In what section can i sell Physical items?

Riyu - August 5, 2017, 5:24 am

Premium or secondary sellers I suppose

There's no specific; you sell where you think it is most appropriate. If it is a service mixed with physical items then it goes into Service Offering. Or if it is only clothes or something, then as Riyu said.

Treat it the same as digital goods.

I'm selling electronics as phones and laptop and shit like that i would recommend using secondary. primary is too flooded all the time and very fast paced.

Then it is as Riyu said.

Premium Sellers; crowded. A really popular section, the competition is tuff there. Tons of ebooks, you'll get bumped over in the matter of seconds unless you have a sticky.

Secondary; not as popular. Which means that you don't have to spend much time on the thread. But it might not get you the most sales.

Up to you, really.

FYI any suspicious carding activity and your account is immediately closed. So those 50% discount on Samsung phones won't fly here.

You got that?
