it specifically says no refunds on their site. If there was an actual physical problem with no solution then im sure youd get a refund but they dont just ban you for nothing.

they asked me uninstall my AVs if i want it to work i did and then i did many things just to let it work but that cheat was so buggy and crashes a lot on win10-64bit, eventually they told me to format my pc and install win7 (can you imagine) otherwise its my fault! lol

i kept PMing the staff they don't respond when i said you are scammers i got banned

i have used the cheat and received it used it no problems at all, this is a problem with people paying for cs go cheats with no return policy they may not work on that clients computer

Never heard anything bad from interwebz users besides the fact its kinda eh in general. No offense but sounds like you had some problems with it and are taking it out on the sellers.

Send me a message when you reach 25 posts. The CS section is an extremely sensitive one, full of suicidal teenagers that have never worked in their life but have already figured life already.
