Thread: my snapchat got hacked

Alvaro_avalos - June 29, 2017, 6:02 pm

so my snapchat got hacked they changed the phone number verification and everything and they hacked multiple accounts of mine i need to know how to recover those accounts even if it be by hacking and possibly find this person i just need these accounts back they were able to get past the phone number verification even with the correct password you need it i have suspicions of who it may be but i need something more like an adrees i have extremely personal pictures saved on to snapchat and even things like my social security so i really need to fix this??

Yeah these types of companies have a support team to help you recover your account. Don't know why you store your social security # online, unless you're retarded and lying.
But give their support a call/email they'll help you.
