However F1 has a clear direction for this group, and they appear to be here to stay. If you fit the requirements and image they're looking for they're worth joining. This group will make an impact on HF, guaranteed.

Please note as you do need voted in by 4/5 leaders you will instantly lose my vote if you do not provide some proof or backing to your claims of being a "digital marketer, social media expert, SEO guru, etc" I assume this stands true for the other 4 leaders as well.

If you do not receive 4/5 votes we will further discuss applicants whom receive 3/5 with neither a gaurantee to be accept or denied.

Good luck to all.

This is my little example. If you are a bitcoin trader, as I am, include a link to your page where you conduct business.

Mine is : <https://localbitcoins.com/accounts/profile/Kollenda10/>

On my LBTC page it has a link back to my HF profile for proof.

Sorry boss. Misread that, holding my baby, trying to do a couple things at once. I am sure you can PM a leader with questions like that, if your company does not have a website, that is essentially my company, and I do have a site I can link to. We prefer if you provide some sort of proof. If you make claims but don't have a way to back them up, you'd make it harder for yourself.

Yin Yang - July 26, 2017, 6:58 pm

I just applied as well, man

(Jul 26, 2017 01:21 PM)Undefined Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Do we have to provide proof of company ownership and simple experience in those fields?

For example if I owned Hackforums.net I could email you from Admin@HackForums.net

If you run a social media page you can follow/unffollow/message from that account

If you run an amazon store you can provide proof of that

If you own a brick and mortar store you can do a number of things; as simply as your business card or email from your company address/site

There is nothing strict but if we feel it's fake you'll be denied.

edit:

In short if you make a claim be able to back it up.

Another thing we look at is your post history on HF. If you claim you're a great salesperson but don't have any proof, and in addition have 0 posts in the marketplace, you can expect to be denied. Same thing if you claim to be a crypto currency expert but only have 10 posts in the crypto sections... c'mon.
