So today I switched one of my ranked niche sites in google to OGads

<https://imgur.com/gallery/DcYdL>

Not converting that well on first day as most of traffic is desktop and other half is mobile

But let's see how it converts this week, got a pin submit today (motivation to stay)

If anyone has any questions about seo you can freely pm me

Nebo - July 19, 2017, 10:42 am

So basically you just ranked websites with backlinks, social signals and whatnot on Google?

Also, do you use Google Search Console?

OGads has terrible desktop offers, I suggest sending purely mobile traffic to OGads lockers and redirecting desktop to other networks, that would help you get most out of your traffic :D

Won't your site get penalized for that?

matteomatt - July 19, 2017, 3:55 pm

Making that 8$ isn't bad for OGAds, but you could definitely optimize it or try different offers / networks for desktop.

Isidar - July 20, 2017, 5:48 am

(Jul 19, 2017 10:45 AM)? Mr. Burnham ? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Won't your site get penalized for that? You can use. Usually a manual penalty for "Thin content" which under that is a wide number of reasons. Happens often with cpa sites. One of my main ones got that penalty after a year, worth it though. Say you spend $1k on SEO, you can usually depending on your keyword research make around $10k as a minimum before your site gets a penalty, that's if it even does get a penalty.

I taught myself by building links and seeing what works and what doesn't

Then you'll feel confident in ranking anything

I don't invest anymore as I did that and wanted a lot of money buying random shit when I didn't know much about seo

Current status is diff as I redirected my domain to a rocketr link to see the outcome, I'll post status later

This is only one site of many as I wanted to post in here for once

Nice earnings bro, keep it going !

I have a question for you because you seem to know a lot about SEO.

I have already a .com domain site(old about 3 months) with 4posts (1k+ words) but it's nothing related to the game hacks.

As I don't update it anymore, what do you think it's better : To start writing posts about hacks/generator on that .com domain or to register a brand new .com/.net domain ? Thanks

I'd say start a completely new site which will only be game hack related

If you try to rank on the off topic site rankings could be bad

If the old domain name is hack related then I'd stay on it and rank

Newer sites take longer to rank than older sites I will say

If you're going the SEO route like me I'd make as much sites as you can and rank them all ?

They rent offers, this gives you lower pay out than you'd get on other networks.

Net7 is easily achievable on other networks; in-fact, I don't think I've found a network that it is difficult to get Net7 on so far if you are good at CPA lol

What else you think that they got above other networks?

Yes I've constantly heard all the rumors about cpabuild

You are just making it very long and boring :/

As far as I know there are requirements for net 7, net 15 but I never said they have anything over any networks

When I Joined cpabuild I was automatically on weekly payments

I use them for the easy build landing pages as well as content lockers and nice payouts

Even if they do rent their offers, every offer I've had is more than any lead I've had while on Ogads

I'll let you know if I need more research on cpabuild since you know so much but quoting exactly what everyone else is saying with no proof?

They do rent offers and I'm someone who enjoys CPABuild. Go to the offers page and if you click through some you'll see them go through AdworkMedia for example. It isn't for every single offer though as some offers pay exactly the same as others, it's true that they use other networks for offers, false to say that all of them are rented(or if they are, then they aren't all being shaved).

They rent offers.

People have stated they got scammed by CPABuild.

So why would you pick a network with bad reputation?

OGAds and AWM are nice. Easy NET7. Reliable and quick support.

The only bad thing is renting offers, its reputation isn't horrible.

Quote:OGAds and AWM are nice. Easy NET7. Reliable and quick support.

CPABuild is automatically net7, but if you earn decently that won't be an issue on any network, only good for those that don't earn much(~$1/day).

A lot of people agree on CPABuild being plain bad, renting offers and along with a few posts that I saw, mainly CPABuild denying a payout, I somehow can't feel good about them.

Also they tried to steal public LPs and without any permission integrated them into their content locker generators.

Unprofessional, new and bad-reputation versus a network like AWM which has been around for ages, has good support and good offers that they don't rent from CPABuild. Only reason why you might like CPABuild is their flashy website and design, other than that I seriously don't see a reason for you to defend them so much.

I don't care about their web design, I don't think they're the best network but I hate if bad things are said in general with no evidence. Yes they do rent offers and that's a fact I can agree with as I've seen it myself. I don't use CPABuild, but I like how they make it easy for people to create LPs and Content Lockers and while experts say it isn't good to do that, it gives most a starting ground because there will always be lazy people who don't want to invest in making websites or learn how to make one.

That one guy who did his own leads, that was a funny read.

Not sure how reliable they are in saying that, I mean if they randomly ban people, a lot more people would be complaining. I wouldn't call it credible but that's my opinion. I'll also say though that their support does suck as it's only one person handling it and a lot of people complain about getting no response.

Maybe you bought an expired domain and it was used before and still has the old anchor text

If it's a link in your anchor text it's fine

But google search picks up anything on your site as keywords or searches by and clicked in google

And anchor text is whatever backlink you put with test of niche

Hey there. :) I have a question... You said you specialize in ranking CPA sites for game hacks? How do you manage not to get removed by Google? A while ago, I made a pretty good website for the Clash of Clans hack niche. It looked better than all of them, had great content too, yet after 1 year, I cannot even find it on Google anymore. I even did several SEO audits and the results were very good, I fixed everything to be top-notch. I even manually created a few Web 2.0 backlinks that were never indexed and ranked... I'd message you but for some reason I cannot for a while. :(

So basically you just copy and pasted someone else reply that I already answered ?

Lol why

I can't get backlinks to show up for the life of me. I've tried everything but they don't appear on Ahrefs even after months have gone by

Do you put your links through an indexer to index faster?

Or maybe someone is deleting your backlinks from their site after you've posted them

I Advise using an indexed to speed up the process

Also to post on high quality sites that will index for you faster

So today I switched one of my ranked niche sites in google to OGads

<https://imgur.com/gallery/DcYdL>

Not converting that well on first day as most of traffic is desktop and other half is mobile

But let's see how it converts this week, got a pin submit today (motivation to stay)

If anyone has any questions about seo you can freely pm me

Can I PM you?

Are seo blackhat niches working on google now?

Andrew2k18 - November 3, 2018, 7:34 pm

I recommend only using OGads for mobile traffic.

Rayner - November 4, 2018, 5:03 pm

OGads is better for mobile traffic.

Like I said -- I'm not selling anything. A little bit of research will show you how to get that done. It's a blackhat way of advertising. You can PM me if you need any help.

Lol this guy is a fraud scammer who can't rank for shit.
He used to sell SEO services and didn't even manage to move sites up by 1 position, trash.

LMAOOOO i'm broke?
Coming from the sad fuck who has to scam petty cash to feed himself.

Let's face it you're a pathetic poor scamming loser with literally ZERO skills or talents.
