Thread: Bitcoin fork countdown clock. \(It's done 4real

Mr. Robot - July 31, 2017, 9:03 am

IT HAS BEGUN.

Check here for updates as far as detection of fork

<https://www.btcforkmonitor.info/>

Until the Bitcoin Cash chain has mined its first big block, you'll hear many false news reports from people who dont understand how it works

NO CHAIN SPLIT DETECTED GUYS.

The Illusionist - August 1, 2017, 5:25 am

I wonder if there is going to be a market correction, I think there is a good chance it will happen. And if it does I think it will happen to the BTC price.

My theory:

When BCC comes into the world there will be 16.5 million BCC to be claimed, if BCC holds let's say a $200 value per coin that is 3.3 Billion USD. That's more than the total market cap of Litecoin.

Generally, the world doesn't like when 3.3 Billion USD randomly "poofs" into the world. So if BCC will hold some value we might see BTC drop as a market correction.

Anyone know where Bitfinex shows the BCC balance?

Cusar - August 1, 2017, 9:57 am

So for those who kept BTC on exchanges.. When we get our BCC, Is It safe to sell BTC for other alts again and keep just BCC till we can sell it? Is It safe to do so?

minimalist - August 1, 2017, 10:05 am

I'm still not seeing the first BCC forked block?

lol on Bitfinex? I still don't get any coin

BCH nodes started rejecting BTC blocks but they haven't mined a single block of their own for now .. they started at height 478558 and still waiting for their block 478559

So the fork didn't really start until they mine their first own block yeah me neither. not sure what these dudes are saying. no matter what the first block needs to be >1mb. any below that will be rejected. after that >1mb block is mined, we're officially forked.

exactly

I keep repeating the same lol and I think the 1mb block wont be anytime soon.

once the difficulty resets itll be aight

LanMan - August 1, 2017, 10:41 am

Apparently BCH hashrate is 2.5% BTC hashrate, so it should take 40btc blocks to get the first BCH block, so in theory it should be very soon

And BCH mempool is ready for the first bigblock, almost 2mb:

Where do you check that?

Wirt - August 1, 2017, 10:56 am

I'm an idiot when it comes to crypto speculation so forgive me if this is a simple answer lol

Will this fork affect BTC value what-so-ever? For example it's at about 2.7k right now, will it go up or down substantially, or will the value stay the same for the most part?

Thanks.

It seems the BCC futures shares have dropped a little bit to about $250 in the past little bit

The info for difficulty i got it there:

And the blocks mined you can follow on any BCH blockchain explorer ?
