Thread: Disco. \(MULTI\) - Possible attempt to scam - UID = 3137264

Zemoden - July 28, 2017, 7:23 am

User = Disco.

UID = 3137264

Before I start this, the user is also a Multi:

Deal was a Soctop account with 520k points. The images speak for themselves. User was trying to avoid MM and wanted to log into the account to "check it". Said I'll go first and then he got real excited and it looked sketchy so I offered to pay the fee for a middleman. When I ignored him because it got shady, he kept telling me to send the account info over for him to check so it speaks for itself. Not a scam report but just a warning.

User then negged with "dwc" after blocking me when I found his full information.

Simple as this, if he avoids a MM don't deal and move on...

@OP, any confirmation that it's actually him not an imposter or anything?

Only that I sent him a PM with my Skype in it, then he added it a while after. If any other users have his Skype that I can send to so they can confirm it's him for you. I can't post it here as it has the users full name.

(This was me) OP then continued to ignore me ended up getting scammed by someone else, i am not a scammer and will not be. It was 4AM; i highly doubt there would be people online.

Anyway, stop harrasing my friends before i take this further :).

I've contacted law enforcement before and i won't hesitate to do it again.

How would you know that.

Oh wait, you doxed me and violated HF's terms.

Bye kid.

Moron.

Read up on the law before you make threats. You can't be prosecuted for getting someones information which is public.

Bye kid. After a quick review it seems your history is not all too keen. As said before doxing HF members doesn't seem to be an issue regarding rules, if he tries to threaten you on-site forward it to staff. But according to a deal dispute against you almost a year ago, you blatantly admitted to being doxed, and taking something from someone under the pretense of false promises. You've got no trust within the community, and I can say OP's track record doesn't look the best either. ? I doubt you'll both resolve, my recommendation is you don't even waste your breathe. If you go further with it you must be bored beyond all belief. ?

Are you a multi, buddy?

I don't see the big issue here, the account (old one) has 4 posts and isn't even closed, shit point, carry on please.

Probably forgot details or something, why else make a new account.
