

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Changing Roles - Need Guidance :\(

District - August 1, 2017, 11:49 am

First of all I am a player from OCE who has just returned after a 7 month break. I previously played AD Carry religiously, literally like 10+ hours a day. I have a big champ pool when it comes to bottom lane and I am always very confident in my picks and reactive play style. I peaked Platinum 1 and now I've finally decayed so I thought this might be a good time to change things up.

I just dislike having to play the 2v2 lane. I don't like relying on a support that I know absolutely nothing about - and I always prefer solo queue. I know my elo will most likely take a hit from me switching lanes but I won't enjoy the game if I don't.

My question is where do I move to? What lane should I play? I literally see them all as equals so I can't really decide for myself. I like active mobile champions like Vayne, Kalista, Katarina, Zed, Fizz - Nasus/Singed top I find quite fun too. I've tried a few things here and there but end up just doing extremely poorly or disliking the champion.

Can any of you suggest a lane and some champions to start off practicing?

tldr; Don't want to play ADC anymore. What lane do I move to and what champions should I be playing if I like a really active, mobile play style?

DontQQSoMuch - August 1, 2017, 12:11 pm

Midlane or Toplane? Lol...

For mid try Ahri/Syndra/Kassadin. For Top try Camille/Jayce. Jungler isn't worth learning, since jungle has (almost) the least impact this season