Thread: Pantsu.sx | Anime Forum, Custom Userbars, Community Oriented, Giveaways

SkullCandy - July 3, 2017, 10:07 am

Okay so this is an anime forum that I've been working on with several members of the HF community like Yui-Senpai and +Cloud. All the user bars were done by xitoxic, the awards were done by cyam and everything else was either done by +Cloud or myself.

It's extremely community based, it's all about how we want to interact with each other, what you want to share. There is a free manga giveaway for the member of the month, there is a raffle for expensive items like a Nintendo Switch, the profits go to the charity Aid for Japan. We are having a proper lewd artist draw up a mascot, and we have a comic artist who will draw our mascot in different scenarios we decide as a forum. We will develop her together, starting with her name. We have sweet custom userbars, custom awards, MAL integration and so much more.

Despite the fact it hasn't officially launched until now, many people have already signed up as we have been designing it and I am happy to bring it to you now! There is a bug-report sub in the announcements page and an introductions page so introduce yourself and please help us make the site better!

Well actually the forum has been active for over 3 weeks now - also the user base is growing everyday. You also bumped the thread so that number will only grow thanks to you :)

The anime forum itself tackles a few niches, one of which is the lewd anime stuff; users can post whatever nsfw content they like in relation to anime, even nsfw cosplayers which is a new thing we have added. But it also has regular discussions, awesome and constant giveaways, a sweet community and a lot of personalisation. We bring users MAL and integrate them into the site to win them awards and display their watchings, we also have many custom themes for users to choose from like Cowboy Bebop, Highschool DxD, Fairy Tail, Tokyo Ghoul, Overlord and more :) We are adding loads more every day!

Yeah well, that doesn't seem to be an issue now. You said you'll give it a week but well it's been around for 3, you can say 5 days, 1 week more or whatever but we will still be here. Like I said we are getting new users every day, and people are staying active. Our discord has over 500 people in it and that keeps people discussing posts on the forum and activity high all around.

You're starting to sound dumber and dumber by the second; if you gave it a more realistic timeframe then maybe you'd be right, idk what it will be in a year - I hope it is still something, maybe something popular, but who knows. All I know is right now it's active and nice, and in a week that isn't going to change because in the 3 weeks since it's launch its only gotten more popular.

I lowered it based on your attitude and how you treated my critique on your site. Now you're calling me dumb, that will make it last longer for sure. You must come out as a beacon of hope for your shitty weaboo userbase.

You didn't have a critique on my site, you just said it was going to fail in a week; without knowing that it had been up and running for 3 weeks. Which is why I called you dumb, because your one main point was refuted before you even clicked post.

Having a week left is ridiculous; saying you're dumb isn't going to make my site last. It doesn't stop the fact that you are and you're just a troll on this site; and by the way you talk about "shitty weaboo"s, you obviously have no interest in anime so you can't even properly evaluate the site in its entirety. You wouldn't know its unique aspects because you don't know anime. Therefore you really have no say on the matter in all sense of it; I mean currently you are talking down forums on a forum, not only that but a forum that makes up a lot of the user base on my site as well.
