Official Recruitment

[Video: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=fIDt8TC6Fok>]

The Hack Forums Wiki Team is looking for able and creative Journalists and Flaggers to research and write regarding specific information with adherence and coherence to certain criteria.

This recruitment will be open for a limited time.

Now is the time to apply to be a Writer/Journalist/Flagger for the Hack Forums Wiki Team!

It is recommended to Private Message Viral Dragon, Nuworld, or illuminati? with any questions or concerns about recruitment or the Wiki itself.

Recruitment Information:1) The first stage is where an applicant submits his application in this thread.

2) The second stage is where the applicant is in consideration, and said applicant will be notified by PM.

3) The third stage is where an applicant's vocabulary and grammar skills are put to the test. This stage will be conducted by myself and/or one of my Hack Forums editors from my team.

As much as we try to give everyone carte blanche in their duties, being a Journalist/Flagger has its own rules and stipulations. The essentials are:

Knowing how to draw, understand and act according to the borderline of seriousness and having fun.

Having a sense of professionalism when writing an article, especially from a third person's point of view.

Knowing how to adjust an article's foundation at critical moments (objective to subjective [and vice versa], etc)

Knowing the basics of writing an article.

Members who do not receive a PM from Nuworld, illuminati?, and/or from a Wiki Editor in 48 hours are automatically assumed to fail in a certain stage and thus fail in passing the recruitment. This only applies to applicants who have passed stage 1 and are expecting a reply from Nuworld, illuminati?, or Wiki Editor when they are in stage 2/3.

If you are accepted, you will be put on two week probation. Meaning failure to complete your assignments on time, or break any of our rules, you'll be removed indefinitely.

Recruitment Requirements:

We do not have a lot of requirements.

Having Gauth enabled is a must. No exceptions.
You must have 0% warnings on your account.

Application Format:

Code [b][color=#FFFFFF]How many hours can you dedicate to your task at hand throughout the whole week? Describe where possible:[/color][b]

Good luck to everyone who is applying. The wiki is being taken care of by a great community.

MoZyDz - July 29, 2017, 12:04 pm

How many hours can you dedicate to your task at hand throughout the whole week? Describe where possible: per week i can dedicate 5 hours a day means 35h in total

When it comes to writing in the English language, what is one strength and weakness you typically see throughout your writing?: strength: can assimilate and translate from 3 other languages.
weakness: getting too literal

Have you ever written for another team/group/purpose? If yes, please state who the group in interest is: no, no group on HF, in real life as a freelancer with Metropol, a magazine in the country im living in

Do you have a platform on where you can write large paragraphs comfortably?:yes i do, wich if i can be honnest is my preference

Are you comfortable with doing the research required for writing the article yourself?:i wouldnt have it another way, its better so i can get a good grasp on my subject

Do you see yourself going inactive anytime soon?:no, i don't

Please put some time into your applications for this is not some random group on HF. This is the Writers.

Narrate - July 29, 2017, 6:08 pm

How many hours can you dedicate to your task at hand throughout the whole week? Describe where possible:

As many hours as it takes to complete. I'm open everyday until classes start, then I'm open throughout most the week. If you truly wish to see my schedule, I can supply on demand.

When it comes to writing in the English language, what is one strength and weakness you typically see throughout your writing?:

I honestly don't see any. I've taken more English classes than I would like, including Honors English, AP English, and AP Composition.

Have you ever written for another team/group/purpose? If yes, please state who the group in interest is:

Yes. I spent some time in the Writ3rs a few years ago, before I left due to time constraints.

Do you have a platform on where you can write large paragraphs comfortably?:

Yes. As I said, I've taken a massive amount of English classes, so a basic writing program is needed.

Are you comfortable with doing the research required for writing the article yourself?:

Yes. The last time I was actually supplied with any information used for writing, was when I was a freshmen in high school. So I'm used to finding information for topics and research.

Do you see yourself going inactive anytime soon?:

In the coming months, as my classes start back up at the end of next month. Although I don't find that relevant to this, as those only take up a few days of the week.

As I said if you wish for a exact schedule, let me know.

Trappy - July 29, 2017, 8:15 pm

How many hours can you dedicate to your task at hand throughout the whole week? Describe where possible: It depends by week, once school starts up I won't be as active as I am now but I am willing to dedicate as much time as needed for my assignments.

When it comes to writing in the English language, what is one strength and weakness you typically see throughout your writing?: My flaws are far more in structure than in grammar. Sometimes I continue sentences too long, run ons are generally my only problem. However, I believe that my writing flow through sentences and paragraphs is exceptional, I've attended private school and taken honors classes throughout my entire schooling career to perfect that.

Have you ever written for another team/group/purpose? If yes, please state who the group in interest is: My writing credentials are so far only through school work, I can provide examples of some of my papers if you'd like.

Do you have a platform on where you can write large paragraphs comfortably?: Yes, I use Google Docs for all my writing assignments.

Are you comfortable with doing the research required for writing the article yourself?: Yes I am. I love doing research and compiling data and information into articles.

Do you see yourself going inactive anytime soon?: No.

No need to apply again.

Steve - July 29, 2017, 10:00 pm

How many hours can you dedicate to your task at hand throughout the whole week? Describe where possible:

Average 2 hours per day. Sometimes more, but should not be less than total of 14 hours per week.

When it comes to writing in the English language, what is one strength and weakness you typically see throughout your writing?:

English is my native language and I have experience writing through the college level. I feel as if I have a high standard of communicating my writing topics thoroughly and effectively, while concise. I am no Shakespeare, but I don't feel as if I have any notable 'weaknesses'.

Have you ever written for another team/group/purpose? If yes, please state who the group in interest is:

N/A

Do you have a platform on where you can write large paragraphs comfortably?:

Yes, I would use Google Docs.

Are you comfortable with doing the research required for writing the article yourself?:

Yes.

Do you see yourself going inactive anytime soon?:

No.

Phizo - July 30, 2017, 7:16 pm

How many hours can you dedicate to your task at hand throughout the whole week? Describe where possible:

I'm on HF every day, and I can allocate a minimum of perhaps five hours a day on average. As I have just completed a university degree, I have much more time to spare for the next ~6 months, as I'm on holidays. Holidays aside, I'm often on HF daily.

When it comes to writing in the English language, what is one strength and weakness you typically see throughout your writing?:

I would like to think my writing is exceptional. I put a lot of effort into my writing no matter where I am, whether it be posting on forums or simply conversing over IM. My posts strongly reflect this. So, I'm personally unable to uncover any faults I may have. Of course, I'm always happy to receive positive criticism.

Have you ever written for another team/group/purpose? If yes, please state who the group in interest is:

No. I haven't.

Do you have a platform on where you can write large paragraphs comfortably?:
Yes.

Are you comfortable with doing the research required for writing the article yourself?:
Absolutely.

Do you see yourself going inactive anytime soon?:
Seeing as I have been around since the beginning of 2009, no. I'm sure I will be around for the long run.

Chief - July 30, 2017, 7:24 pm

How many hours can you dedicate to your task at hand throughout the whole week? Describe where possible:

- I can dedicate around 1-4 hours a day depending on my work and school schedules.

When it comes to writing in the English language, what is one strength and weakness you typically see throughout your writing?:

- I tend to take pride in my writing skills and while I may have the occasional error or two I am quick to fix them. I enjoy having proper grammar on and off site. The occasional troll post might not be properly formatted but other post are! As Steve has said I am open to criticism about this subject!

Have you ever written for another team/group/purpose? If yes, please state who the group in interest is:

- I have not.

Do you have a platform on where you can write large paragraphs comfortably?:
- Yes, I do!

Are you comfortable with doing the research required for writing the article yourself?:
- Completely comfortable researching the articles. I'd much rather do that than be told what to write.

Do you see yourself going inactive anytime soon?:
- Negative ghost rider.

Stashyy - July 30, 2017, 7:33 pm

How many hours can you dedicate to your task at hand throughout the whole week? Describe where possible:

I would say around 6 hours a day. Depending if my store gets too busy or not.

When it comes to writing in the English language, what is one strength and weakness you typically see throughout your writing?:

I have some grammar mistakes but it's minor.

Have you ever written for another team/group/purpose? If yes, please state who the group in interest is:

I made some reviews about TV shows for my friend's website.

Do you have a platform on where you can write large paragraphs comfortably?:

Yes, I actually do. Google Docs would be my preferred site.

Are you comfortable with doing the research required for writing the article yourself?:

Yes, I am. If I am tasked to research about a certain thing I'll try to do my best and complete it.

Do you see yourself going inactive anytime soon?:

No not at the moment. Don't see myself taking a break anytime at all really.

Disparity - July 31, 2017, 7:53 am

How many hours can you dedicate to your task at hand throughout the whole week? Describe where possible: Approximately 10 hours per week.

When it comes to writing in the English language, what is one strength and weakness you typically see throughout your writing?: When I am seriously writing (as I will be if I am accepted) I use good grammar and a diverse vocabulary. At times I struggle with how I want to word something to convey my thoughts, so I guess I'd say that's my main weakness.

Have you ever written for another team/group/purpose? If yes, please state who the group in interest is: N/A

Do you have a platform on where you can write large paragraphs comfortably?: I do.

Are you comfortable with doing the research required for writing the article yourself?: As long as I know exactly what I'm writing on and my exact goal with what I'm writing this shouldn't be an issue.

Do you see yourself going inactive anytime soon?: I do not. I will be away in November, but I'll have my laptop with me so I can still write if necessary.

DOG - August 1, 2017, 8:29 pm

How many hours can you dedicate to your task at hand throughout the whole week? Describe where possible: I could apply well over 12 hours a week if necessary. The hours would be spread out over a relatively decent amount of time per week; this is dependent on the particular day as my schedule tends to change day by day.

When it comes to writing in the English language, what is one strength and weakness you typically see throughout your writing?: The primary strength whilst writing in the English language would likely be the use of sturdy vocabulary without being superfluous. As a weakness I would likely note that I speak two other languages as well and sometimes take a bit longer in preparing my responses and pieces of writing as English is not my first language.

Have you ever written for another team/group/purpose? If yes, please state who the group in interest is: I have written for my high school newspaper (Not in English) as well as some collegiate articles for the newspaper.

Do you have a platform on where you can write large paragraphs comfortably?: Yes, I tend to use Microsoft Word; although, if the team would prefer using Google Docs. that would work as well.

Are you comfortable with doing the research required for writing the article yourself?: I take quite an interest in researching the topics for the article myself. I would prefer to educate myself and comprehend the concepts myself as it allows for a more smooth process of writing. Additionally, there are particular interpretations that are required in order to fully encompass the entirety of the article in the responsive piece.

Do you see yourself going inactive anytime soon?: No, I have joined the forum quite recently and have been extremely active. Realistically speaking, I plan on gaining approval for group ownership of a group which will be bought upon said approval.

Don diablo is pretty lit though. top 10 forsure

Fortunate - August 2, 2017, 3:38 am

How many hours can you dedicate to your task at hand throughout the whole week? Describe where possible: 1+ hours a day on weekdays, 3+ hours on the weekends.

When it comes to writing in the English language, what is one strength and weakness you typically see throughout your writing?: Sometimes my head gets stuck and I repeat my self. But grammar wise I really forgot how to use commas time to time. Event though English is not my native tongue I still think that I write with really good grammar.

Have you ever written for another team/group/purpose? If yes, please state who the group in interest is: I've been in Writ3rs twice. The first time I was in the group I requested a kick since I was going to be busy with work. Now last time when I was added I got kicked because there was an activity check that day I joined and I didn't notice it. I never really knew why until I asked Nuworld. So, I obviously have experience as being a writer/journalist over all and I'd like to come back.

Do you have a platform on where you can write large paragraphs comfortably?: Yes, I also love doing work outside with my new laptop. It will bring more activity definitely.

Are you comfortable with doing the research required for writing the article yourself?: Of course, with no doubt. That's the best part in my opinion. I also love interviewing.

Do you see yourself going inactive anytime soon?: Not really at all, maybe like 6 months when I have finals once again.

My Application

How many hours can you dedicate to your task at hand throughout the whole week? Describe where possible:

During a normal week, I can dedicate 21 hours a week to my assigned tasks. (3 hours daily.) I'm online on Hack Forums for most of my day and when I'm not actively browsing, I usually have it open. I have a lot of free time and can dedicate a relatively large amount of my time to my potential future tasks.

When it comes to writing in the English language, what is one strength and weakness you typically see throughout your writing?:

I have a lot of strengths when it comes to writing because I'm currently taking an AP Language course, however, one clear strength is my Vocabulary. I have a decently wide vocabulary and my "wording style" is unique, as in, I keep most of it professional but add hints of casualty as well. One of my weakness' is Proofreading my work. I usually catch some errors in my writing, however, sometimes a couple of errors slip through because when I read my work I think it's "perfect." Although that isn't the case at all, ? therefore I usually get another person to proofread it for me. Proofreading is important and I'm actively working on being better at it.

Have you ever written for another team/group/purpose? If yes, please state who the group in interest is:

I've written for my school Newspaper for 6 months as a part of a team.
Other than that I used to run my own personal blog 2 years ago, however, that has since been shutdown.

Do you have a platform on where you can write large paragraphs comfortably?:

Yes, I typically write on my Laptop because of it's portability, however, I also have a Computer at my disposal.

Are you comfortable with doing the research required for writing the article yourself?:

Yes I can handle researching topics as I'm accustom to doing large amounts of research for papers.

I usually get my research done fairly quickly. Rest assured that I triple check all my sources before I write anything.

Do you see yourself going inactive anytime soon?:

No, in fact I see myself becoming more active.

Thank you for taking the time to read my application. Best of luck to everyone that applies.

Charm ? - August 6, 2017, 4:13 am

How many hours can you dedicate to your task at hand throughout the whole week? Describe where possible: I can dedicate an average of 14 hours per week or more. I am finding myself with too much time on my hands, during summer and during school I'm free for a large amount of time in the evening.

When it comes to writing in the English language, what is one strength and weakness you typically see throughout your writing?: In the English language one strength that I see in myself is proper punctuation. On the internet this is a great skill to have and it really makes the difference in how my text turns out. One weakness is that I make habits out of typing words or structuring sentences wrong. This is a skill I can get around using spell checking software, or double checking my work.

Have you ever written for another team/group/purpose? If yes, please state who the group in interest is: No, I have not. This is my first time applying to write for a group.

Do you have a platform on where you can write large paragraphs comfortably?: I'm on my phone now, however, I like to write on my PC. On my PC I like to write in a Pastebin or in Microsoft word. This is because not only is there spell checking software, either is private, and easily is accessible and disposable.

Are you comfortable with doing the research required for writing the article yourself?: Yes. I can see myself doing research and writing paragraphs based on what I have found using evidence and even citing to support my claims and statements.

Do you see yourself going inactive anytime soon?: No. I recently got Ub3r. I have a lot of stuff I want to work on for Hack Forums and I'm just getting started.

test - August 8, 2017, 2:08 am

How many hours can you dedicate to your task at hand throughout the whole week? Describe where possible: As many hours as needed. While I do work full time, a majority of my free time consists of browsing HackForums while watching Twitch streams and YouTube videos and as such I can easily dedicate that time to writing articles as required to meet deadlines or targets.

When it comes to writing in the English language, what is one strength and weakness you typically see throughout your writing?: I would like to say my spelling and vocabulary are just some of my main strengths. I have always been quite good at articulating myself and describing situations in great detail through the use of my extensive vocabulary. On the other hand one weakness I might sometimes notice in my writing is my grammar, in particular, my use of punctuation marks. Sometimes I may put them in wrong spots or even put them in when completely unneeded.

Have you ever written for another team/group/purpose? If yes, please state who the group in interest is: My only previous experience with writing was during school. I always loved and excelled in creative writing for English. I did recently write a review of a game I played which can be found [\[Here\]](#). The review was all written in my own words within a time frame of about thirty minutes. Hopefully that can be an extremely small display of my capabilities.

Do you have a platform on where you can write large paragraphs comfortably?: Absolutely. I have all the resources and capabilities needed for producing well presented bodies of text.

Are you comfortable with doing the research required for writing the article yourself?: Sure, it's part of the job and responsibility.

Do you see yourself going inactive anytime soon?: Simply put - No. I may need to take a period of absence as I leave for the Defence Force hopefully within the next 6 months for Basic Military but after or during that time frame I have no plans to quit or leave HackForums.

I understand there is a requirement of 0% warning level which I currently don't meet. This application is simply for later considering if you are still in need of applicants. Thank you.

How many hours can you dedicate to your task at hand throughout the whole week? Describe where possible:

~30 minutes weekdays & 1h+ during the weekend

When it comes to writing in the English language, what is one strength and weakness you typically see throughout your writing?:

My strength would probably be my vocabulary. I need to improve my positioning of commas and dashes, as I often confuse people when putting a "-" instead of a ","

Have you ever written for another team/group/purpose? If yes, please state who the group in interest is:

Nope!

Do you have a platform on where you can write large paragraphs comfortably?:

Not at the moment due to my Macbook being repaired, but I can write in pretty much any environment, I prefer Word or Libre Office.

Are you comfortable with doing the research required for writing the article yourself?:

Yes.

Do you see yourself going inactive anytime soon?:
No.

Still looking for two more.

GloryToBe - August 25, 2017, 6:12 pm

How many hours can you dedicate to your task at hand throughout the whole week? Describe where possible:

I could dedicate approximately 2 hours a day at hand throughout the whole week. I usually spend a lot of time on HF so I could dedicate even more time than the usual 2 hours a day if needed.

When it comes to writing in the English language, what is one strength and weakness you typically see throughout your writing?:

One strength would be having limited grammatical errors. When typing up a large paragraph, I usually double check for any grammatical errors and make sure to fix and learn from previous mistakes. This becomes quite easy for me long term. One weakness would be formatting, I usually have to spend more time than usual making sure my paragraphs are formatted correctly but when my writing is formatted correctly, I get a sense of accomplishment as I know that it appeals to others.

Have you ever written for another team/group/purpose? If yes, please state who the group in interest is:

Nope, the groups I am in do not involve writing large paragraphs. An exception would be consensus, I have selected the option on their recruitment to be able to write weekly news letters for the group but currently, there is someone else in place.

Do you have a platform on where you can write large paragraphs comfortably?:
Yes, I currently use MS Word to write assignments.

Are you comfortable with doing the research required for writing the article yourself?:
Of course, I find doing research enjoyable as I'm learning new things and get to inform others of information that I have encountered and elaborated upon.

Do you see yourself going inactive anytime soon?:
Nope, I recently came back from a vacation so I am now fully available to do tasks at hand.

Cagey - August 28, 2017, 2:45 pm

How many hours can you dedicate to your task at hand throughout the whole week? Describe where possible: Completely depends on the importance of the task. I have college courses two days of the week. That being said I can give a reasonable amount of time towards a task.

When it comes to writing in the English language, what is one strength and weakness you typically see throughout your writing?: I believe my biggest flaw would have to be I can go on and on. When I go on and on I tend to make run on sentences but, if it's important I make sure to proof read and perfect my grammar.

Have you ever written for another team/group/purpose? If yes, please state who the group in interest is: I've written about many research papers about websites and I wrote a small ebook on the life after death. I'd have to find it if needed. I would also like to add I write a lot of papers for other college students for money in my college.

Do you have a platform on where you can write large paragraphs comfortably?: I personally enjoy Microsoft Word and Google Docs when it comes to writing.

Are you comfortable with doing the research required for writing the article yourself?: I research quite a lot already in my free time already better educate myself.

Do you see yourself going inactive anytime soon?: No, I try to get on every day.

How many hours can you dedicate to your task at hand throughout the whole week? Describe where possible:

Realistically I can dedicated how ever many hours is required, but essentially I write articles all the time so it wouldn't be too complicated to adjust the criteria to fit the HF writers needs; 5Hours~

When it comes to writing in the English language, what is one strength and weakness you typically see throughout your writing?:

A strength would be my holistic analysis and adopting relevant sects of knowledge into something that has a shared value.

A weakness is definitely my tangent ramblind - but is easily counted with the endgoal is clear cut and I'm not just trying to get things out of my head and onto paper.

Have you ever written for another team/group/purpose? If yes, please state who the group in interest is:

No.

Do you have a platform on where you can write large paragraphs comfortably?:

Yes sir.

Are you comfortable with doing the research required for writing the article yourself?:

In all honesty I wouldn't have it any other way, I like to make my own assertions and own reasoning behind my claims; rather than relying on someone else's probably misguidance evidence.

Do you see yourself going inactive anytime soon?:

Not necessarily, I have and always will be a lurker on these forums but can remain active when it fits.

If you need some example of prior work please feel free to PM me.

P.S; to triangles(killumanity) I know u hate me but lets be friends. :D

How many hours can you dedicate to your task at hand throughout the whole week? Describe where possible:

I spend about 5-7 hours per day on Hack Forums. I run my own business from home, meaning that I have plenty of free time to do other things such as browse the forums or work on other projects when needed.

When it comes to writing in the English language, what is one strength and weakness you typically see throughout your writing?:

I would say that my strength is my ability to be concise rather than needlessly adding filler. Having a purpose to everything I write is the main reason I enjoy it so much. I'm able to add filler whenever I need to, but I obviously prefer to keep things down to a few paragraphs full of relevant information.

My weakness is my lack of rereading what I have written before publishing an article. This mainly comes down to not having an editor and everything I have written about in the past was time sensitive.

Have you ever written for another team/group/purpose? If yes, please state who the group in interest is:

One of my businesses consists of running and writing articles for an entertainment blog with a couple million annual visitors. I'm not sure if this is what you meant, but i'm willing to share the link with a leader in a private message.

Do you have a platform on where you can write large paragraphs comfortably?:

Yes. I have grown accustomed to using both the "Pages" application on macOS and Google Docs.

Are you comfortable with doing the research required for writing the article yourself?:

Of course. That's half the fun.

Do you see yourself going inactive anytime soon?:

I can't predict what i'll be doing six months down the road, but no. I don't see myself going inactive any time within the near future.

How many hours can you dedicate to your task at hand throughout the whole week? Describe where possible:

Seeing that I now have my schedule situated, I could average around 3 hours daily, totaling no less than 20 hours per week.

When it comes to writing in the English language, what is one strength and weakness you typically see throughout your writing?:

Despite English being my native language, I do struggle with proper punctuation from time to time. Regarding strengths, I am able to conduct a form of writing which is not only interesting to read, but also very easy to understand as well. Not that my writing style is simple, rather I make my point easily visible.

Have you ever written for another team/group/purpose? If yes, please state who the group in interest is:

Yes, several opportunities have emerged that I've been grateful to take advantage of. As seen here, I will be conducting a year-long research project focusing on gene expression and development. This scholarship is nationwide, meaning that I will present the entirety of my written and research work in front of a populous totaling ~600 attendants.

As we speak, I am also developing an application and outline for NASA, who has a newfound partnership with my institution.

Do you have a platform on where you can write large paragraphs comfortably?:

For years I have used Microsoft Word, but since I have been involved with numerous study groups within the past month or so, my familiarity with Google Docs has increased significantly.

Are you comfortable with doing the research required for writing the article yourself?:

Most definitely, but if need be, I am also more than willing to work with a partner or even groups.

Do you see yourself going inactive anytime soon?:

Absolutely not

I'm going through applications tonight and will be sending out Pm's also tonight.

Good luck to all that applied

Lets see some more applications.

Squa - September 17, 2017, 9:36 pm

Very nice, I am excited to apply in the morning.

How many hours can you dedicate to your task at hand throughout the whole week? Describe where possible:

About nine hours a week, assuming all nine hours were needed.

I would be able to dedicate about one hour a day on week days (Monday through Friday)

Plus an hour a day on the weekends (Two hours on Saturday and Sunday)

When it comes to writing in the English language, what is one strength and weakness you typically see throughout your writing?:

My strength is my ability to really push out some quality work in a short period of time. The one weakness I have is my attention span, but I can easily focus in with some music and quality content.

Have you ever written for another team/group/purpose? If yes, please state who the group in interest is:

Well back in the day when I played Minecraft servers I made a business of everything which means I of course wrote the fanciest threads to promote whatever I was doing. Then moving on to my more mature years I started actual businesses which I had to write everything you could think of, from promotional text, to terms of service, it was all me. I also wrote rules for forums places and small communities that I worked for or started on my own.

Do you have a platform on where you can write large paragraphs comfortably?:

Yes. Depending on the situation I am comfortable using Word, or Google Docs.

Are you comfortable with doing the research required for writing the article yourself?:

Yes, this is something very common in highschool, and something I often times enjoy doing because I get to learn something new and share that knowledge with others.

Do you see yourself going inactive anytime soon?:

Nope. My available time may change here or there depending on the week at hand, but no foreseeable patches of inactivity in the near future.

Thanks for considering my application, I hope to hear back from you soon. :-)

Nuworld - September 26, 2017, 9:24 pm

looking for a few more applications.

Now is the time to get them in.

How many hours can you dedicate to your task at hand throughout the whole week? Describe where possible:

On a daily basis, I'm on Hack Forums around 4/5 hours a day average creating 35 hours of my time allowing to work on my task at hand throughout the hours. The hours could be split on any new project or article that I have to publish to the members in a certain timescale and be worked on well enough to satisfy members on the quality of the piece.

When it comes to writing in the English language, what is one strength and weakness you typically see throughout your writing?:

When writing in the English language, I always find myself easy to understand a lot of vocabulary, and I believe I'm good at the English grammar especially attention to detail. Ever since I was young I always had difficulty with the pronunciation of words, this created a lot of trouble with confidence but I always managed to bounce back with techniques I learnt during growing up.

Have you ever written for another team/group/purpose? If yes, please state who the group in interest is:

I'm currently a joint leader for 'General Helpers' in Influence, even though I haven't written anything large for the group (yet). I believe good English language is needed to overcome and help people's problems to help and describe their solutions for them in a sufficient way.

Do you have a platform on where you can write large paragraphs comfortably?:

Not necessarily, there will always be platforms I know more comfortable than others e.g. Word, Google Docs. But I always manage to overcome something new, by researching and studying I tend to easily grasp things as I'm a quick learner allowing me enough time to write large paragraphs on platforms comfortably.

Are you comfortable with doing the research required for writing the article yourself?:

As stated above I always research and study on necessary information that is required to strengthen something I am doing or need help on. With the time I uphold, research will be easily given enough time.

Do you see yourself going inactive anytime soon?:

Not as I am aware of, I would only see myself going inactive if something dramatic happened in my life. I tend to try to get my average hours on a daily basis but my hours may change slightly if I'm busy or on vacation slightly.

Thank you for taking your time reading my application, and I hope to hear some feedback soon.

How many hours can you dedicate to your task at hand throughout the whole week? Describe where possible:

As of right now, I do not have a job. I'm online most of my day (8+ hours, 2 hours at the gym). I have so much time to dedicate into this, because if I'm honest, I'm pretty bored at my PC most of the time, needing things to work on. I think this would be perfect for me. I love to type, I love to write. Call me a nerd, but most of my time in school I would enjoy writing essay's and what not because it puts my grammar and punctuation to the test, which is one of the most important aspects in life. So, choosing me, would give you a person that currently has no life and spends a lot of time looking for something to do, which could be your most dedicated aspect.

When it comes to writing in the English language, what is one strength and weakness you typically see throughout your writing?:

One strength I have probably my spelling/punctuation. I rarely ever make mistakes on where commas should be, as well as never really making a mistake in my spelling. Granted, there is google to help you spell everything, but these 2 things have always been a gold point for me. As far as a weakness, maybe proof-reading? I tend to view things a thousand times before I post them, but sometimes I might miss a thing or two. It's rare but... it's the only thing I can really think of as a weakness. Writing is generally my strong point in life. (Next to the gym ?)

Have you ever written for another team/group/purpose? If yes, please state who the group in interest is:

I wrote a weekly newsletter in a gaming community, specifically stating everything that's happened that week within the community, as far as promotions, bans, important events, clan meetings, member changes, rule changes, etc. Sort of like the HF news.

Do you have a platform on where you can write large paragraphs comfortably?:

Yes.

Here are two typing tests (both 60 seconds) done on two different websites:

As you can see, my passion for writing has grown into a very fast typing speed.

Are you comfortable with doing the research required for writing the article yourself?:

Absolutely. I don't believe in plagerism.

Do you see yourself going inactive anytime soon?:

No. I love this forum tremendously.

Side Information:

I know I'm new to this forum, and not the most reputable, and not the biggest post count, but I really hope you can look past this and really give me a chance to prove my worth. I can tell you confidently, I'm worth the risk of putting me on trial to be on the team. I can show you my consistent dedication day in and day out. Believe me, you won't see anymore more dedicated to this then me. Thanks for taking the time to read my application, and I hope you give me the chance to prove myself. If you have any questions, feel free to PM me.
