful ICO and are a brand new coin therefore I think now is the prime time to invest.

As of now they don't have public cards, meaning it is the best time to invest, once they release their debit cards to everyone the price will defiantly rise higher.

This is also a coin therefore with such a successful ICO you can't go wrong, in a few months time I'm expecting it to be anywhere from 5-10$.

Anyway, I'm just another HF member, you shouldn't listen to me, but do consider the points.

Happy Trading ?

For a month straight this coin was stable at this price range. Give it by fall it will be up $2-3

Sold mine for Air ico

It's way too 'stable'

Sorry but this looks pretty useless to me. Why would people even use it when they can just regularly change Altcoins--> BTC--> Bank balance in a matter of minutes at a great rate, usually 5-10% more than current btc value. I'd rather stick to that instead of paying 1% fee for each transaction. Dont get me wrong, I see this is more convenient but it's just not worth it for me.

But it wasn't even tradable then, it has only recently become usable.

I think it'll rise, but we'll see.
