Thread: Need Ideas on a Product Im Selling

N?ght - July 30, 2017, 12:39 am

So, as many of you may be aware, Im selling the Bustabit source code used on csgocrash, bustaclam and many other sites.

I posted it in bragging rights before and many people said theres lots of potential to selling , and making big profits. I am still pretty new to all of this, and really looking for advice on how I should go about selling it.

Any advice will be appreciated, if you wanna partner up selling it, I could give you some profits, just add me on skype : thenewseller@outlook.com

Please do not turn this into a thread of me "scamming" or you guys needing proof because I posted literally all the proof anyone would need in my other thread as well as I have sold a copy to a customer who gave me positive feedback. Just trying to get some friendly advice here.

Why don't you just setup a site with it?

Would prove it's legit + you'd be making money off of gambling.

Honestly many users have been telling me this, but I really dont have that much time and money to figure out how to do it. I mean I have very weak programming knowledge and Im trying to make a bit of money to pay off some debt.

I wanna sell at least 2-3 copies before I even consider this, which is what im going for. Once I hit my goal though, im 100% down to maybe start a site

Appreciate the suggestion though!
