Thread: Fuck me in my stupid cunt.

?onderland - July 18, 2017, 3:28 am

It is literally taking me 5+ minutes to load threads on HF at the moment because I just moved across country and the ISP has yet to visit my house so I am using 4GLTE and... They could use this as a torture method i am telling you. Stuff loads JUST ENOUGH to get me intrigued then is like na fam you gonna wait 15 more minutes. FML I can't even load speedtest.net at all to see how fast it is or I would tell you guys.

Tohka - July 18, 2017, 3:29 am

Why not use HF on your phone unless you already are. Last time my internet got cut off I had to use LTE hotspot and it was pretty solid watching 480p but after reaching the limit rip.

snappari2 - July 18, 2017, 3:30 am haha man that sucks, I agree they should start using this as a torture method.

Try using Australian internet. It's worse than that every single day.

Yeah I was for I needed to visit some sites besides HF as well. I have unlimited Data from T-Mobile but it's ass. I can't load 144p videos even right now.

I may have exaggerated but Australia is notorious for its terrible net. I am lucky enough to be on the National Broadband Network which is our newest infrastructure but I am wireless. Not to mention this multi-billion dollar upgrade is still slower than most net in the States.

Oh man it's seriously amazing compared to what I had. I can even load multiple tabs at once now without lag! :o

And 100% about the downloads man, XB1 updates used to fucking take forever, now they're a couple minutes max.

Lmfao I wish. If dial-up was that fast I'd have probably never learned how to code when I was a kid. While waiting for stuff to load, I would pass the time by practicing coding in Delphi. I am a pro software engineer IRL - if dialup was 1mbps I would be in a very different place in my life probably.

Listen here, young one. dialup was capped at 56kbps and you couldn't even use it if someone was on the telephone at the same time

Well shit, I was young when dial up was a thing. I used it a good few times but don't remember it.

Your mobile provider is terrible if 4g is that slow, I'm using 3G on my cheap phone and every website i've tried loads fine. it only gets slow when trying to stream video, streaming music at 320kbps is fine
