

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Just found out my dad has a tumor

V?rt - July 31, 2017, 7:45 pm

So like 2 weeks ago my dad was telling me he has a knot on his face and didn't know what it was. Well, I just got home from work and my mom calls me in the room and tells me that knot is a tumor. The doc said it's 80% not cancer, 20% possible cancer, Which scares the fuck out of me. I've seen people have smaller odds and still get it.

It also scares me the fact that this happened in the matter of two weeks. It went from like and inch big by his ear, and is now down to his jaw.

Just wanted to make this thread to let you guys know to appreciate everything and that it can be taken from you at a moments notice.

He has an appointment to get it removed, however, if it is cancerous it can spread very easily.

Appreciate life guys.

bandors - July 31, 2017, 7:46 pm

Shitty man, happens to a lot of good people out there. Wish you luck and him too

Acta - July 31, 2017, 7:47 pm

I'm sorry to hear this. I hope it isn't cancer. I hope he feels better and keep your head up. :)

Ratt - July 31, 2017, 7:48 pm

Bad thing for anyone to go through, hope it all works out though.

Danny Khalifa - July 31, 2017, 7:49 pm

Fuck man.

I am sorry to hear this. Be close to your dad and try him to win this tumor.

I wish you the best of luck and I hope everything is going to be fine.