FYI I think you can only use these on the specific Web Host, and if that host ever stops their license then your license will get revoked as well

Sounds too good to be true.

This is absolutely correct, you can read more about that here:

https://docs.whmcs.com/Licensing#2._You_obtain_your_license_from_your_web_host @OP This guy DOES NOT work for WHMCS. Remove that from your OP. He's giving out web host licenses. They are not through WHMCS and if that web host ever goes down / stops paying the bill, then these licenses are revoked.

Well, fuck

Thanks for the clear up man.

Mind asking how exactly is this restricted license?

In the end as long as the guy pays his bills the license stays valid?

Been waiting to get a reason to signup there. Thanks for sharing this, it'll be super useful.

EDIT: Didn't see it was a webhost license. It's still cool, though.

That is correct.

Think of him as giving you reseller hosting.

I dont think he runs any hosting site. He just discovered the old HostGator method. OP should close this thread. WHMCS will terminate your license if you host the script outside of one of HostGator's servers (the approved IPs atleast).

Couldn't tell if it was his or if he just advertises for it off site.

But yeah, 2nd part of your post is right.
