Need to figure out how to bypass security questions.

I'm connected to a VPN where the person would be and I also entered a pass which I am pretty sure was correct but security questions are a bitch. Anyone know any good way to bypass them or any workaround?

Not familiar with all the microsoft security, I'm pretty good with gmail. Do you know the person or any of the previous security questions? When I used gmail before I would change the phone number and recovery email and would get in that way but idk because the ip of the vpn are marked in their database, so for security use the questions.

Use a private RDP or a private proxy
