Free testing crypts!

Hello everyone! I am providing free crypts only for L33t/Ub3r/3p1c members! I am working on my new personal crypter and I want to see how the stubs are going to hold up. If stubs get detected a lot, I will try to reUD them often.

Specs and features: Support .NET and native files

Stub written in AutoIT with no dependencies

Around 760kb size (with icon!) when UPX compressed

Crypter client in C#, communicates thru TOR network. Connects to backend and does its job etc... I may release this client for later testing.

4 injection methods (.NET 2.0/4.0 , dllhost, svchost)

Delay

Startup

Anti Sandbxie

Fake Message on start

Delete ZoneID

HKCU Startup

Change Icon

Compatible with most RATs/Bots. If u have question, ask below.

Terms of use: I WILL NOT crypt financial fraud tools (banking trojans) or ransomware. I may take a look at your sample to make sure..

NO scanning on virustotal or any scan sites who distribute sample

This service is free and temporary only. I can close this any time

I may refuse to crypt your file :p

Your account must be upgraded to L33t/Ub3r/3p1c

Pls note that im giving this for free so everything may not be perfect. Iam still working on it ?

Hello!

Can you send me download link? I want test your crypter

First of all why would you even want to code the stub in something like autoit? Yes i get autoit is easy to refud but the stub size will output 1mb easy even with compression.

I also have experience with C# or even VB6, but decided to go with AutoIT this time. I could have made something in C++ but my skill in it isnt on point(yet!) AutoIt has many things I like about it. UPX is fairly good way to reduce the output. I think for basic stuff it gets the job done perfectly. If your initial payload is big, the output will also be big (most likely with every crypter).

I just dont use .NET malware in general and im getting 740kb outputs with this just fine (after compression).
