Thread: My buddy's short-film.

Rishabh - July 2, 2017, 7:58 am

So my best friend huffed and puffed his way to direction and has embarked on this journey.

After a year's struggle, he has finally managed to release his first short film. Do check it out below. And let us know how it is.

Appreciate your valuable feedback.

Nice film! I didn't watch it entirely, but as far I've seen, for a short-film with low budget it's well realised :D It's well cut, vene if it's too fast sometimes, a better camera view could be great too, but good performance!

Thank you so much! Yeah, camera was bit of a problem in some of the shots.

He is preparing his second story already. ?

I totally agree with Cleancarrot that a better camera view could be great but overall I loved it, good job bro.

Cool first story, I also agree in his second one camera work should be improved.

Yeah. I guess the BG score could have been a bit better.

I really liked it man! It actually inspired me to go back and finish an old script for a short film that I was working on.

Awesome! Good luck with it :)

I swear we had to push this guy all the time to make this film happen. But have to agree it was his brainchild altogether. Just needed some belief to be pushed.
