Thread: Erase saved messages snapchat Help

Stupidkitty - July 25, 2017, 5:43 pm

I need help in erasing saved messages by the other user on snapchat messaging.
You cant block them because they can still access the chat.
Any advice? Im willing to do anything

I don't think that you can do much unless you have someone get into the account and delete the messages.

Are you trying to erase them from your side?

Or erase them from the other person's side?

I think he means that someone pinned messaged that he sent to people, maybe they screenshotted too.

They saved messages and pictures. I doubt they were screen shot but I'd still like them gone permanently. Still struggling with this issue. Maybe I'm better off trying to get the account deleted

I believe that if you remove them, the chat gets erased after a while. Atleast that's what happened when i removed someone.

Not true.

Either block them because then after a hour or two they won't be able to read the chat at all, thus saved messages cannot be viewed or get them to unsave them.

Or delete your SC account if that's an option.

Oh, i'm sorry, they were deleted by some spooky magic then.

Removing them did it on my part, blocking them might do it on theirs, as you suggested.

there's nothing you can do afaik, unless you somehow have access to their account

Stupidkitty - August 3, 2017, 4:58 pm

That's my new plan sadly

And no blocking them will not erase saved messages by the other person nor will erasing your account

Deleting your SC will not remove messages and/or community stories (as a few of my friends found out the hard way - it ended up with them getting expelled from a school)

Just suck it up I guess.... Not much you can do without access to the other person's snapchat account.
