3. I negged the guy yesterday for a nonsense post.

Then he got mad and posted a false deal dispute.

Fortunate - July 28, 2017, 3:54 am

I just put this on the thread:

(Jul 28, 2017 03:41 AM)Fortunate Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Posting deal disputes without no proof saying that you will post proof later makes no sense.

Just make the deal dispute thread when you have the proof, no need for drama threads like these.

EDIT: Seems like you stated in your previous thread that you couldn't post your fully ready deal dispute because you don't have positive reputation. Now though you just post an empty deal dispute?

Looks like he's just trying to draw attention.

The guy is clearly posting fake reports just contact a staff member instead of cross posting you are going to end up getting a warning level.

Already did.

Got a reply stating "You got it all wrong".

Don't want to bother other staff members since they don't get involved in DD's.

I can't give you much advise as you could have scammed this guy but if you are telling the truth I would message another staff member and explain everything.

Explain how is it invalid. I'm not calling you a scammer, I'm warning people that you got shady and looked like you was trying to avoid me getting a MM so you can log into the account. The DD is valid. Shut the fuck up Sebastian.

I can vouch for this guy being a troll

I left him a neg because he was being an ass on his posts

<https://i.imgur.com/5mR5gZr.png>

he send me this message

<https://i.imgur.com/l9z7qgt.png>

and notice I replied at

"Today, 08:48 AM"

then he makes that post on my sales thread

<https://i.imgur.com/vHbE4pa.png>

and now his reply to my reply to his PM

<https://i.imgur.com/fief8hg.png>

Zemoden's Trust Scan

<https://i.imgur.com/iDFwTTr.png>

his account his 4 days old and he already changed his country?

People have too much time on their hands to make fake reports
