Thread: Zenfolio question

DemonsPop - August 7, 2017, 7:30 pm

There is a gallery on a photographer's page that I want into, but can't guess the password (hint is "date"). I have, however guessed the password for a different folder. Although there are some very "nice" pics in there, it's not the one I want. My question is, since I have access to one of the galleries, can I manipulate the html code for that page and use it to gain access to the gallery I'm interested in?

I tried using Brutus, but couldn't get it to work, besides, if you have too many wrong guesses in a short period of time (less than 5 mins) you get locked out for 24 hours, so I'm still putting in a guess every 5 mins when I can.

I don't really want someone to do it for me, I'd like to learn how to do it myself, and hopefully pass it on.

Can anyone point me in the right direction?

Anybody? I'd be willing to share the spoils of war. :)

I am also interested in this. I have a zenfolio portfolio I would like to access that involves a coworker.
