Thread: Instagram User Requests

Josh* - July 4, 2017, 5:02 am

My partner (Verdict) and I are currently doing Instagram username requests. Verdict's old service thread can be seen here. We will be opening this service again.

All requests will cost a minimum of $1500 and payment options are PayPal (Family & Friends) or Bitcoin. The exact price will depend on the username.

Please note that none of these usernames will be hacked or stolen from an active owner. The username you request must be inactive/deleted/disabled in order for this to work. These usernames are not obtained through methods. Please do not message me if you don't have funds ready.

Payment must be paid upfront and you must provide us with fresh account for the username to be transferred to. You'll receive a full refund if we are unsuccessful or you can request another username.

Most requests will only take a few hours to complete.

Contact me through PMs to request a username or if you have any enquiries.

Well you made yourself look extremely guilty, if I was being accused of something I didn't do then I would stay and address it instead of hiding for 3 months.

My guy clearly you need back story. Once upon a time on a forum only accessible by the elite and anyone with an internet connection a young man named junior decided he wanted to sign up and start making money, slowly but surely the new user was buying and reselling usernames in hopes of striking it big one day. After many hard fought battles and sleepless nights he began to make the desired salary one makes doing said pixel selling. Junior was at the top for a long time buying, selling, middlemaning, masturbating, doing everything that he could to keep the grind going. Then it happened one fateful winter afternoon. Junior came home from his mothers and noticed a private message asking him to middlelan a large deal. The deal totaled around $7000 united states of america dollars. He was jumping with joy as he knew these kind of deals really got his blood pumping. He replied back with a sure id be more than happy to do this. A few minutes later the three individuals were in a chat together via Kik messenger and getting ready to do the deal. All the private messages that needed to be sent had been and all the money had been gathered, it was go time. Passwords were changing left and right, fingernails being chewed off from the nerves of such a deal, everything looked good, not a worry in sight. But, this story doesnt have a happy ending.
Junior had secured the instagram and had done everything he needed to, as he was waiting for the momey to be sent he heard a footstep behind him, as he turned around, Darkness. He awoke startled and dazed as he seemed to be missing every article of clothing he had been previously wearing, he had no idea where he was or what had happened. It took the young entrepreneur 3 months to finally get back to his homeland and find his lost cellular phone with the online accounts on it.

If only the price was way lower then i would be interested. Mostly all of the good ones are taken. None of the @'s your paying for now are worth $1,500 or else you'll be seeing a lot of ppl purchasing your services. If your willing to drop your price at $800 than hmu.

I was literally told one price, then when i came to verdict with the money he said not enough.

Hoping we can still work this out

I thought me and him were cool

Exact price depends on the username and the mood of verdict

Read the fine print
